Clashes Kill 100 In Tibet

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Bloody armed clashes were reported in Tibet between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung, in which more than 100 persons were killed, Japanese reports from Peking said today.

Reports quoting Red Guard wall posters in Peking said armed clashes were reported in the Nachu, Heimokungchia, Chamdo and Lhasa districts of Tibet.

Reports from Darjeeling, India, quoted Radio Lhasa as saying three Chinese Communist army divisions, including one from Peking, were dispatched to Tibet to crush the anti-Mao forces.

Tibetan refugee sources in Darjeeling generally agreed with earlier Nationalist Chinese reports from Taipei and Japanese reports from Peking that there was widespread opposition to Mao's purge movement in Tibet.

Known as the "Roof of the World," Tibet has been under Chinese Communist rule since 1951.

Other reports said Mao's forces claimed the capture of Kansu Province in the northwest, and to have thrown back counterattacks in Fukien Province facing Formosa. But anti-Mao troops were said to have helped seize Manchuria's southern peninsula.

There also were indications that all is not well in Red China's big fishery fleet and that local successes may have cooled the revolutionary ardor of some Maoists.

The seizure of Kansu -- which borders on Outer Mongolia and Sinkiang -- was announced by

The Weather Bureau in Shreveport, La., issued a hazardous-driving warning for extreme northeastern Texas, with bridges glazed from sleet and freezing rain.

Gale-force winds ripped through eastern areas Thursday, and property damage was extensive.

Thursday's storm left the most snow in Missouri with up to 10 inches, 9 inches in Southern Illinois and 7 inches in Arkansas and Oklahoma. Six inches of snow fell in Kentucky and 3 inches in West Virginia.

Two days of 50 - plus temperatures cleared the Washington area of remnants from the 12-inch snowfall of Feb. 6 but 3 to 5 inches of snow were indicated today. The mercury dropped 30 degrees in 20 hours, from 63 Thursday to 33 early today and lower marks were indicated.

Death-Free Traffic Streak Comes to End

GRANT CITY, (AP)

Worth County in northwest Missouri Thursday night recorded its first traffic fatality since 1965. The victim was Volley Daniels, 65, a pedestrian who was crossing a highway.

The Highway Patrol said Daniels, of Allendale, Mo., was walking across U.S. 169 north of Grant City when struck by a car driven by Fay Lester Maylan, 60, of Worth, Mo. Officers said Maylan was not charged.

Worth County was the only Missouri county without a traffic fatality last year.

BEFORE the big snow fell, the Sikeston area experienced a cold, calm day Thursday morning. Wednesday there was variety in the weather - warm temperatures, high winds, ranging from 40 to 55 miles per hour, and dust. This car enters a dust cloud with 20-feet visibility a quarter of a mile north of the highway 61-80 intersection at Matthews.

Students Happy as Schools Take Break

Snow! It's wonderful!

Most Southeast Missouri school children got an unexpected holiday today because of snow-packed highways.

It was the biggest snow of the winter. Accumulations ranged from five to nine inches in the Bootheel.

A Christmas season cover measured about four inches in Sikeston during a two-day fall. This was the only other snow during the winter sufficient to cover the ground.

Nine inches of snow were reported today at Cape Girardeau, six inches at Kennett, four at Poplar Bluff, seven inches at Benton and five and three-fourths inches in Sikeston.

The snow started falling in Sikeston at 2 p.m. yesterday and continued until 9 p.m. The fall began an hour after it struck Malden and Poplar Bluff.

Cloudy, cool weather are promised in the region through Saturday. There is a chance of more precipitation -- a period or two of light snow, possibly mixed with freezing rain, through Saturday.

Low readings tonight will be in the 20s, highs Saturday in the 30s. Sunday will be partly cloudy and cool. The five-day outlook is for below normal temperatures.

Only Richland area schools had classes today.

Schools that closed were Sikeston public, Scott Central, Morehouse, Matthews, Bernie, Parma, Kelley, Charleston, East Prairie, Scott City, Gideon, Bertrand, Malden, Poplar Bluff, Fisk and Risco.

Four injuries were reported in three accidents on highways in the Sikeston area since the snowfall began at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Police reported two accidents in the city limits with no injuries reported.

The Missouri Delta Community Hospital treated one woman who suffered injuries from a fall on a slippery walk.

Road conditions as reported by the Missouri Highway patrol are hazardous in the area. Highway 60 across Missouri is snow covered. Route 61 from Perryville to the Arkansas line also is snow packed.

Roads and bridges are reported snow and ice covered between Sikeston and Memphis. Route 67 from Fredericktown to Little Rock, Ark., is snow covered.

The district 10 office of the Missouri highway department reported today that for the most part traffic flow was slowed but not stopped by the snow.

All available snow plows and cinder trucks have been working since the snow began and will continue, W. Dale Carney, district engineer said.

Only one traffic tie-up occurred Thursday. A tractor trailer truck overturned near Jackson on highway 61 at 3 p.m. Thursday and slowed traffic to a single lane flow for a 12-hour period. The truck was moved by a wrecker at about 3 a.m. today.

Removal of snow from city streets has not started. City Manager W. Raymert Miller said the street department workers will begin removal in the downtown section at 6 p.m. today.

"The normal procedure is to wait until the snow stops, before removing it," Miller said.

Miller said he hopes the merchants will have shoveled the sidewalks and no one parks in the downtown area after 6 p.m. when the snow removal will start.

Southern Missouri was buried under the heavy layer of snow left by the storm.

Pomona, near West Plains, reported 10 inches. Traffic was snarled in Cape Girardeau.

All highways in the southern part of the state were snow covered.

One man died while shoveling snow in Springfield. He was William Cooper, 50, who apparently suffered a heart attack.

Other snow fall reports included: Marble Hill, west of Cape Girardeau, 7 inches; West Plains, 6, Table Rock Dam 5, and Farmington 2.

The forecast is for a little warmer weather, but there is a chance of light snow in the extreme south. Some freezing rain may accompany the snow in the south.

Coldes spot in the state this morning was Maryville with zero. Warmest places were Kansas City and Cape Girardeau with lows of 20. Sikeston had 19.

Caruthersville Teachers Will Get Pay Boost

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The board of education has approved a $500 a year increase for teachers for the 1967-68 school year. The increase brings the minimum salary from $4,500 to $5,000 and the maximum from $5,450 to $6,000.

The board also revised the salary schedule to improve the increments for experience. It is estimated that these increases in salaries will require about $65,000 additional money to finance.

The board adopted a resolution to present to voters at the annual school election April 4 a tax rate increase of 50 cents on the $100 assessed valuation.

The present tax levy is $3.70.

Movie-TV Comic Dies

ENCINO, Calif. (AP) - Smiley Burnett, 55, for years the comic sidekick of Western Star Gene Autry, died Thursday night at West Valley Hospital.

Associates said he had been suffering with leukemia. He was admitted to the hospital Feb. 8.

In recent years Burnett had been featured on the "Petticoat Junction" television series as Charlie Pratt, a railroad engineer.

During the 1930s and 1940s Burnett appeared in 81 Western movies with Autry. He wore ill-fitting trousers and a battered hat turned up at the brim. Usually Burnett would unwittingly impede Autry's pursuit of the bad guys until right finally prevailed.

During the 1940s Burnett was one of the 10 top money making Western actors. He also appeared as a slap-happy pal of Roy Rogers and other Western stars.

Battle Brewing Over Foreign Aid Limits

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson contends America's cause abroad would be damaged by sticking to Senate-voted limits on the number of countries which can get U.S. aid this year.

A Johnson letter to this effect has gone to Sen. J. W. Fulbright D-Ark., a critic of the administration's handling of the global foreign assistance program. It replied to a protest from Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

The Johnson-Fulbright exchange marks a preliminary skirmish in what could be a stiff battle over foreign aid in the new Congress. The President wants $3.1 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The principal issue again probably will be money - Congress chopped out $450 million last year - but administration strategists also expect more congressional moves to tie restrictions into the program.

The principal issue again probably will be money - Congress chopped out $450 million last year - but administration strategists also expect more congressional moves to tie restrictions into the program.

Currently at stake is a comparatively paltry $19 million. Yet, according to the administration, the Senate yardstick on this would wipe out U.S. economic help to most of the newly emerging countries of Africa.

The argument came up this way: Fulbright's committee last year voted to limit to 10 the number of countries which can get U.S. economic development loans, and to 40 of those which may receive technical assistance.

The House favored more flexibility. In the resulting compromise legislation, the president was allowed to make exception to these ceilings if he found such to be in the national interest.

Johnson served notice last month that development loans would go to 29 countries, 19 above the Senate limit, and technical assistance to 38, eight above its ceiling. Fulbright wrote Johnson, "I deplore your action."

The presidential reply has not yet been made public, but administration sources Thursday outlined the essence of the reply.

The development loan and technical assistance programs for this year were already underway when Congress wrote in the limits. Of the 48 receiving technical assistance, 35 are African countries. Of the 29 getting development loans, 19 are African.

The African programs would be eliminated first in any numerical cutback, because theirs are the smallest. The eight smallest technical aid programs add up to about $2 million and the 19 smallest development loans to $1 million.

The administration plans to phase out direct aid to many African countries once multination programs can go into effect there.

This is what Fulbright advocates.

But to knock out the direct U.S. aid in midstream now, in Johnson's view, would be wasteful and highly damaging to the U.S. position in Africa.

Boy Scout Show Previewed

Unit leaders and den mothers of the Okeechobee district received tickets and information about the district Boy Scout exposition at 2 p.m. March 18 at the Armory at a Scout roundtable last night at the First Christian church.

Don Agnew, Exposition Chairman, gave a preview of the show and said that if plans materialize this will be the biggest Scout show ever held in this area.

Agnew pointed out items on a scale model of the Armory floor built by Richard Fussell. Fussell's will be physical arrangements and program chairman. Each Scout unit in the district will have an 8 inch by 8 inch booth. The units show demonstrates or teach an aspect of Scouting.

The show will also have a Pine Wood derby race and Rocket derby race for Cub Scouts and swimming demonstrations by Boy Scouts and Explorers. Units will have skits and demonstrations on Stage.

Plans are in the making to have a 30 - minute pageant involving more than 100 Scouts.

The pageant will start at 7 p.m.

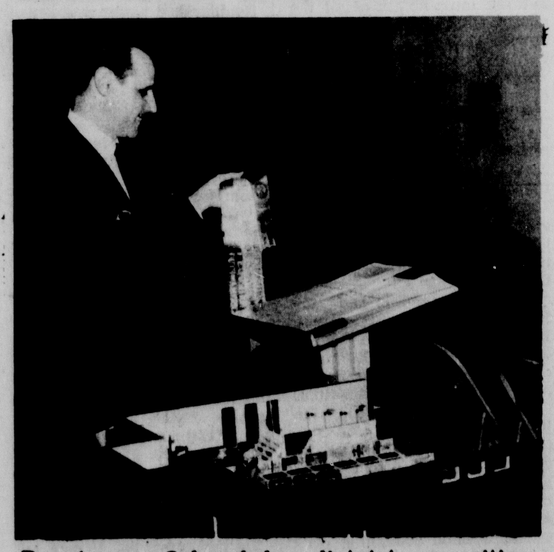
Indications are that approximately 1,000 Scouts from the district in Scott, New Madrid and Mississippi counties will participate.

Tickets will be sold by Boy Scouts.

If a Scout sells 10 tickets he will receive a neckerchief slide, for 20 tickets a neckerchief slide and four Scout Bucks, redeemable for Scout merchandise; 30 tickets, six Scout Bucks, 40, eight Bucks, 50 tickets, 10 Scout Bucks.

The District will have top ticket salesmen awards. The Boy Scout and the Cub Scout selling the most tickets in the district will receive free bicycles. The top Explorer salesman will receive a $25 savings bond. Any boy qualifying for top salesman awards must sell more than 50 tickets.

The Scout units will retain 30 per cent of the ticket proceeds that members sell. Any profit realized from the show will go for development at Camp Lewallen at Silva. Camp Lewallen is the summer camp of the Southeast Missouri Council of the Boy Scouts.



Don Agnew, Ockeechobee district exposition chairman, explains the awards, which can be earned by participating scout units at the March 18 show at the armory.

Four Hurt in Accident During Snow Storm

Snow covered roads accounted for three traffic accidents during yesterday's storm, injuring four persons, the highway patrol reported.

Snow and ice covered roads ranged as far south as Memphis and Little Rock, to St. Louis and into Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Two aged people were taken to the Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff, one in critical condition, when their car was struck by a truck, sending the car into a ditch.

The crash occurred at 3:15 p.m. Thursday one - half mile south of Puxico on Highway 51, when a 1963 Chevrolet dump truck, driven by Alfred Findley, 38, Puxico, and a 1950 Chevrolet, driven by Charlie Phillips, 70, Rombauer, collided in a snow covered highway.

Phillips, and a passenger, Liza Phorsland, 70, also of Rombauer, were taken to the hospital. The woman's condition was critical.

In a single vehicle accident, at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, three miles east of Sikeston on Interstate 57, a 1960 International tractor trailer driven by William Shoulders, 40, Gray Ridge, was braked, slid off the road and into the median.

The driver received head cuts and was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

On Route H, one and one-half miles east of Matthews Thursday at 2:45 p.m. a two - car collision resulted in injury to a three - year - old David Yant, route two, Sikeston, who was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital with a leg injury.

A 1960 Ford, driven by Mary Yant, route two, Sikeston, slid into a 1967 Chrysler, driven by Mildred Andrews, 37, Matthews, during a snow storm. The child was a passenger in the Ford.

Associates said he had been suffering with leukemia. He was admitted to the hospital Feb. 8.

In recent years Burnett had been featured on the "Petticoat Junction" television series as Charlie Pratt, a railroad engineer.

During the 1930s and 1940s Burnett appeared in 81 Western movies with Autry. He wore ill-fitting trousers and a battered hat turned up at the brim. Usually Burnett would unwittingly impede Autry's pursuit of the bad guys until right finally prevailed.

During the 1940s Burnett was one of the 10 top money making Western actors. He also appeared as a slap-happy pal of Roy Rogers and other Western stars.

Battle Brewing Over Foreign Aid Limits

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson contends America's cause abroad would be damaged by sticking to Senate-voted limits on the number of countries which can get U.S. aid this year.

A Johnson letter to this effect has gone to Sen. J. W. Fulbright D-Ark., a critic of the administration's handling of the global foreign assistance program. It replied to a protest from Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

The Johnson-Fulbright exchange marks a preliminary skirmish in what could be a stiff battle over foreign aid in the new Congress. The President wants $3.1 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The principal issue again probably will be money - Congress chopped out $450 million last year - but administration strategists also expect more congressional moves to tie restrictions into the program.

The principal issue again probably will be money - Congress chopped out $450 million last year - but administration strategists also expect more congressional moves to tie restrictions into the program.

Currently at stake is a comparatively paltry $19 million. Yet, according to the administration, the Senate yardstick on this would wipe out U.S. economic help to most of the newly emerging countries of Africa.

The argument came up this way: Fulbright's committee last year voted to limit to 10 the number of countries which can get U.S. economic development loans, and to 40 of those which may receive technical assistance.

The House favored more flexibility. In the resulting compromise legislation, the president was allowed to make exception to these ceilings if he found such to be in the national interest.

Johnson served notice last month that development loans would go to 29 countries, 19 above the Senate limit, and technical assistance to 38, eight above its ceiling. Fulbright wrote Johnson, "I deplore your action."

The presidential reply has not yet been made public, but administration sources Thursday outlined the essence of the reply.

The development loan and technical assistance programs for this year were already underway when Congress wrote in the limits. Of the 48 receiving technical assistance, 35 are African countries. Of the 29 getting development loans, 19 are African.

The African programs would be eliminated first in any numerical cutback, because theirs are the smallest. The eight smallest technical aid programs add up to about $2 million and the 19 smallest development loans to $1 million.

The administration plans to phase out direct aid to many African countries once multination programs can go into effect there.

This is what Fulbright advocates.

But to knock out the direct U.S. aid in midstream now, in Johnson's view, would be wasteful and highly damaging to the U.S. position in Africa.

Boy Scout Show Previewed

Unit leaders and den mothers of the Okeechobee district received tickets and information about the district Boy Scout exposition at 2 p.m. March 18 at the Armory at a Scout roundtable last night at the First Christian church.

Don Agnew, Exposition Chairman, gave a preview of the show and said that if plans materialize this will be the biggest Scout show ever held in this area.

Agnew pointed out items on a scale model of the Armory floor built by Richard Fussell. Fussell's will be physical arrangements and program chairman. Each Scout unit in the district will have an 8 inch by 8 inch booth. The units show demonstrates or teach an aspect of Scouting.

Don Agnew, Ockeechobee district exposition chairman, explains the awards, which can be earned by participating scout units at the March 18 show at the armory.

The show will also have a Pine Wood derby race and Rocket derby race for Cub Scouts and swimming demonstrations by Boy Scouts and Explorers. Units will have skits and demonstrations on Stage.

Plans are in the making to have a 30 - minute pageant involving more than 100 Scouts.

The pageant will start at 7 p.m.

Indications are that approximately 1,000 Scouts from the district in Scott, New Madrid and Mississippi counties will participate.

Tickets will be sold by Boy Scouts.

If a Scout sells 10 tickets he will receive a neckerchief slide, for 20 tickets a neckerchief slide and four Scout Bucks, redeemable for Scout merchandise; 30 tickets, six Scout Bucks, 40, eight Bucks, 50 tickets, 10 Scout Bucks.

The District will have top ticket salesmen awards. The Boy Scout and the Cub Scout selling the most tickets in the district will receive free bicycles. The top Explorer salesman will receive a $25 savings bond. Any boy qualifying for top salesman awards must sell more than 50 tickets.

The Scout units will retain 30 per cent of the ticket proceeds that members sell. Any profit realized from the show will go for development at Camp Lewallen at Silva. Camp Lewallen is the summer camp of the Southeast Missouri Council of the Boy Scouts.

Senior Citizens Making Quilt

MATTHEWS -- The North New Madrid county neighborhood service center had its second weekly meeting Tuesday for senior citizen women from Matthews, Morehouse and Canalou.

The women are now making a quilt that was donated to the center. When the quilt is finished, it will be given to a needy family in the community.

Plans were made for future meetings. The next meeting will be Feb. 21. The women will be restoring and mending some of the used clothing that has been donated to the center. Children's clothing, which is the greatest need of low - income families in the area, will be mended.

The women will also be doing hand craft work. All women are volunteers. The sessions, which are held on Tuesdays from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., are open to all senior citizen women in the three communities.

Four Hurt in Accident During Snow Storm

Snow covered roads accounted for three traffic accidents during yesterday's storm, injuring four persons, the highway patrol reported.

Snow and ice covered roads ranged as far south as Memphis and Little Rock, to St. Louis and into Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Two aged people were taken to the Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff, one in critical condition, when their car was struck by a truck, sending the car into a ditch.

The crash occurred at 3:15 p.m. Thursday one - half mile south of Puxico on Highway 51, when a 1963 Chevrolet dump truck, driven by Alfred Findley, 38, Puxico, and a 1950 Chevrolet, driven by Charlie Phillips, 70, Rombauer, collided in a snow covered highway.

Phillips, and a passenger, Liza Phorsland, 70, also of Rombauer, were taken to the hospital. The woman's condition was critical.

In a single vehicle accident, at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, three miles east of Sikeston on Interstate 57, a 1960 International tractor trailer driven by William Shoulders, 40, Gray Ridge, was braked, slid off the road and into the median.

The driver received head cuts and was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

On Route H, one and one-half miles east of Matthews Thursday at 2:45 p.m. a two - car collision resulted in injury to a three - year - old David Yant, route two, Sikeston, who was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital with a leg injury.

A 1960 Ford, driven by Mary Yant, route two, Sikeston, slid into a 1967 Chrysler, driven by Mildred Andrews, 37, Matthews, during a snow storm. The child was a passenger in the Ford.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
HOW MANY FUTURE FARMERS?

Future Farmers of America Week, which begins Saturday, Feb. 18, seems a little anachronistic. The fact is that there will be even fewer farmers in the future than there are now. In a special survey of American agriculture a decade hence, the editors of Farm Journal assert that "The farm population, now 6 per cent of the nation's people, may be only 3 per cent in 1976."

On the other hand, persons who choose to stay on the farm can look forward to a prosperous future. Farm size, income and productivity have all been rising. Ten years from now, according to the Farm Journal survey, "Farming will remain the nation's biggest business; the country's biggest buyer and supplier; furnishing the most vital products that the nation needs; with more private ownership than in any other place in the economy." Moreover, "Farmers will be the largest group of private management entrepreneurs in a sea of amorphous job holders.

Farming long ago ceased to be exclusively family operated. The big, money-making farms have all the characteristics of industrial production; large outlays for machinery, fertilizer, herbicides and pesticides, as well as for land, are required for profitable operation. Robert B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, has estimated that the capital investment needed to make a farm pay its way in 1980 will range between $100,000 and $250,000. Small wonder that agriculture is often referred to nowadays as "agribusiness."

Bang! The back door slams and your grade-schooler - who looks and walks like a midget astronaut who forgot his helmet - is off to the garage to drag out his sled and join the neighbor's kids for a sliding session.

Bang! (The back door again, in about an hour or so.) And you find your youngster on the kitchen floor tugging off his boots. His nose and ears, toes and fingers are nearly white with cold. As he stomps his feet to beat out the numbness and stinging, you begin to rub his hands vigorously between yours to revive circulation.

Whether you realize it or not, your child probably has frostbite - and you both are doing the wrong thing, cautions Sara Miles of the National Safety Council's home department.

"When the initual signs of frostbite - stinging pain and numbness - or the later, painless symptoms of chalk-white or yellowish gray skin color occur, never jump up and down or massage or pinch the affected area. By doing so, you might further damage partially frozen or frozen tissues," Miss Miles says.

Well then, what should be done - the old-fashioned remedy of cold eater, ice or snow?

"Absolutely not," Miss Miles says. "This could severely increase tissue damage. Modern treatment calls for rapid re-warming. A warm, not hot, bath is best, or placing hands or feet in a pan of warm water. If the face is involved, hot, wet towels can help, if changed frequently and applied gently. Drinking hot chocolate or other liquid is a good idea, too, because it helps raise body temperature."

More severe cases that may involve skin or blood blisters, gangrene and complete freezing of the limb or digit should, of course, receive prompt and skilled medical attention.

Young children who play in unsheltered areas are most often the victims of frostbite because they ignore the warning numbness and don't know what loss of skin color means. Frostbite, however, can and does occur among others (hunters and skiers included) who work, play or walk in open areas where temperature is below freezing and winds are 10 miles an hour or higher.

For example, one case of severe frostbite occurred when a University coed, wearing a skirt, sweater and jacket, took a short walk across the campus. A three-inch band of skin around her waist was frozen solid within minutes. Because she delayed in obtaining proper treatment, she lost a large amount of skin.

"Another major contributor to frostbite that many people are not aware of is clothing that fits too tightly and restricts circulation - particularly gloves or boots," Miss Miles points out.

Since most cases of frostbite can be avoided, she urges parents to be sure that children are adequately dressed before sending them out to play. A hood or cap that covers as much of the head as possible, a scarf around the neck and chin, woolen socks and properly fitting boots are advisable, as well as heavy mittens over gloves.

In addition, applying a greasy ointment or lotion on the face, hands and feet may also help prevent frostbite.

Heart Fund dollars have made possible more than 10,000 scientific treatises, each containing previously unknown information about the heart and its circulatory system.

A bill has been introduced in the Missouri house to rewrite the state laws governing public libraries.

The most important provision authorizes the formation of multi-county libraries. A broader tax base also is provided.

There is an obvious need in rural Missouri for modern libraries serving larger areas. A community library fills a long obvious need but some counties are so thinly populated that they cannot offer the facilities of a well equipped library.

Several counties joining together to furnish library service makes sense in much the same way that a consolidated school provides better educational service at lower cost than a half one-room schools.

Distance isn't the factor it was in Missouri's pioneer days yet the state's library law as it is written reflects this frontier geographic heritage. It is a relic of horse and buggy days.

Better libraries mean better educated Missourians of all ages. It is in the self interest of all Missourians to support library progress. The House bill has been endorsed by the Missouri Library Association. A public meeting to explain its provisions has been held in Sikeston.

The bill does not threaten the existence of any public libraries, even the smallest and most deficient libraries in the smallest villages and towns in Missouri.

Sikeston's library would remain intact.

The only way that Sikeston's library could be affected by the bill would be merger or consolidation into another district. This could be accomplished only by a vote of the people in the proposed enlarged district or by decision of library boards. It is unlikely that the Sikeston library would be swallowed up in an enlarged district or become extinct.

The bill does attempt to raise the standards of libraries by giving the state librarian and state library commission more authority.

State aid would be given only to public libraries which meet certain standards. While this would not affect the Sikeston library smaller communities would be encouraged to join larger library districts in order to receive state financial assistance.

If they did not wish to do this they could continue to keep their own library doors open by paying all the costs for its operation.

The bill obviously is designed to make it easier for Missouri libraries to obtain federal aid.

The stronger role of the state in public libraries is a point of resistance for some who oppose the bill.

The state's concern appears to be needed, desirable and proper.

If Missourians aren't encouraged to provide better library service and given the tools with which to accomplish it, the federal government will fill the vacuum as it has done with the poverty program, medicare, housing and scores of other programs. Local control then will be lost.

The prospect of a system of federal libraries across the nation should send shudders across the spines of every citizen who places any value on freedom of information.

Because of this possibility, state assistance should be welcomed and encouraged.

Missourians are proud of their libraries but they could be better.

The bill introduced in the house provides an opportunity to make them better.

It should be passed and signed into law.

Mr. & Mrs. Goldberg had scrimped and saved to put their eldest son through college. At last, they had the money and decided to send him to a fine High-brow Eastern boarding school. They saw him off on the train, and tearfully bade him farewell.

A few months later, he returned home for the Christmas Holidays. The parents were overjoyed to have their son Sammy back with them. The mother greeted him with: "Samela, oh it's so good to see you."

"Mother," he replied, "stop calling me Samela, after all, I'm a grown man now, and I do wish you would refer to me as Samuel." She apologized and asked, "I hope you ate only Kosher foods while you were away?" "Mother, we're living in a modern age, and it's preposterous to hang on to old world traditions. I indulged in all types of food, Kosher and non-Kosher, and believe me, you would be better off if you did." "Well, tell me, did you at least go to the Synagogue to offer a prayer of thanks occasionally?" The son replied: "Really, do you honestly feel going to a Synagogue when you're associating with a large percentage of non-Jews is the proper thing to do? Honestly, Mother, it's unfair to ask it of me really."

At this point Mrs. Goldberg, fighting back anger looked at her eldest and said, "Tell me, Samuel are you still circumsized?"

DON'T BELIEVE IT!

In an age of management specialists, advanced degrees and decision by computer, it is always gratifying to be reminded that a man can still start at the bottom of the ladder and work his way to the top. A top official of one of the largest domestic petroleum firms, who started out pumping gas in a serivce station, gave some advice to a high school graduating class not long ago: "The crowd will tell you that the safest thing to do is conform, blend yourself into the background. Don't believe it. The rewards to to the imaginative, the creative, the original, the people willing to take the big dare of life. . . .It's enough, the crowd will say, to keep your nose clean because everything's run by formula or by machine calculation today. Don't believe it. You count as an individual, as a unique person, and even in corporation as big as the one for which I work, you'll be judged as an individual."

The admiral had made himself very unpopular and when he fell ill and had to go to the base hospital, everyone breathed a sigh of relief. The hospital did not improve his temper, however, and he made life miserable for the staff. One day, one of the orderlies put on a surgeon's mask and went into the admiral's room, picked up his chart and examined it very professionally. Then he advised the admiral that he would have to take his temperature and told him to roll over onto his stomach. On no account was the admiral to turn over and he promosed to return to read the thermometer as quickly as possible. The admiral harumphed but did as he was told.

About an hour later, the floor nurse looked in to check on the admiral and found him still on his stomach. "What on earth are you doing, sir," she cried.

"What's the matter with you," growled the admiral, "You've seen people having their temperatures taken before."

"But Admiral," she cried, "with a DAFFODIL?"

NEW YORK (AP) -- If you are going to go into film work, there's no better way to start than by being a star.

Such is the Cinderella situation that Michele Lee finds herself in, and she's still a bit afraid that some midnight her studio limousine will turn into a pumpkin.

"I still don't quite understand how it all happened," she said.

Miss Lee, who is tall, dark-eyed and lovely, plays the straight lady for jester Bobby Morse in the Hollywood version of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." It is the same secretarial role she did on Broadway for more than two years.

"I thought when they got around to making the movie that they would pick someone better known," she said frankly.

Despite her auspicious film debut, Miss Lee hasn't succeeded in show business without really trying.

She began in 1960 at the age of 17 when her father, Jack Dusick, a veteran Hollywood makeup man, suggested she try out for a part in a West Coast revue called "Vintage '60."

"Until then I really wasn't terribly interested in the theater," she said, "although mother tells me that I sang in my cradle before I learned to talk. She said it about drove her crazy.

"Before she married, mother was a Yiddish chorus girl for a while in New York."

Miss Lee played in "Vintage '60" for eight months in Los Angeles. David Merrick brought the production to Broadway where it promptly folded after eight nights.

Miss Lee modeled, appeared on television, and worked in a couple more West Coast musicals before returning to Broadway in "How to Succeed."

The head that sits upon her shapely shoulders is practical as well as pretty. A year ago she married James Farentino, a young actor, and she is determined that this partnership will mean more to her than her career in the entertainment field.

Miss Lee has a breezy, outgoing personality. But she feels one of her faults -- if it is a fault — is a compulsion to be neat and tidy.

"The first thing I do when I get up in the morning is to make my bed," she said. "Disorder of any kind makes me nervous. It gives me an uneasy feeling that something should be done that I am not getting done."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - One of the most interesting groups scheduled to testify against the Soviet-American Consular treaty is the Liberty lobby, whose founder, Willis Carto, has maintained: "Hitler's defeat was the defeat of Europe; and America."

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., the most vigorous opponent of treaty ratification who has been insistent that the Liberty lobby testify, once appeared on the Liberty lobby's radio series, "Congress Calling." Joining him on this series were Sens. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., and Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, both members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and both critics of the consular pact.

These senators may not be fully aware of the Liberty lobby's background; therefore should be interested in certain private correspondence exchanged between the top liberty lobbyists.

The Liberty lobby, incidentally, has brought suit in the U.S. District Court to prevent our publication of these documents, but was overruled.

The chairman of the Liberty lobby, Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of the late Franklin Roosevelt, also brought a libel suit for $2 million (M) against this column when we described his senate testimony opposing another trade treaty, the Trade Expansion Act, as anti-semitic. Dall lost the libel suit both in the lower court, the U.S. Court of Appeals, and on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

RULERS OF LIBERTY LOBBY

On the Liberty lobby's policy board are such ultra-right-wingers as Joseph P. Kamp of Westport, Conn., founder of the constitutional education league; Tyler Kent, imprisoned in the tower of London during the war for having given information to the enemy while a member of the American Embassy staff; R. G. Johnson of Rogers, Ark., author of "Patriots of Northern Arkansas"; Karl Prussion of San Diego, the famous red baiter; Lt. Col. Frederick A. Kibbe, founder of the Florida minutemen; Major Arch E. Roberts of Ft. Collins, Colo., author of Gen. Edwin Walker's pro-blue program; Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, the right-wing retired air force general, and Lt. Gen. Sumter L. Lowery of Tampa, who once ran for governor of Florida.

On the secret board which controls the Liberty Lobby is Kenneth Goff, a former communist who later teamed up with rabble-rousing anit-semitic Gerald L. K. Smith.

But the founder, mainspring, and brains of the Liberty lobby is Willis Carto, who has written a series of secret letters which this column has obtained.

In one letter to Norris Holt, a right-wing leader of Sausalito, Calif., Carto wrote: "There are six hundred million Chinese and about two hundred million Russians. All united in a determination to destroy the west. And we have been so misled that we live in a dream world - far away from reality. Hitler's defeat was the defeat of Europe and America.

"How could we have been so blind? The blame, it seems, must be laid at the door of the international Jews...if Satan himself with all of his superhuman genius and diabolical ingenuity at his command, had tried to create a permanent disintegration and force for the destruction of the nations, he could have done no better than to invent the Jews."

"RUSSIAN CONSPIRACY"

According to the Liberty lobby, the Johnson administration does not want to win the war in Vietnam and is part of a Russian conspiracy, not to win.

"Liberty Letter," described as a "confidential Washington report supplied only to Liberty lobby pledgers," recently wrote to those who had contributed money to the lobby; "Our government does not want to win...Liberty lobby has in its possession a report on the existence of a secret agreement between the Washington regime and the Kremlin which has never been ratified by the Senate - and which indeed is not even known to the vast majority of officials in Washington, but which explains perfectly the reason why we cannot win."

These are some of the nice people which Senators Mundt, Dirksen, and Lausche indirectly supported when they appeared on the Liberty lobby's radio program. These senators should read the amazing correspondence which Liberty lobby founder Carto has carried on with such people as Robert B. Patterson, secretary of the white citizens' council of Mississippi, and Archbishop C.C. Addison, a black muslim leader. In some of the correspondence Carto projected the "joint council for repatriation of Negroes back to Africa;" also blamed the Jews for stirring up racial problems. He stated:

"The strangest of all things and the most unfair of all the unfair things brought on by Jewish control of American politics concerns the alleged recipient of buckets and buckets of hypocritical Jewish concern and sympathy - the American Negro!

"Jewish control over so-called Negro organizations like the NAACP and the Urban League is so complete - that only few white Americans realize the truth about the fantastic trickery which brought this about."

The fact that Carto had influence with influential people is indicated by a letter he received April 27, '957 from Judge Brady, now on the supreme court of Mississippi.

"Dear Carto," wrote the judge, "shortly after your conference with Sen. Eastland, he called me and discussed at length the lobby. He advised me that he thought there was considerable merit in the plan... in my opinion something very worthwhile and significant is going to be the outcome of your brainchild, and I commend you highly on the work you have already done."

SOCIALIST INDIA AND CAPITALIST JAPAN

The tremendous economic success story of the United States of America and the equally vast economic failures of Soviet Russia, a land potentially as wealthy as our own, stand as proof for all time that the personal enterprise system and freedom of production and trade are essential to real and lasting progress.

Though propagandists for socialism make every possible effort to obscure this proof, they have never been able to hide it completely. It is too big and too obvious. Even Khrushchev had to talk about "catching up with the United States," and fell from power because under communism he could not do it. Neither can his successors.

So now we hear mostly about how socialism is the only answer for the problems of the less developed nations. While capitalism might work for the most advanced, it is argued, it can never work for the backward. This argument sounds plausible, but it is wholly erroneous.

The best proof is another example and comparison. Two great nations in Asia remaining outside the communist orbit, India and Japan, were almost wholly undeveloped a century ago. Both have received considerable help and know-how from the West. Since the Second World War, India has been ruled exclusively by socialists. Japan has allowed much more freedom of production and trade.

The result is clear. Japan is self - supporting, a creditor rather than a debtor nation, and an active trader on the world market. India is mired in poverty, deeply in debt, unable to progress, and dependent on ever - increasing foreign aid handouts. In India and wherever else it prevails, socialism prevents progress. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Interviews Disclose Labor's High Command Unimpressed by Reuther's Newest Crusade

Washington, D.C.: -- After walking with me to the door of his Parliamentary office one afternoon this summer, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson proffered his hand, said goodby and added in parting: "Please do remember me to Walter Reuther."

Later I talked with other members of Her Majesty's cabinet. I was convinced the rusty-haired auto union chief could carry a vote there virtually unanimously. In Britain he has impact.

But in the past few days, after polling George Meany's cabinet, almost all of them except the emeritus David Dubinsky indicated they could not care less whether he stays in or out of the AFL-CIO. Many, including almost all his old CIO unions, would like to see Reuther go so they could move right in on the vacancies he and his auto union colleagues would create.

And right here you have a profile of the Detroiter PETREL -- renowned abroad, rejected at home inside labor.

Reuther just has no power base -- except, of course, his own sprawling, sharply divided auto union.

And so down in labor's winter house, the Hotel Americana of Bal Harbour, Fla., AFL-CIO president George Meany, specialist in the intricacies of power, cools it. The cigar chomping, stocky labor chief, lover of gin rummy, golf and his fellow man (so long as they are not reporters) talks to mighty few newsmen. But it can be accurately reported that his sentiments are these:

He believes that Walter Reuther is emulating an old enemy -- John L. Lewis -- but with more verbiage. Lewis' leonine features matched his tactics. When he gave the old AFL the same treatment in 1935 and '36 which Reuther now is handing the merged labor federation, the United Mine Workers' Leader baited the old giants -- but tersely.

His tactic was not to quit, but to force the AFL to throw him out. He slugged one of its vice presidents. He challenged Meany's predecessor, William Green, to a public debate. But he forced the AFL to suspend him and his miners.

This is what Reuther will do -- minus the slugging. But Meany won't drop his cigar to snap at the bait. Why should he?

Victory in this power ploy will go to the force allied to the government. It is Meany who has immediate access to Lyndon Johnson, the White House, the cabinet departments, the independent agencies and vital affairs of state -- ranging from European "desks" to those covering Africa and Latin America.

It is Meany who is the chosen leader of the AFL-CIO's strongest power bloc, the construction trades 18 union, 3.5 million - member combine who now know that Reuther's men have been in touch with Hoffa's people in Detroit -- and that the construction union officials plan to block Reuther.

It is Meany and such of his colleagues as the Seafarers' Paul Hall and the garment workers' Lou Stulberg who can pour out money and manpower in elections where it counts -- among Congressional candidates. It is the house of labor, from which the last minute calls go out for such campaign funds.

Alone, Reuther can't match this operation.

It is Meany who will release progress reports of labor's legislative successes such as adding millions to the minimum wage rosters, building up medicare, organizing farm workers, launching the federal program of student scholarships, etc., etc.

It is Meany, not Reuther, who now has the loyalty of practically all CIO "industrial union" crowd -- which is John Lewis' second generation. Thus, it is Meany, not Reuther, who can dominate the movements' Industrial Union Dept.

So in March Reuther will fly to Europe to be with those Social Democratic laborities who admire him.

Meanwhile back at the ranch -- I mean beach -- a poll of the AFL-CIO high command (which met on the night of Friday, Feb. 10) shows he's a Hamlet with a script and a stage -- but without a supporting cast.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

HOW MANY FUTURE FARMERS?

Future Farmers of America Week, which begins Saturday, Feb. 18, seems a little anachronistic. The fact is that there will be even fewer farmers in the future than there are now. In a special survey of American agriculture a decade hence, the editors of Farm Journal assert that "The farm population, now 6 per cent of the nation's people, may be only 3 per cent in 1976."

On the other hand, persons who choose to stay on the farm can look forward to a prosperous future. Farm size, income and productivity have all been rising. Ten years from now, according to the Farm Journal survey, "Farming will remain the nation's biggest business; the country's biggest buyer and supplier; furnishing the most vital products that the nation needs; with more private ownership than in any other place in the economy." Moreover, "Farmers will be the largest group of private management entrepreneurs in a sea of amorphous job holders.

Farming long ago ceased to be exclusively family operated. The big, money-making farms have all the characteristics of industrial production; large outlays for machinery, fertilizer, herbicides and pesticides, as well as for land, are required for profitable operation. Robert B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, has estimated that the capital investment needed to make a farm pay its way in 1980 will range between $100,000 and $250,000. Small wonder that agriculture is often referred to nowadays as "agribusiness."

Bang! The back door slams and your grade-schooler - who looks and walks like a midget astronaut who forgot his helmet - is off to the garage to drag out his sled and join the neighbor's kids for a sliding session.

Bang! (The back door again, in about an hour or so.) And you find your youngster on the kitchen floor tugging off his boots. His nose and ears, toes and fingers are nearly white with cold. As he stomps his feet to beat out the numbness and stinging, you begin to rub his hands vigorously between yours to revive circulation.

Whether you realize it or not, your child probably has frostbite - and you both are doing the wrong thing, cautions Sara Miles of the National Safety Council's home department.

"When the initual signs of frostbite - stinging pain and numbness - or the later, painless symptoms of chalk-white or yellowish gray skin color occur, never jump up and down or massage or pinch the affected area. By doing so, you might further damage partially frozen or frozen tissues," Miss Miles says.

Well then, what should be done - the old-fashioned remedy of cold eater, ice or snow?

"Absolutely not," Miss Miles says. "This could severely increase tissue damage. Modern treatment calls for rapid re-warming. A warm, not hot, bath is best, or placing hands or feet in a pan of warm water. If the face is involved, hot, wet towels can help, if changed frequently and applied gently. Drinking hot chocolate or other liquid is a good idea, too, because it helps raise body temperature."

More severe cases that may involve skin or blood blisters, gangrene and complete freezing of the limb or digit should, of course, receive prompt and skilled medical attention.

Young children who play in unsheltered areas are most often the victims of frostbite because they ignore the warning numbness and don't know what loss of skin color means. Frostbite, however, can and does occur among others (hunters and skiers included) who work, play or walk in open areas where temperature is below freezing and winds are 10 miles an hour or higher.

For example, one case of severe frostbite occurred when a University coed, wearing a skirt, sweater and jacket, took a short walk across the campus. A three-inch band of skin around her waist was frozen solid within minutes. Because she delayed in obtaining proper treatment, she lost a large amount of skin.

"Another major contributor to frostbite that many people are not aware of is clothing that fits too tightly and restricts circulation - particularly gloves or boots," Miss Miles points out.

Since most cases of frostbite can be avoided, she urges parents to be sure that children are adequately dressed before sending them out to play. A hood or cap that covers as much of the head as possible, a scarf around the neck and chin, woolen socks and properly fitting boots are advisable, as well as heavy mittens over gloves.

In addition, applying a greasy ointment or lotion on the face, hands and feet may also help prevent frostbite.

Heart Fund dollars have made possible more than 10,000 scientific treatises, each containing previously unknown information about the heart and its circulatory system.

A bill has been introduced in the Missouri house to rewrite the state laws governing public libraries.

The most important provision authorizes the formation of multi-county libraries. A broader tax base also is provided.

There is an obvious need in rural Missouri for modern libraries serving larger areas. A community library fills a long obvious need but some counties are so thinly populated that they cannot offer the facilities of a well equipped library.

Several counties joining together to furnish library service makes sense in much the same way that a consolidated school provides better educational service at lower cost than a half one-room schools.

Distance isn't the factor it was in Missouri's pioneer days yet the state's library law as it is written reflects this frontier geographic heritage. It is a relic of horse and buggy days.

Better libraries mean better educated Missourians of all ages. It is in the self interest of all Missourians to support library progress. The House bill has been endorsed by the Missouri Library Association. A public meeting to explain its provisions has been held in Sikeston.

The bill does not threaten the existence of any public libraries, even the smallest and most deficient libraries in the smallest villages and towns in Missouri.

Sikeston's library would remain intact.

The only way that Sikeston's library could be affected by the bill would be merger or consolidation into another district. This could be accomplished only by a vote of the people in the proposed enlarged district or by decision of library boards. It is unlikely that the Sikeston library would be swallowed up in an enlarged district or become extinct.

The bill does attempt to raise the standards of libraries by giving the state librarian and state library commission more authority.

State aid would be given only to public libraries which meet certain standards. While this would not affect the Sikeston library smaller communities would be encouraged to join larger library districts in order to receive state financial assistance.

If they did not wish to do this they could continue to keep their own library doors open by paying all the costs for its operation.

The bill obviously is designed to make it easier for Missouri libraries to obtain federal aid.

The stronger role of the state in public libraries is a point of resistance for some who oppose the bill.

The state's concern appears to be needed, desirable and proper.

If Missourians aren't encouraged to provide better library service and given the tools with which to accomplish it, the federal government will fill the vacuum as it has done with the poverty program, medicare, housing and scores of other programs. Local control then will be lost.

The prospect of a system of federal libraries across the nation should send shudders across the spines of every citizen who places any value on freedom of information.

Because of this possibility, state assistance should be welcomed and encouraged.

Missourians are proud of their libraries but they could be better.

The bill introduced in the house provides an opportunity to make them better.

It should be passed and signed into law.

Mr. & Mrs. Goldberg had scrimped and saved to put their eldest son through college. At last, they had the money and decided to send him to a fine High-brow Eastern boarding school. They saw him off on the train, and tearfully bade him farewell.

A few months later, he returned home for the Christmas Holidays. The parents were overjoyed to have their son Sammy back with them. The mother greeted him with: "Samela, oh it's so good to see you."

"Mother," he replied, "stop calling me Samela, after all, I'm a grown man now, and I do wish you would refer to me as Samuel." She aplogized and asked, "I hope you ate only Kosher foods while you were away?" "Mother, we're living in a modern age, and it's preposterous to hang on to old world traditions. I indulged in all types of food, Kosher and non-Kosher, and believe me, you would be better off if you did." "Well, tell me, did you at least go to the Synagogue to offer a prayer of thanks occasionally?" The son replied: "Really, do you honestly feel going to a Synagogue when you're associating with a large percentage of non-Jews is the proper thing to do? Honestly, Mother, it's unfair to ask it of me really."

At this point Mrs. Goldberg, fighting back anger looked at her eldest and said, "Tell me, Samuel are you still circumsized?"

DON'T BELIEVE IT!

In an age of management specialists, advanced degrees and decision by computer, it is always gratifying to be reminded that a man can still start at the bottom of the ladder and work his way to the top. A top official of one of the largest domestic petroleum firms, who started out pumping gas in a serivce station, gave some advice to a high school graduating class not long ago: "The crowd will tell you that the safest thing to do is conform, blend yourself into the background. Don't believe it. The rewards to to the imaginative, the creative, the original, the people willing to take the big dare of life. . . .It's enough, the crowd will say, to keep your nose clean because everything's run by formula or by machine calculation today. Don't believe it. You count as an individual, as a unique person, and even in corporation as big as the one for which I work, you'll be judged as an individual."

The hospital did not improve his temper, however, and he made life miserable for the staff. One day, one of the orderlies put on a surgeon's mask and went into the admiral's room, picked up his chart and examined it very professionally. Then he advised the admiral that he would have to take his temperature and told him to roll over onto his stomach. On no account was the admiral to turn over and he promosed to return to read the thermometer as quickly as possible. The admiral harumphed but did as he was told.

About an hour later, the floor nurse looked in to check on the admiral and found him still on his stomach. "What on earth are you doing, sir," she cried.

"What's the matter with you," growled the admiral, "You've seen people having their temperatures taken before."

NEW YORK (AP) -- If you are going to go into film work, there's no better way to start than by being a star.

Such is the Cinderella situation that Michele Lee finds herself in, and she's still a bit afraid that some midnight her studio limousine will turn into a pumpkin.

"I still don't quite understand how it all happened," she said.

Miss Lee, who is tall, dark-eyed and lovely, plays the straight lady for jester Bobby Morse in the Hollywood version of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." It is the same secretarial role she did on Broadway for more than two years.

"I thought when they got around to making the movie that they would pick someone better known," she said frankly.

Despite her auspicious film debut, Miss Lee hasn't succeeded in show business without really trying.

She began in 1960 at the age of 17 when her father, Jack Dusick, a veteran Hollywood makeup man, suggested she try out for a part in a West Coast revue called "Vintage '60."

"Until then I really wasn't terribly interested in the theater," she said, "although mother tells me that I sang in my cradle before I learned to talk. She said it about drove her crazy.

"Before she married, mother was a Yiddish chorus girl for a while in New York."

Miss Lee played in "Vintage '60" for eight months in Los Angeles. David Merrick brought the production to Broadway where it promptly folded after eight nights.

Miss Lee modeled, appeared on television, and worked in a couple more West Coast musicals before returning to Broadway in "How to Succeed."

The head that sits upon her shapely shoulders is practical as well as pretty. A year ago she married James Farentino, a young actor, and she is determined that this partnership will mean more to her than her career in the entertainment field.

Miss Lee has a breezy, outgoing personality. But she feels one of her faults -- if it is a fault -- is a compulsion to be neat and tidy.

"The first thing I do when I get up in the morning is to make my bed," she said. "Disorder of any kind makes me nervous. It gives me an uneasy feeling that something should be done that I am not getting done."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - One of the most interesting groups scheduled to testify against the Soviet-American Consular treaty is the Liberty lobby, whose founder, Willis Carto, has maintained: "Hitler's defeat was the defeat of Europe; and America."

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., the most vigorous opponent of treaty ratification who has been insistent that the Liberty lobby testify, once appeared on the Liberty lobby's radio series, "Congress Calling." Joining him on this series were Sens. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., and Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, both members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and both critics of the consular pact.

These senators may not be fully aware of the Liberty lobby's background; therefore should be interested in certain private correspondence exchanged between the top liberty lobbyists.

The Liberty lobby, incidentally, has brought suit in the U.S. District Court to prevent our publication of these documents, but was overruled.

The chairman of the Liberty lobby, Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of the late Franklin Roosevelt, also brought a libel suit for $2 million (M) against this column when we described his senate testimony opposing another trade treaty, the Trade Expansion Act, as anti-semitic. Dall lost the libel suit both in the lower court, the U.S. Court of Appeals, and on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

RULERS OF LIBERTY LOBBY

On the Liberty lobby's policy board are such ultra-right-wingers as Joseph P. Kamp of Westport, Conn., founder of the constitutional education league; Tyler Kent, imprisoned in the tower of London during the war for having given information to the enemy while a member of the American Embassy staff; R. G. Johnson of Rogers, Ark., author of "Patriots of Northern Arkansas"; Karl Prussion of San Diego, the famous red baiter; Lt. Col. Frederick A. Kibbe, founder of the Florida minutemen; Major Arch E. Roberts of Ft. Collins, Colo., author of Gen. Edwin Walker's pro-blue program; Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, the right-wing retired air force general, and Lt. Gen. Sumter L. Lowery of Tampa, who once ran for governor of Florida.

On the secret board which controls the Liberty Lobby is Kenneth Goff, a former communist who later teamed up with rabble-rousing anit-semitic Gerald L. K. Smith.

But the founder, mainspring, and brains of the Liberty lobby is Willis Carto, who has written a series of secret letters which this column has obtained.

In one letter to Norris Holt, a right-wing leader of Sausalito, Calif., Carto wrote: "There are six hundred million Chinese and about two hundred million Russians. All united in a determination to destroy the west. And we have been so misled that we live in a dream world - far away from reality. Hitler's defeat was the defeat of Europe and America.

"How could we have been so blind? The blame, it seems, must be laid at the door of the international Jews...if Satan himself with all of his superhuman genius and diabolical ingenuity at his command, had tried to create a permanent disintegration and force for the destruction of the nations, he could have done no better than to invent the Jews."

"RUSSIAN CONSPIRACY"

According to the Liberty lobby, the Johnson administration does not want to win the war in Vietnam and is part of a Russian conspiracy, not to win.

"Liberty Letter," described as a "confidential Washington report supplied only to Liberty lobby pledgers," recently wrote to those who had contributed money to the lobby; "Our government does not want to win...Liberty lobby has in its possession a report on the existence of a secret agreement between the Washington regime and the Kremlin which has never been ratified by the Senate - and which indeed is not even known to the vast majority of officials in Washington, but which explains perfectly the reason why we cannot win."

These are some of the nice people which Senators Mundt, Dirksen, and Lausche indirectly supported when they appeared on the Liberty lobby's radio program. These senators should read the amazing correspondence which Liberty lobby founder Carto has carried on with such people as Robert B. Patterson, secretary of the white citizens' council of Mississippi, and Archbishop C.C. Addison, a black muslim leader. In some of the correspondence Carto projected the "joint council for repatriation of Negroes back to Africa;" also blamed the Jews for stirring up racial problems. He stated:

"The strangest of all things and the most unfair of all the unfair things brought on by Jewish control of American politics concerns the alleged recipient of buckets and buckets of hypocritical Jewish concern and sympathy - the American Negro!

"Jewish control over so-called Negro organizations like the NAACP and the Urban League is so complete - that only few white Americans realize the truth about the fantastic trickery which brought this about."

The fact that Carto had influence with influential people is indicated by a letter he received April 27, '1957 from Judge Brady, now on the supreme court of Mississippi.

"Dear Carto," wrote the judge, "shortly after your conference with Sen. Eastland, he called me and discussed at length the lobby. He advised me that he thought there was considerable merit in the plan... in my opinion something very worthwhile and significant is going to be the outcome of your brainchild, and I commend you highly on the work you have already done."

SOCIALIST INDIA AND CAPITALIST JAPAN

The tremendous economic success story of the United States of America and the equally vast economic failures of Soviet Russia, a land potentially as wealthy as our own, stand as proof for all time that the personal enterprise system and freedom of production and trade are essential to real and lasting progress.

Though propagandists for socialism make every possible effort to obscure this proof, they have never been able to hide it completely. It is too big and too obvious. The best proof is another example and comparison. Two great nations in Asia remaining outside the communist orbit, India and Japan, were almost wholly undeveloped a century ago. Both have received considerable help and know-how from the West. Since the Second World War, India has been ruled exclusively by socialists. Japan has allowed much more freedom of production and trade.

The result is clear. Japan is self - supporting, a creditor rather than a debtor nation, and an active trader on the world market. India is mired in poverty, deeply in debt, unable to progress, and dependent on ever - increasing foreign aid handouts. In India and wherever else it prevails, socialism prevents progress. HLH.

And so down in labor's winter house, the Hotel Americana of Bal Harbour, Fla., AFL-CIO president George Meany, specialist in the intricacies of power, cools it. The cigar chomping, stocky labor chief, lover of gin rummy, golf and his fellow man (so long as they are not reporters) talks to mighty few newsmen. But it can be accurately reported that his sentiments are these:

He believes that Walter Reuther is emulating an old enemy -- John L. Lewis -- but with more verbiage. Lewis' leonine features matched his tactics. When he gave the old AFL the same treatment in 1935 and '36 which Reuther now is handing the merged labor federation, the United Mine Workers' Leader baited the old giants -- but tersely.

His tactic was not to quit, but to force the AFL to throw him out. He slugged one of its vice presidents. He challenged Meany's predecessor, William Green, to a public debate. But he forced the AFL to suspend him and his miners.

This is what Reuther will do -- minus the slugging. But Meany won't drop his cigar to snap at the bait. Why should he?

Victory in this power ploy will go to the force allied to the government. It is Meany who has immediate access to Lyndon Johnson, the White House, the cabinet departments, the independent agencies and vital affairs of state -- ranging from European "desks" to those covering Africa and Latin America.

It is Meany who is the chosen leader of the AFL-CIO's strongest power bloc, the construction trades 18 union, 3.5 million - member combine who now know that Reuther's men have been in touch with Hoffa's people in Detroit -- and that the construction union officials plan to block Reuther.

It is Meany and such of his colleagues as the Seafarers' Paul Hall and the garment workers' Lou Stulberg who can pour out money and manpower in elections where it counts -- among Congressional candidates. It is the house of labor, from which the last minute calls go out for such campaign funds.

Alone, Reuther can't match this operation.

It is Meany who will release progress reports of labor's legislative successes such as adding millions to the minimum wage rosters, building up medicare, organizing farm workers, launching the federal program of student scholarships, etc., etc.

It is Meany, not Reuther, who now has the loyalty of practically all CIO "industrial union" crowd -- which is John Lewis' second generation. Thus, it is Meany, not Reuther, who can dominate the movements' Industrial Union Dept.

So in March Reuther will fly to Europe to be with those Social Democratic laborities who admire him.

Meanwhile back at the ranch -- I mean beach -- a poll of the AFL-CIO high command (which met on the night of Friday, Feb. 10) shows he's a Hamlet with a script and a stage -- but without a supporting cast.

P-TA Is Observing 70th Anniversary

By Ruth Dillender

The first Parent-Teacher association in the United States was founded 70 years ago today on Feb. 17, 1897 by Alice Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst.

The original name was the National Congress of Mothers. Its present name was adopted in 1924. The national headquarters are in Chicago.

Sikeston has seven P-TA's: high school, Mrs. Harold Hill, president; junior high school, Jim Musick, Southwest, Mrs. Barbara Hitchcock; Airport, Mrs. Jerry Masterson; Matthews school, Don Bohannon; Lee Hunter, Charles Matthews; and Lincoln, Mrs. Bea Pegues. The total membership of P-TA in Sikeston is 1370, over twice as many members as the Boy Scouts, with 602 members, or the Girl Scouts with 609 members.

The first Parent - Teacher association in Sikeston was founded in 1937 at the old South Grade school. Mrs. Ann Martin was the first president and Tharon Stallings was school principal. The P-TA disbanded and was reorganized Nov. 19, 1951.

The elementary school P-TA's meet once a month and the meetings usually last about one and a half hours. The high school P-TA meets four times a year and the junior high organization meets once every two months.

The dues are 50 cents a year—20 cents stays in the local budget and 30 cents is sent to the state and national headquarters.

The P-TA at Airport school has 155 members and sponsors two Girl Scout troops, two Brownie Scout troops and one Cub Scout pack. The organization sold sweatshirts this year to raise money and plans to buy furniture for the teachers lounge at the proposed new elementary school.

The Lee Hunter P-TA has 150 members and sponsored a book fair this year. Funds raised were applied to the regular budget.

The Matthews school organization has 270 members. It sponsors one Brownie Scout troop and one Cub Scout pack. The group sold class record books and cakes. The money raised will go into the P-TA budget.

The P-TA at junior high school sponsors an award program for the top 10 per cent of the classes with funds raised. The ways and means committee sold toothbrushes and fruit cakes this year. The P-TA there has 220 members. A membership drive is conducted yearly in the homeroom classes. The class with the highest percentage of parents belonging to P-TA at the end of the drive is treated to a picnic in the spring.

One hundred belong to the high school P-TA. The organization supports the county and city P-TA councils and contributes to the Caroline B. Ullmann scholarship fund, that aided 46 Missouri students last year.

The Lincoln P-TA sponsored a turkey raffle at Christmas and a entertainment program to raise funds. The organization sponsors one Brownie troop, one Junior Girl Scout troop, one Cadette Girl Scout troop, two Cub Scout packs and one Boy Scout troop. The P-TA encourages parents to attend by planning programs in which the students participate.

A trophy is given to the room with the most parents present. The P-TA treats the class that has had the trophy the greatest number of times in the school year to a movie.

The Southwest school P-TA has the largest number of members, 400. The organization sponsors a book fair and sold record books. One third of the money raised goes into the regular budget. The P-TA is planning to buy playground equipment with the remainder of the money. A sidewalk and a light on the parking lot at the school were provided by the P-TA last year.

The organization sponsors one Cub Scout pack and one Brownie troop.

City Manager W. Raymert Miller says that he feels that P-TA is really effective in keeping parents informed as to students' activities and extra curriculum activities available to students.

Dexter Ends Season Tonight, Ready For Regional Opener

Risco Hoping For Season's First Victory Tonight

It seems only yesterday that the 1966-67 high school basketball season got underway. Now it's in its final night for class S and M schools.

Barring any cancellation because of road conditions, 38 teams will pair up in 19 locations around the Southeast Missouri area. Risco hopes for a victory as they host Cooter (1-17).

The area's large schools still have two weeks in which to sharpen their skills for the commencement of class L tournament play.

Class S and M tournament play opens Monday around the state and in six locations in the area. Tourney sites for the SEMO district will be for Class S, Advance and Lesterville. Class M, Bloomfield, Steele, Illmo, and Fredericktown.

Among the most successful class L teams to date in the area has been the red hot Charleston Blue Jays, currently on a 13-game winning streak in an 18-5 season.

The Blue Jays, led by 6-2 Gary Betts and junior standout Ruben Brown, will travel to Cape Girardeau tonight to meet the district's number two ranked team, Notre Dame. Charleston was ranked fourth in the last poll conducted.

Homecoming games will highlight the final night for a few of the teams.

Other games to watch will be Richland at Scott Central, a game that could go either way. Central will be out to beat its former coach, Charles Pardon, while coach Pardon will be out to direct his squad past the touch class S school.

Cape Central will visit the Sikeston quintet in the Bulldogs annual homecoming game tonight, scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Sikeston will try to avenge an earlier loss to the Tigers, who are currently in seventh place in SEMO conference standings.

Our little friend decided he will only get his feet wet before the regional tournaments begin....

Falling short by one prediction to hit 100 per cent for the first time this season has made him a little weary of predicting tonight. The spoiler of all teams had to be...Parma, who knocked off Campbell.

Here are tonight's winners:

Dexter will avenge its earlier losses at Kennett. Richland will hand the Scott Central Braves a homecoming defeat. Malden has the material to beat Bernie but we think it will fall. Illmo-Scott City will be victorious. Caruthersville has the edge on visiting New Madrid, the court and will win. East Prairie with a good night can tap the Bobcats. We think Delta has the edge. Charleston should run its streak to 14, 13 is an unlucky number and we see Notre Dame as the winner. Sikeston might be up for the game, since it's the Bulldogs homecoming. It will need to play a good game to win. Maybe Fred Towns has returned from Texas...We understand he went to get a fit for a hat... Sikeston victorious. Last but not least will be the battle for the victory...Risco will try and take its season's first at home tonight when Cooter visits. The Cooter quintet has one win under its belts and will try for two...

DEXTER -- Coach Jim Hall's basketball Bearcats will end their regular season schedule tonight, barring cancellation, when they are host to arch rival Kennett. First game starts at 7 p.m.

The Bearcats' record stands at 15-7 going into tonight's match with the Indians of Coach Terry Turlington, a former Dexter high school basketball star and former teammate of coach Hall.

With the superb playing of senior center, David Guethle, the Bearcats hope to avenge two earlier defeats at the hands of the Indians.

Guethle, who has averaged 28 points in his last three games, scoring 36, 26, and 23 points respectively against such top teams as Cape Girardeau Central, Jackson and Bell City, will be the flea in the Indians scalp at Dexter tonight.

Dexter, which struggled to win before the Christmas break, took the opportunity to sharpen up on its press after being taken out of the Bloomfield Christmas tournament by these same Indians, who will visit tonight.

Coach Hall feels that his Bearcat squad, which has been seeded number-one for the class M tournament at Bloomfield, has as good a chance of going all the way in the class M regional and state playoffs as any team in the area if his boys continue to play the type of ball they have since the Christmas break. But the Cats big interest tonight will be to avenge two earlier losses.

Dexter, which will meet one of the tournament dark horses, Doniphan, in its opening game of the class M regional will face perhaps two of the toughest teams in the tournament before advancing into the finals.

Bloomfield, which is host to the tournament, was seeded second behind the Bearcats and seems to be in the better bracket, teamwise. Its biggest competition in the semi-final round will most likely be the Richland Rebels, the Cinderella team.

Coach Hall feels that playing the good teams in the opening round of the tournament and continuing to meet them will be to his team's advantage. His squad will have to be ready for each game. Bloomfield will meet Risco in their opener and most likely will not really be up for the game. Risco has yet to win this season.

Taking a look at the Bearcats record, one could see how the Bearcats are considered as a possible representative from Southeast Missouri in the state tournament in March.

Of the Bearcats defeats, two have come at the hands of the highly regarded Kennett Indians. The others have come at the hands of three of the area's dark horse teams who have shots at tournament championships, Sikeston, Richland, and Poplar Bluff. The other two losses, one at the hands of the District's fifth ranked Bloomfield Wildcats and the other at the hands of the unheard of Caruthersville Tigers.

Six of the Dexter quintet's losses came by six points or less and the seventh was a 17-point loss to Richland.

Guethle is the backbone of the Bearcats' offense and rebounding, as he has showed in his last three games.

Dexter, who had their trouble before the Christmas break came to life with its press after the midseason mark and has come on strong and taken wins over such teams as Cape Central, Bell City, Jackson and Bloomfield.

By far the Cats biggest win of the season was over the Bloomfield Wildcats on their home court for the championship of the Stoddard county tournament.

This feat was one that is seldom done. The Wildcats seldom take a defeat on their home court and especially in a tournament.

Injuries have plagued the Bearcats since the opening of the season, most being badly turned ankles. Four of the Cats starters have had this trouble, including the Dexter quintet's David Guethle. The only starter, who has escaped injury, has been Harlen Guethle, brother of David.

Three seniors are on Coach Hall's squad and each has drawn starting assignments.

The seniors, Charlie Corlies, Larry Layton and David Guethle, will be working to return the Cats to the state tournament playoff.

Last season, as the class L representative, the Bearcats advanced to St. Louis only to take a defeat by the team that finished fourth in class L, Augustinia.

Dexter, a town known for its support of sporting activities, has followed the Bearcats no matter how the team is doing, will stay with the Cats until their final season game.

After tonight's game with Kennett, all the Dexter quintet will turn their attention and thoughts to the opening game in the class M tournament at Bloomfield. With the determination and desire that Coach Hall has inspired in his squad they have the talent, speed, and desire along with the Cats backing of the town to win another regional championship and a shot at the state title. . . .Good luck.

454 Class S and M Schools Compete In Tournaments

COLUMBIA -- Class S and M regional basketball tournaments are scheduled to begin Monday, February 20. Regional tournament committees have met and seeding of teams has been completed. A total of 454 teams will participate in the tournaments, 234 in Class S and 220 in Class M, with the number of teams assigned to each regional varying from 11 to 16 due to geographical location of teams in each class.

The purpose of the tournament series is to give each school the opportunity to demonstrate and evaluate, in comparison with other schools throughout the state, the knowledge, skills, and emotional patterns that have been taught through interscholastic basketball. An important factor in each school's interscholastic program is the sportsmanship of players, students and fans. There will be a sportsmanship trophy awarded at each state tournament to schools whose players, coaches, cheerleaders, and fans display the best sportsmanship.

The four probable strongest teams in each regional have been seeded by the regional tournament committees. Among the factors considered in seeding teams are won and last records and a comparison of the competition played during the season. Dexter Ends Season Tonight, Ready For Regional Opener

Risco Hoping For Season's First Victory Tonight

It seems only yesterday that the 1966-67 high school basketball season got underway. Now it's in its final night for class S and M schools.

Barring any cancellation because of road conditions, 38 teams will pair up in 19 locations around the Southeast Missouri area. Risco hopes for a victory as they host Cooter (1-17).

The area's large schools still have two weeks in which to sharpen their skills for the commencement of class L tournament play.

Class S and M tournament play opens Monday around the state and in six locations in the area. Tourney sites for the SEMO district will be for Class S, Advance and Lesterville. Class M, Bloomfield, Steele, Illmo, and Fredericktown.

Among the most successful class L teams to date in the area has been the red hot Charleston Blue Jays, currently on a 13-game winning streak in an 18-5 season.

The Blue Jays, led by 6-2 Gary Betts and junior standout Ruben Brown, will travel to Cape Girardeau tonight to meet the district's number two ranked team, Notre Dame. Charleston was ranked fourth in the last poll conducted.

Homecoming games will highlight the final night for a few of the teams.

Other games to watch will be Richland at Scott Central, a game that could go either way. Central will be out to beat its former coach, Charles Pardon, while coach Pardon will be out to direct his squad past the touch class S school.

Cape Central will visit the Sikeston quintet in the Bulldogs annual homecoming game tonight, scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Sikeston will try to avenge an earlier loss to the Tigers, who are currently in seventh place in SEMO conference standings.

Our little friend decided he will only get his feet wet before the regional tournaments begin....

Falling short by one prediction to hit 100 per cent for the first time this season has made him a little weary of predicting tonight...The spoiler of all teams had to be...Parma, who knocked off Campbell.

Here are tonight's winners:

Dexter will avenge its earlier losses at Kennett. Richland will hand the Scott Central Braves a homecoming defeat. Malden has the material to beat Bernie but we think it will fall. Illmo-Scott City will be victorious. Caruthersville has the edge on visiting New Madrid, the court and will win. East Prairie with a good night can tap the Bobcats. We think Delta has the edge. Charleston should run its streak to 14, 13 is an unlucky number and we see Notre Dame as the winner. Sikeston might be up for the game, since it's the Bulldogs homecoming. It will need to play a good game to win. Maybe Fred Towns has returned from Texas...We understand he went to get a fit for a hat... Sikeston victorious. Last but not least will be the battle for the victory...Risco will try and take its season's first at home tonight when Cooter visits. The Cooter quntet has one win under its belts and will try for two...

DEXTER -- Coach Jim Hall's basketball Bearcats will end their regular season schedule tonight, barring cancellation, when they are host to arch rival Kennett. First game starts at 7 p.m.

The Bearcats' record stands at 15-7 going into tonight's match with the Indians of Coach Terry Turlington, a former Dexter high school basketball star and former teammate of coach Hall.

With the superb playing of senior center, David Guethle, the Bearcats hope to avenge two earlier defeats at the hands of the Indians.

Guethle, who has averaged 28 points in his last three games, scoring 36, 26, and 23 points respectively against such top teams as Cape Girardeau Central, Jackson and Bell City, will be the flea in the Indians scalp at Dexter tonight.

Dexter, which struggled to win before the Christmas break, took the opportunity to sharpen up on its press after being taken out of the Bloomfield Christmas tournament by these same Indians, who will visit tonight.

Coach Hall feels that his Bearcat squad, which has been seeded number-one for the class M tournament at Bloomfield, has as good a chance of going all the way in the class M regional and state playoffs as any team in the area if his boys continue to play the type of ball they have since the Christmas break. But the Cats big interest tonight will be to avenge two earlier losses.

Dexter, which will meet one of the tournament dark horses, Doniphan, in its opening game of the class M regional will face perhaps two of the toughest teams in the tournament before advancing into the finals.

Bloomfield, which is host to the tournament, was seeded second behind the Bearcats and seems to be in the better bracket, teamwise. Its biggest competition in the semi-final round will most likely be the Richland Rebels, the Cinderella team.

Coach Hall feels that playing the good teams in the opening round of the tournament and continuing to meet them will be to his team's advantage. His squad will have to be ready for each game. Bloomfield will meet Risco in their opener and most likely will not really be up for the game. Risco has yet to win this season.

Taking a look at the Bearcats record, one could see how the Bearcats are considered as a possible representative from Southeast Missouri in the state tournament in March.

Of the Bearcats defeats, two have come at the hands of the highly regarded Kennett Indians. The others have come at the hands of three of the area's dark horse teams who have shots at tournament championships, Sikeston, Richland, and Poplar Bluff. The other two losses, one at the hands of the District's fifth ranked Bloomfield Wildcats and the other at the hands of the unheard of Caruthersville Tigers.

Six of the Dexter quintet's losses came by six points or less and the seventh was a 17-point loss to Richland.

Guethle is the backbone of the Bearcats' offense and rebounding, as he has showed in his last three games.

Dexter, who had their trouble before the Christmas break came to life with its press after the midseason mark and has come on strong and taken wins over such teams as Cape Central, Bell City, Jackson and Bloomfield.

By far the Cats biggest win of the season was over the Bloomfield Wildcats on their home court for the championship of the Stoddard county tournament.

This feat was one that is seldom done. The Wildcats seldom take a defeat on their home court and especially in a tournament.

Injuries have plagued the Bearcats since the opening of the season, most being badly turned ankles. Four of the Cats starters have had this trouble, including the Dexter quintet's David Guethle. The only starter, who has escaped injury, has been Harlen Guethle, brother of David.

Three seniors are on Coach Hall's squad and each has drawn starting assignments.

The seniors, Charlie Corlies, Larry Layton and David Guethle, will be working to return the Cats to the state tournament playoff.

Last season, as the class L representative, the Bearcats advanced to St. Louis only to take a defeat by the team that finished fourth in class L, Augustinia.

Dexter, a town known for its support of sporting activities, has followed the Bearcats no matter how the team is doing, will stay with the Cats until their final season game.

After tonight's game with Kennett, all the Dexter quintet will turn their attention and thoughts to the opening game in the class M tournament at Bloomfield. With the determination and desire that Coach Hall has inspired in his squad they have the talent, speed, and desire along with the Cats backing of the town to win another regional championship and a shot at the state title. . . .Good luck.

Last Year's Winners And This Year's Predictions

Wright City and Owensville captured the 1965 class S and M state basketball respectively while Kansas City Central was victorious in the class L tourney. For both Wright City and Owensville, their victories marked the first time either school had won the state crown. Kansas City Central's title is their second in the history of the tournament. Central also turned the trick back in 1930.

That pretty well points out to you sports fans in Southeast Missouri how the Southwestern part of the state has controlled the basketball tournament each year for the past 13 seasons.

Yes...It has been that long since a team from our area brought home that...big one... It was the Cape Central Tigers who brought it home....

This season there isn't really one team a person could pick and say...that team is headed for the state tournament... There are many well balanced squads and each has taken wins over others or has taken wins over teams which have beaten the other that it is almost impossible to compare one team with the other.

CLASS S

The Wright City Wildcats won the class S regional tournament at Hannibal; McCooey as they defeated the host McCooey Shamrocks 73-48 in the final game. In state tournament play the Wildcats defeated Queen City 77-62 in first round action; overcame a 14-point halftime deficit to down Cainville 83-76, in their second game; and beat Farmington; St. Joseph 62-52 in the semi-final contest. In the championship game Wright City won over an outstanding Springfield; Greenwood team 55-45. Drexel nipped St. Joseph for third place honors 46-45 on a last second shot.

Parma, last season's entry in the class S regional from the area took a first round defeat from St. Joe after leading most of the first half.

CLASS M

Owensville qualified for the class M state tournament by defeating Hermann 42-34 in the championship game of the Cuba regional. In their quest for the state title, the Dutchmen downed St. Louis Priory 69-53 in first round play and Clopton of Clarksville 65-55 in the quarter-finals. They outpointed highly-regarded Bloomfield 59-50 in the semi-final game and went on to defeat Willard 62-54 for the Championship. Boonville beat Bloomfield 52-51 in a double overtime thriller for third place honors.

That paragraph above just points out how close we (our area) came to sending a team to the finals and the title! Bloomfield was highly regarded but got to the tournament and had a little letdown that cost it the title.

CLASS L

The Kansas City Central Blue Eagles took wins over Paseo 65-59, St. Joseph; Benton 67-49, William Chrisman 76-67, Augustinian Academy 61-53, and Parkview, the defending champion 52-48 in the tourney fields.

Dexter represented the area in the state tournament last season but suffered defeat.

The Wildcats, undefeated in Missouri before entering the tournament advanced past Fredericktown 51-48 at Flat River in first round play and continued on toward the semi-finals with a squeaking 52-50 win over the Oran Eagles of Coach Gene Bess.

Bloomfield suffered its first defeat by a Missouri team in the semi-finals as Owensville took a 59-50 win and suffered its second loss to a Missouri team by bowing to Boonville 52-51 in two overtimes.....

The Bloomfield quintet entered state tournament competition with a 30-1 mark. Their only defeat came at the hands of Treadwell of Memphis. The team which capped second in its state.

CLASS L

Dexter, 23-5, advanced into the state tournament by defeating Kennett in the regional at Dexter.

The Bearcats opened first round play at Cape with a 62-39 place finisher, Augustinian.

Our little devil has a strong feeling...and we mean a strong one....that the team to emerge with the SEMO title in class M will shoot toward the tournament title and be the first team in....13 years to bring that site for sore eyes...The biggest trophy award throughout the state...Class M Champions 1966....

CLASS S

Parma advanced to the first round of the state tournament under the coaching of Doyle Denbow, who had led his team in his eight seasons at PHS to five second place finishes in the regional before capping the title in 1965. His team entered the tournament with a 19-9 record to only bow out in the first round game at Cape against Farmington; St. Joseph 66-52.

CLASS M

Coach Tom Hewgley and Charles Spoonhour led their Bloomfield Wildcat squad to the state tournament for rout of Perryville but fell in quarter-final action at Washington University in St. Louis to Augustinian Academy 57-51.

Here are this years...pre-tournament predictions on who will cap the titles.

ADVANCE - We see that the Howardville Hawks are going to be the team to beat...We know that the Scott Central Braves have got a shot at the title and may just as well take it... but the Hawks are a hard team to go against and we think when it comes down to that final night...The Howardville quintet and coach will receive the instruction sheet for advancing into the tournament bracket... Scott Central, Advance, Bell City, and Delta has a shot.

BLOOMFIELD - Here we are faced with the task of picking the winner in the Wildcats own regional...We sure can't go against them....Bloomfield.... The other teams had better wake up and remember the Wildcats are still around...and has the guts it takes to go a long way...Watch out Lexington. Watch out for Richland and Dexter though.

STEELE - Surely Hayti North will advance the winner.....But the host Bulldogs have a good shot at the title...Hayti North will be the winner but has no place to go after its regional victory....but to Bloomfield. Southland is tough.

ILLMO - Now that all the cards are laid on the table... We see the Oran Eagles emerging victorious..but Illmo-Scott City, Notre Dame and Matthews will figure in the last hand.

POPLAR BLUFF - As we said at the beginning of the year... watch out for the Charleston Blue Jays...it will get the football out of its system and will be hard to beat...and that's the way it will be...Hard to beat Charleston...Sikeston has improved.

We'd ask you to compare it . . . but with what?

Comparing a Cadillac has always been a problem, for the car has long been clearly in a class of its own. In 1967, the challenge is even greater . . . because Cadillac has never before asserted its leadership so convincingly.

Start with beauty. Cast about for a luxury car contender that can list such styling advancements as Cadillac's dramatic new roof line, its forward sweeping front design and its graceful and flowing side contours. Then consider that there are eleven exciting examples of this kind of Cadillac beauty . . . as well as the totally new Eldorado, the world's finest personal car!

Consider also the incomparable newness of Cadillac's beautiful interiors and their unexcelled safety and convenience. There are passenger-guard door locks, a hazard warning system, a dual circuit braking system, latches that hold folding front seats securely in place and dozens of other safety features.

And, of course, there's performance. There's nothing else smoother than Cadillac's V-8 power; nothing else easier than Cadillac's improved variable ratio power steering; nothing else surer or steadier on the highway.

Visit your authorized dealer and measure Cadillac against your own motoring requirements. It's the only valid comparison test for the Standard of the World.

The "Full Faith And Credit" Clause of The United States Constitution

5. CONCLUSION

The importance of the full faith and credit clause lies in its value as a means for creating a harmonious federal system, in which each State may assert its own legal policies so long as it has a legitimate interest in enforcing them, but may not refuse to enforce the policies of sister States through mere caprice. As to judgments, "the room left for the play of conflicting (State) policies is a narrow one... For the States of the Union, the constitutional limitation imposed by the full faith and credit clause abolished, in large measure, the general principle of international law by which local policy is permitted to dominate rules of comity." A sister State judgment, with a few very limited and narrow exceptions, must be enforced in a local court to the same extent as in the State where the judgment was rendered. This encompasses all of the issues decided by the sister State court, or which could have been decided, including its jurisdiction, if an appearance is made by the opposing party.

Statutory policies leave a somewhat greater room for local policy to operate. But even here, a sister - State's without a strong and legitimate local interest to the contrary, of which the United States Supreme Court will ultimately judge. For as that court has declared:

The very purpose of the full-frith and credit clause was to alter the status of the several states as independent foreign sovereignties, each free to ignore obligations created under the laws or by the judicial proceedings of the others, and to make them integral parts of a single nation throughout which a remedy upon a just obligation might be demanded as of right, irrespective of the state of its origin. That purpose ought not lightly to be set aside out of deference to a local policy which, if it exists, would seem to be too trivial to merit serious consideration when weighed against the policy of the constitutional provision and the interest of the state whose judgment is challenged.

The "Full Faith And Credit" Clause of The United States Constitution

5. CONCLUSION

The importance of the full faith and credit clause lies in its value as a means for creating a harmonious federal system, in which each State may assert its own legal policies so long as it has a legitimate interest in enforcing them, but may not refuse to enforce the policies of sister States through mere caprice. As to judgments, "the room left for the play of conflicting (State) policies is a narrow one... For the States of the Union, the constitutional limitation imposed by the full faith and credit clause abolished, in large measure, the general principle of international law by which local policy is permitted to dominate rules of comity." A sister State judgment, with a few very limited and narrow exceptions, must be enforced in a local court to the same extent as in the State where the judgment was rendered. This encompasses all of the issues decided by the sister State court, or which could have been decided, including its jurisdiction, if an appearance is made by the opposing party.

Statutory policies leave a somewhat greater room for local policy to operate. But even here, a sister - State's without a strong and legitimate local interest to the contrary, of which the United States Supreme Court will ultimately judge. For as that court has declared:

The very purpose of the full-frith and credit clause was to alter the status of the several states as independent foreign sovereignties, each free to ignore obligations created under the laws or by the judicial proceedings of the others, and to make them integral parts of a single nation throughout which a remedy upon a just obligation might be demanded as of right, irrespective of the state of its origin. That purpose ought not lightly to be set aside out of deference to a local policy, which, if it exists, would seem to be too trivial to merit serious consideration when weighed against the policy of the constitutional provision and the interest of the state whose judgment is challenged.

Panel Sings Praises of Cole Porter

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Only Cole could write a passionate song," said Alan Jay Lerner. "And he never wrote with self-pity."

For illustration, longtime friends of the late Cole Porter sang a few of his passionate, nonpitying songs. Fred Astaire intoned "Night and Day," Ethel Merman belted out "Make It Another Old - Fashioned, Please," and Frank Sinatra delivered "I've Got You Under My Skin."

These figures, along with Gene Kelly and Garson Kanin, saluted Porter this week at a dinner given by the Friends of the Libraries of the University of Southern California. The panelists sang their tributes and talked about their association with the Indiana-born songwriter.

Sinatra recalled when he was a stripling of a singer appearing at a roadhouse in Englewood, N.J. To his astonishment, Cole Porter came in the place one night with friends. Sinatra, who doubled as head waiter, gave Porter "the greatest buildup since Charles Lindberg," much to the songwriter's displeasure.

"I dedicated one of his songs to him — and then I forgot all the words," Sinatra recalled.

Kanin asked Astaire if he knew "Night and Day" would be such a success when he first sang it in "The Gay Divorce."

"I didn't recognize it as a great hit," the dancer admitted. "I was more concerned with whether I could sing it, with all those high notes."

Kanin introduced a guest panelist, "A young man who sang 'Easy to Love' in 'Born to Dance.'" A skinny, towering actor, grizzled for a Western role, ambled to the microphone.

"I'm Jimmy Stewart," he announced.

He told of his own concern as to whether he could hit the high notes. He asked Porter if he could "hit some of those notes down." The songwriter refused. Stewart demonstrated for the U.S.C. audience his way with "Easy to Love," grimacing at the high notes like a choir boy in puberty.

The panelists talked sadly of Porter's final years, when his illness prompted him to drop the big, elegant dinners he enjoyed giving. Then he would entertain only a few close friends, but always with the same elegance.

Porter had given up songwriting after supplying a couple of tunes for Kelly in "Les Girls." Porter, long troubled with his broken legs, had undergone an amputation.

THIS WEEK SALUTING

Church Of God In Christ

LIBOURN, MISSOURI

Rev. & Mrs. J.C. Pullen, Jr.

The Church of God in Christ, Lilbourn, is located on the corner of Benton Street.

They began having services in 1925 with just a few members, under the leadership of the late Elder Charles Edmond, along with his wife, Mrs. Pauline Edmond.

In the beginning, they didn't have a place to worship. The late Elder and Mrs. Monroe Parrott gave permission and they had services in their home.

Some of the members starting out with the church were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lavelle, Rev. and Mrs. Waverly Conner, Mrs. Francie, Mrs. Neal Coffee, Mrs. Silvie Robertson, Mrs. Bernice Blackman, and the late Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Minnis, along with a few others.

A few months later we bought the lot on which the present church stands. On this lot was a small house. It was used for services in the winter, and in the summer services were held under a brush arbor. Several members were added to the church.

In 1946 the church was built. Elder Charles Edmond pastored it until his health began to fail. He then resigned and recommended the present pastor, Elder J. C. Pullen, Jr., who was reared in the Bell City area.

We have a nice group of young people in our Sunday School almost every Sunday.

Since J. C. Pullen has become pastor, the church membership has been increased, although due to working conditions and living facilities people have moved to different cities.

The church has been remodeled and modern conveniences have been added.

Elder and Sister Pullen have been with the church for twelve years and are known as a lovable couple by most who know them. They are the parents of nine children.

We have four classes in our Sunday School.

For Christmas our Sunday School gave fruits and candy to the children in our community and food to some that weren't able to prepare anything for Christmas.

Everyone is welcome to attend our church services and Sunday School. Bring your family and friends. The congregation is small but they are friendly and the spirit of the Lord is present.

THIS PICTURE of Abraham Lincoln is believed to be one of the few showing him as smooth-shaven. It hangs in the Citizens National Bank at Chillicothe and bears the autographed signature of the Civil War president. It belonged to Mrs. Harriett Teney, sister of Dr. W. W. Edgerton, founder of the bank. Her husband met Lincoln when he made a campaign tour in Michigan. (AP Photo)

Panel Sings Praises of Cole Porter

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Only Cole could write a passionate song," said Alan Jay Lerner. "And he never wrote with self-pity."

For illustration, longtime friends of the late Cole Porter sang a few of his passionate, nonpitying songs. Fred Astaire intoned "Night and Day," Ethel Merman belted out "Make It Another Old - Fashioned, Please," and Frank Sinatra delivered "I've Got You Under My Skin."

These figures, along with Gene Kelly and Garson Kanin, saluted Porter this week at a dinner given by the Friends of the Libraries of the University of Southern California. The panelists sang their tributes and talked about their association with the Indiana-born songwriter.

Sinatra recalled when he was a stripling of a singer appearing at a roadhouse in Englewood, N.J. To his astonishment, Cole Porter came in the place one night with friends. Sinatra, who doubled as head waiter, gave Porter "the greatest buildup since Charles Lindberg," much to the songwriter's displeasure.

"I dedicated one of his songs to him — and then I forgot all the words," Sinatra recalled.

Kanin asked Astaire if he knew "Night and Day" would be such a success when he first sang it in "The Gay Divorce."

"I didn't recognize it as a great hit," the dancer admitted. "I was more concerned with whether I could sing it, with all those high notes."

Kanin introduced a guest panelist, "A young man who sang 'Easy to Love' in 'Born to Dance.'" A skinny, towering actor, grizzled for a Western role, ambled to the microphone.

"I'm Jimmy Stewart," he announced.

He told of his own concern as to whether he could hit the high notes. He asked Porter if he could "hit some of those notes down." The songwriter refused. Stewart demonstrated for the U.S.C. audience his way with "Easy to Love," grimacing at the high notes like a choir boy in puberty.

The panelists talked sadly of Porter's final years, when his illness prompted him to drop the big, elegant dinners he enjoyed giving. Then he would entertain only a few close friends, but always with the same elegance.

Porter had given up songwriting after supplying a couple of tunes for Kelly in "Les Girls." Porter, long troubled with his broken legs, had undergone an amputation.

Senior Party Or Bust!

Abe Lincoln Is 'Founder' Of American Democracy

NATION PAUSED last Sunday to pay tribute to one of the most admired, respected and loved leaders of the country's long and prideful history.

This day commemorated the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the 16th President of the United States.

Lincoln, next to Jefferson whom he admired, is the spiritual fountainhead of the philosophy of American democracy and the symbol of freedom.

His life's story is stunning in its simplicity. Born in a log cabin in poverty, painfully self-educated, rose from comparatively obscurity to national leadership in a nearly fatal crisis, saved the United States from dissolution, and at the moment of victory, was slain by an assasin.

From humble birth in 1809 to martyr's death in 1865, the life of Lincoln follows the classic lines of tragic greatness.

Lincoln occupied the center stage of history for less than half a dozen years. At the time of his nomination for the Presidency, he was so little known as a national figure that people were not even certain how to spell his name.

But from his emergence out of the Illinois prairie into public view, Lincoln began to fascinate observers. Nathaniel Hawthorne, when he first saw the loose-jointed and uncouth figure, thought him to be "about the homeliest man he ever saw, yet by no means repulsive or disagreeable."

His physical appearance was bizarre. Inordinately tall, bony, stoop-shouldered, his dark hair was coarse, his skin too shallow, his neck too scrawny, his arms too long, his hands too furrowed, and his feet too large.

But all these physical mishaps were overshadowed by his brilliance, his wit, his humanity, and his memorable display of logic and reason in the abolishment of slavery, which saved the country from possible ruin.

And so Abraham Lincoln now towers beyond American history.

By his words he deepened the meaning of democracy, and by his actions he widened the horizons of human dignity, giving his life to a universal ideal -- "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from he earth."

Tony Statler Tells Class Of Trip To Europe; Russia

Administrative assistant Tony E. Statler showed and narrated the slides for the history classes that Supt. Lynn Twitty took on his European trip last year. History classes met in the east common room on Tuesday, and each section learned from the illustrated lecture.

* * *

Mr. Statler called the students' attention to such matters as dress, buildings, educational facilities, and the expression on the citizens' faces in Europe and the Soviet Union.

"They are not as unhappy as we think they are," said Mr. Statler, "and are very anxious to have their pictures taken." The people of Europe were well represented by Mr. Twitty's pictures, as they showed life in the city, country, and slums of many nations.

Parallel to the history classes' critical study of communism, Mr. Statler showed many slides of Russia. Slides of schools, architecture, and Russian culture in general enabled students to form a better concept of life in that country.

The slides were very revealing, showing not only the people and achievements of Russia but its shortcomings, such as poverty and poor construction of buildings.

"The clothing of Russian citizens, though not colorful, appeared rugged and warm," commented Mr. Statler.

All classes fortunate enough to hear Mr. Statler's commentary are now more able to compare the United States and her culture to that of the Soviet Union and many European nations.

A current joke about Egypt's economic problems tells of a villager who brought home a fish and asked his wife to cook it for dinner. "I can't," she said. "There is no oil."

"Then use butter," said the husband.

"There is no butter."

"Then broil it over charcoal."

"There is no charcoal."

The digusted villager thereupon tossed hs catch back into the Red Sea. The fish bobbed up, lifted a fin and shouted, "Long live President Nasser!"

Bond Issue Speaker Is Dr. Martin

Gary Grant Speaks About PTA; Moderne Chorale Performs

Dr. A. D. Martin, president of the Sikeston Board of Education, discussed the proposed bond issue at the Parent-Teacher meeting Monday evening.

Dr. Martin said that the bond issue would provide a steady improvement in the curriculum, improve the salary schedule for the faculty, and improve the building program for the Sikeston schools.

School system is growing and more elementary classrooms are needed.

It is proposed that a new elementary school be constructed in the eastern part of town; more additional classrooms be built at the high school; more rooms be added for vocational training; library facilities be enlarged; and more space added to the high school cafeteria.

Sikeston high school needs a field house constructed on the campus.

The bond issue would not increase the tax levy in the Sikeston district -- a bond issue of eight years ago will retire this spring to make way for new bonding capacity.

Dr. Martin concluded his talk by answering several questions from the audience.

Junior Gary Grant discussed the origin of the Parent-Teachers Association.

He said that Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hurst was the Missourian who was one of the founders of the organization on February 17, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

Gary said, "It is the concern of your helping the youth of today that they become the leaders of tomorrow."

Moderne chorale, directed by Gordon Beaver, entertained the audience with three numbers -- "The Thunder of the Lord," "The Sweetest Sounds," and "Down Town."

Mrs. Harold Hill is the president of the organization, and she presented the program that evening.

Future Teachers of America served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

Guess Who?

Mystery column features this week a popular senior girl. She is presently 17 years old and resides at 913 Allen Boulevard with her parents.

She plays the flute in 7:30 band, and she attends First Christian church.

Her various activities include Red Peppers, Future Teachers of America and concert choir.

She is eagerly awaiting graduation in May, and upon graduation she plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College in the summer.

Her favorite pastime is walking her poodle.

Last week's mystery personality was Bobbye Scott.

Tenkoff, Wiss Will Attend Honor Society Convention

Juniors Lynne Tenkhoff and Gary Wiss were chosen as representatives of the Veritas Chapter at the National Honor Society Convention in St. Louis tomorrow.

Lynne and Gary will attend various discussion groups and listen to talks given by prominent Missourians. Governor Warren E. Hearnes is one of the guest speakers on the agenda.

The program stresses the opportunities that Missouri has to offer young people. In keeping with the theme, Lynne and Gary have made a poster display illustrating the unique qualities of Sikeston and Sikeston high school. This display will be one of many representing Missouri in a national tour.

Plans for the annual Honor Society induction were begun as the date, Friday, March 31, was set.

Carl Wright was chosen to act as the main speaker for the occasion.

Teresa Hamelmann, Vicki Schindler, Charles Stamp, and Steve Spear will present the traditional program with speeches on "leadership, scholarship, service, and character."

Chairman in charge of providing a theme for the induction is senior Jim Hux. Seniors Camille Bowman, Charles Stamp, Melinda Morrison, Peg Rafferty, and Eddie Hodges will head the arrangements, program, decoration, refreshments, and cleanup committees.

Top five per cent of the sophomore class, 10 per cent of the junior class, and 15 per cent of the senior class are admitted, according to scholastic rating, to Honor Society. Invitations will be handed to new members by seniors as soon as grades and ratings are released from the office.

Early Division SHS Band To Present Annual Concert

Three Featured Soloists Will Be Patti McMullin, Diane Taylor, Becky Wagner

Early division Sikeston high school symphonic band, directed by Keith Collins, will present its annual winter concert in the middle school auditorium next Thursday evening at 7:30.

Senior Becky Wagner will be the featured pianist in Mozart's Sonata in C Major, "Concertino."

Becky has been concert pianist of the moderne chorale for the past two years.

Soprano solist Patti McMullin will be accompanied by the band in "Agnus Die" from "L'Arlesienne Suite."

Pat has attended district music contests for three years, and she received number one ratings each time. She has appeared in the Sikeston Little Theatre's musical productions of "Sound of Music" and "The King and I."

Diane Taylor will play the French horn solo in "Rondo" from Mozart's Concerto No. 3 in E Flat.

Diane was one of the members of the All-District band that performed at the Music Educators Association in January.

Other selections to be presented range from classical numbers to popular arrangements.

These include "Concert Overture for Band," "Nutmegger's March," "La Rosita," "Au Pays Lorrain," "Symphonic Overture," "Western March," and "Henry Mancini Medley."

Late division symphonic band, directed by Mr. Collins, will present its concert to the public Friday, March 10.

Juniors Choose '68 Rings; Round With Raised Set

Juniors chose round rings with a red raised set for the '68 class symbol Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen junior representatives, elected in homerooms, made the final decision at a meeting after school.

Truth, honor, knowledge, and a lamp and book of learning are engraved on each side of the rings.

Seniors to be may order sizes of small, medium, or large. Rings may also be purchased at a lower price, which do not have a set.

Ring committee members included Karen Baugus, Carl Barnett, Mary Jane Cope, David Childers, Jasper Grant, Sharon Harber, Jim Klein, Kathie Matthews, Pam Marsh.

Mike Musick, Tony Poole, Susan Parmenter, Judy Rodgers, Ed Felker, Diane Taylor, Laura Tope, Kenny Woodward, and King Sidwell.

Juniors may order their rings from Wright's, Hale's, Voelker's, or Yanson's jewelry stores in Sikeston. Initials will be on the inside and students will have a choice of either two or three initials.

Students must make a $5 deposit when ordering their rings and can pay the balance when the rings arrive next August.

MASTER PLAN

Our 11-year-old Boy Scout returned from an overnight winter camping trip cold, sleepy and reeking of wood smoke. As he filled us in on the details of the outing, he mentioned that, when it started to snow, the scoutmaster retired to a nearby farmhouse, professing trouble with his teeth.

"What was the matter with his teeth?" my wife asked.

"I guess they were chattering," said our son. H. L. Keir

Leaguers Go To Kennett Debate Meet

Twenty-seven members of the Sikeston National Forensic League participated in a debate meet at Kennett Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen students took part in the debates concerning the United States foreign aid policies, and nine students participated in the discussion-impromptu rounds.

Defending the affirmative side were Alan Bryant, Alice Cannon, Lana Dillender, Jim Doggett, Leslie Johnson, James Lashmet, Barbara Nall, Connie Sullivan, Rod Taylor, and Nancy Turner.

Negative debaters attending were Mickey Bass, Martha Bucher, John Hough, Gene Spitzmiller, Denise Sprague, David Stallings, Mike Struwe, and Mary Jane York.

Marlene Boshell, Marty Buchanan, Linda Condict, Doug Crow, Jim Hailey, Claudia Ham, Jan Holloway, Phyllis Jones, and Jack Spears participated in the impromptu-discussion.

Home Economic Classes Present Vocational Help

Home economics classes of Sikeston high school are busy preparing students for their futures.

Before 1870, daughters were trained at home in the domestic skills, but during the 1870's three Middle West land-grants colleges pioneered in offering home economic courses.

Approximately 150 colleges and universities in the United States grant degrees in home economics today.

Home economists employed in many occupations, help improve the health and welfare of individuals, families, and even nations.

Household cleanliness is of vital importance to the house and will always be among the most important vocations of mankind.

Group of domestic service occupations is concerned with the usual functions relative to the maintenance of households and their surroundings -cooking of meals, child care, laundrymen, yardmen, caretakers, cooks, chambermaids, valets, and various others.

This group is just becoming occupations which require class education. Sikeston high school has for the first time a class subsidized by the government to train students in these fields.

Classes Take Tour Of Bank In St. Louis

Future Business Leaders of America and distributive education students made a field trip to St. Louis Wednesday.

A tour of the Federal Reserve Bank highlighted the trip. Main purpose of the trip was to see how the bank is operated.

After touring the bank, the students had lunch and a free hour in the downtown area.

In the afternoon the boys were taken to the Chevrolet Plant while the girls witnessed the Globe-Democrat fashion show in Kiel Auditorium.

Students were accompanied by Jim Cornett, director of vocational education, Norman Woods, coordinator of distributive education, and Mrs. Rovena Hillsman, sponsor of Future Business Leaders.

Mrs. Hillsman and Mike Andrews recently attended a state-planning meeting of the Missouri Future Business Leaders in Herculaneum.

DARLA SCOLES poses before her 442 Oldsmobile.

Darla Scoles' Olds 442 Is Featured Car Of Week

General Motors Corporations gives us this week's featured car from its Oldsmobile division.

The car is Darla Scoles' 1967 442. That is the name given the Cutlass Supreme Coupe in its performance version. Next to Pontiac's GTO and Chevrolet's SS-396, it is probably General Motors hottest intermediate sized car.

The 442 option on Darla's car consists of special trim and distinctive markings, heavy duty springs and shocks, and high performance engine.

The power plant is a 400-cubic inch Rocket V-8 that develops 350 horsepower. This ultra-high compression engine uses preium gasoline through its quadra-jet four-barrel carb.

Darla's performance and driving options are a turbo hydramatic transmission, ultra high voltage ignition system, rocket rally pack which includes tachometer and full instrumentation, roto-matic power steering, pedal ease power brakes, and 14-inch super stock wheels with Firestone wide oval tires.

Convenience and styling options include visor vanity mirror, luggage compartment lamp, glove box lamp, chrome door edge guard moulding, deluxe pushbutton radio with rear speaker, strato bucket seats, sports console, soft ray tinted windshield, four-season air conditioner, deluxe front and rear seat belts, and a vinyl roof top covering.

Adding to her cameo ivory and black top Olds is the long standard equipment list including door-to-door carpeting, foam padded front and rear seat cushions, chrome roof drip mouldings, deluxe steering wheel, ash tray lamp, and deluxe interior equipment.

Darla is a senior, and she received the car as a graduation gift.

Americans Should Make World 'Home Of The Free'

FEBRUARY is a month in which two of America's greatest patriots were born. George Washington took a nation newly-formed and with a resolute hand firmly and greatly gave this nation a good foundation.

Abraham Lincoln also realized the greatness of the United States and dedicated himself to the task of holding the union together.

At this time, America is in a period of dissension caused by the struggle in Vietnam. Americans have lost sight of the true purpose of fighting the war.

The question is: "Can we withdraw without embarrassment?"

Truly the eyes of the world are upon the United States. It is the accepted theory throughout the world that the United States believes that each individual should be free from oppression.

The citizens of the United States, not just the government and the military, should be ready to assist these people who are under a period of tyranny and living within a war-torn country.

It is our duty, the duty to our belief in freedom and our ideas of liberty and justice, to stand stalwartly behind the government and the military.

It is our duty to show the world with words and actions that we will support our ideological words with sword in hand if necessary.

Purpose of this war should not only be to stop the spread of communism and make the world free, but to reveal ourselves as patriots and to prove that United we stand, in the home of the brave and the free!

Giant Plane To Change Air Service

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — This isn't really an airplane. It's a flying version of Mammoth Cave.

Yet within four years this whale-like flying machine will be hurtling from Los Angeles to New York in four hours carrying 362 passengers — and their luggage — in its cavernous belly.

It could carry as many as 490 passengers in economy-class seats, but nobody seems to want that at present.

The plane is the 625 mile per hour Boeing 747 and the first models are scheduled for delivery to Pan American World Airways for international runs in just two years.

Whatever flying was like before, it will never be the same again.

Picture this:

A spiral staircase leads from the main cabin to a luxury lounge on the second deck. The seats — perhaps nine abreast — are divided by two separate aisles. Windows are bigger than present jet passenger plane windows, easily big enough to step through. There are as many as 11 lavatories. The ceiling is comfortably above present heights.

And heaven knows how many stewardesses it will take — but it ought to be enough for a chorus line at the Latin Quarter, if not the Radio City Music Hall.

It is so big that the wings and tail assembly for the mockup model could not be attached to the fuselage. The tail -- 63 feet high — would have gone through the roof of the plant, and the wings — almost 196 feet in span — through the walls. It might have been simpler just to put the tail and wings on the building itself.

"They're sawing it (the fuselage) up in sections now," explained a spokesman for Boeing. "And then they'll truck it over to the new Everett, Wash., plant, where the 747 will be made."

It will double or triple almost anything today's big jets can do, except speed.

Abe Lincoln Is 'Founder' Of American Democracy

NATION PAUSED last Sunday to pay tribute to one of the most admired, respected and loved leaders of the country's long and prideful history.

This day commemorated the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the 16th President of the United States.

Lincoln, next to Jefferson whom he admired, is the spiritual fountainhead of the philosophy of American democracy and the symbol of freedom.

His life's story is stunning in its simplicity. Born in a log cabin in poverty, painfully self-educated, rose from comparatively obscurity to national leadership in a nearly fatal crisis, saved the United States from dissolution, and at the moment of victory, was slain by an assasin.

From humble birth in 1809 to martyr's death in 1865, the life of Lincoln follows the classic lines of tragic greatness.

Lincoln occupied the center stage of history for less than half a dozen years. At the time of his nomination for the Presidency, he was so little known as a national figure that people were not even certain how to spell his name.

But from his emergence out of the Illinois prairie into public view, Lincoln began to fascinate observers. Nathaniel Hawthorne, when he first saw the loose-jointed and uncouth figure, thought him to be "about the homeliest man he ever saw, yet by no means repulsive or disagreeable."

His physical appearance was bizarre. Inordinately tall, bony, stoop-shouldered, his dark hair was coarse, his skin too shallow, his neck too scrawny, his arms too long, his hands too furrowed, and his feet too large.

But all these physical mishaps were overshadowed by his brilliance, his wit, his humanity, and his memorable display of logic and reason in the abolishment of slavery, which saved the country from possible ruin.

And so Abraham Lincoln now towers beyond American history.

By his words he deepened the meaning of democracy, and by his actions he widened the horizons of human dignity, giving his life to a universal ideal -- "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from he earth."

Tony Statler Tells Class Of Trip To Europe; Russia

Administrative assistant Tony E. Statler showed and narrated the slides for the history classes that Supt. Lynn Twitty took on his European trip last year. History classes met in the east common room on Tuesday, and each section learned from the illustrated lecture.

* * *

Mr. Statler called the students' attention to such matters as dress, buildings, educational facilities, and the expression on the citizens' faces in Europe and the Soviet Union.

"They are not as unhappy as we think they are," said Mr. Statler, "and are very anxious to have their pictures taken." The people of Europe were well represented by Mr. Twitty's pictures, as they showed life in the city, country, and slums of many nations.

Parallel to the history classes' critical study of communism, Mr. Statler showed many slides of Russia. Slides of schools, architecture, and Russian culture in general enabled students to form a better concept of life in that country.

The slides were very revealing, showing not only the people and achievements of Russia but its shortcomings, such as poverty and poor construction of buildings.

"The clothing of Russian citizens, though not colorful, appeared rugged and warm," commented Mr. Statler.

All classes fortunate enough to hear Mr. Statler's commentary are now more able to compare the United States and her culture to that of the Soviet Union and many European nations.

A current joke about Egypt's economic problems tells of a villager who brought home a fish and asked his wife to cook it for dinner. "I can't," she said. "There is no oil."

"Then use butter," said the husband.

"There is no butter."

"Then broil it over charcoal."

"There is no charcoal."

The digusted villager thereupon tossed hs catch back into the Red Sea. The fish bobbed up, lifted a fin and shouted, "Long live President Nasser!"

Bond Issue Speaker Is Dr. Martin

Gary Grant Speaks About PTA; Moderne Chorale Performs

Dr. A. D. Martin, president of the Sikeston Board of Education, discussed the proposed bond issue at the Parent-Teacher meeting Monday evening.

Dr. Martin said that the bond issue would provide a steady improvement in the curriculum, improve the salary schedule for the faculty, and improve the building program for the Sikeston schools.

School system is growing and more elementary classrooms are needed.

It is proposed that a new elementary school be constructed in the eastern part of town; more additional classrooms be built at the high school; more rooms be added for vocational training; library facilities be enlarged; and more space added to the high school cafeteria.

Sikeston high school needs a field house constructed on the campus.

The bond issue would not increase the tax levy in the Sikeston district -- a bond issue of eight years ago will retire this spring to make way for new bonding capacity.

Dr. Martin concluded his talk by answering several questions from the audience.

Junior Gary Grant discussed the origin of the Parent-Teachers Association.

He said that Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hurst was the Missourian who was one of the founders of the organization on February 17, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

Gary said, "It is the concern of your helping the youth of today that they become the leaders of tomorrow."

Moderne chorale, directed by Gordon Beaver, entertained the audience with three numbers -- "The Thunder of the Lord," "The Sweetest Sounds," and "Down Town."

Mrs. Harold Hill is the president of the organization, and she presented the program that evening.

Future Teachers of America served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

Guess Who?

Mystery column features this week a popular senior girl. She is presently 17 years old and resides at 913 Allen Boulevard with her parents.

She plays the flute in 7:30 band, and she attends First Christian church.

Her various activities include Red Peppers, Future Teachers of America and concert choir.

She is eagerly awaiting graduation in May, and upon graduation she plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College in the summer.

Her favorite pastime is walking her poodle.

Last week's mystery personality was Bobbye Scott.

BECKY WAGNER, moderne chorale accompanist, will play a solo in the Early Division band concert Thursday evening.

Tenkoff, Wiss Will Attend Honor Society Convention

Juniors Lynne Tenkhoff and Gary Wiss were chosen as representatives of the Veritas Chapter at the National Honor Society Convention in St. Louis tomorrow.

Lynne and Gary will attend various discussion groups and listen to talks given by prominent Missourians. Governor Warren E. Hearnes is one of the guest speakers on the agenda.

The program stresses the opportunities that Missouri has to offer young people. In keeping with the theme, Lynne and Gary have made a poster display illustrating the unique qualities of Sikeston and Sikeston high school. This display will be one of many representing Missouri in a national tour.

Plans for the annual Honor Society induction were begun as the date, Friday, March 31, was set.

Carl Wright was chosen to act as the main speaker for the occasion.

Teresa Hamelmann, Vicki Schindler, Charles Stamp, and Steve Spear will present the traditional program with speeches on "leadership, scholarship, service, and character."

Chairman in charge of providing a theme for the induction is senior Jim Hux. Seniors Camille Bowman, Charles Stamp, Melinda Morrison, Peg Rafferty, and Eddie Hodges will head the arrangements, program, decoration, refreshments, and cleanup committees.

Top five per cent of the sophomore class, 10 per cent of the junior class, and 15 per cent of the senior class are admitted, according to scholastic rating, to Honor Society. Invitations will be handed to new members by seniors as soon as grades and ratings are released from the office.

Early Division SHS Band To Present Annual Concert

Three Featured Soloists Will Be Patti McMullin, Diane Taylor, Becky Wagner

Early division Sikeston high school symphonic band, directed by Keith Collins, will present its annual winter concert in the middle school auditorium next Thursday evening at 7:30.

Senior Becky Wagner will be the featured pianist in Mozart's Sonata in C Major, "Concertino."

Becky has been concert pianist of the moderne chorale for the past two years.

Soprano solist Patti McMullin will be accompanied by the band in "Agnus Die" from "L'Arlesienne Suite."

Pat has attended district music contests for three years, and she received number one ratings each time. She has appeared in the Sikeston Little Theatre's musical productions of "Sound of Music" and "The King and I."

Diane Taylor will play the French horn solo in "Rondo" from Mozart's Concerto No. 3 in E Flat.

Diane was one of the members of the All-District band that performed at the Music Educators Association in January.

Other selections to be presented range from classical numbers to popular arrangements.

These include "Concert Overture for Band," "Nutmegger's March," "La Rosita," "Au Pays Lorrain," "Symphonic Overture," "Western March," and "Henry Mancini Medley."

Late division symphonic band, directed by Mr. Collins, will present its concert to the public Friday, March 10.

Juniors Choose '68 Rings; Round With Raised Set

Juniors chose round rings with a red raised set for the '68 class symbol Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen junior representatives, elected in homerooms, made the final decision at a meeting after school.

Truth, honor, knowledge, and a lamp and book of learning are engraved on each side of the rings.

Seniors to be may order sizes of small, medium, or large. Rings may also be purchased at a lower price, which do not have a set.

Ring committee members included Karen Baugus, Carl Barnett, Mary Jane Cope, David Childers, Jasper Grant, Sharon Harber, Jim Klein, Kathie Matthews, Pam Marsh.

Mike Musick, Tony Poole, Susan Parmenter, Judy Rodgers, Ed Felker, Diane Taylor, Laura Tope, Kenny Woodward, and King Sidwell.

Juniors may order their rings from Wright's, Hale's, Voelker's, or Yanson's jewelry stores in Sikeston. Initials will be on the inside and students will have a choice of either two or three initials.

Students must make a $5 deposit when ordering their rings and can pay the balance when the rings arrive next August.

MASTER PLAN

Our 11-year-old Boy Scout returned from an overnight winter camping trip cold, sleepy and reeking of wood smoke. As he filled us in on the details of the outing, he mentioned that, when it started to snow, the scoutmaster retired to a nearby farmhouse, professing trouble with his teeth.

"What was the matter with his teeth?" my wife asked.

"I guess they were chattering," said our son. H. L. Keir

Leaguers Go To Kennett Debate Meet

Twenty-seven members of the Sikeston National Forensic League participated in a debate meet at Kennett Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen students took part in the debates concerning the United States foreign aid policies, and nine students participated in the discussion-impromptu rounds.

Defending the affirmative side were Alan Bryant, Alice Cannon, Lana Dillender, Jim Doggett, Leslie Johnson, James Lashmet, Barbara Nall, Connie Sullivan, Rod Taylor, and Nancy Turner.

Negative debaters attending were Mickey Bass, Martha Bucher, John Hough, Gene Spitzmiller, Denise Sprague, David Stallings, Mike Struwe, and Mary Jane York.

Marlene Boshell, Marty Buchanan, Linda Condict, Doug Crow, Jim Hailey, Claudia Ham, Jan Holloway, Phyllis Jones, and Jack Spears participated in the impromptu-discussion.

Home Economic Classes Present Vocational Help

Home economics classes of Sikeston high school are busy preparing students for their futures.

Before 1870, daughters were trained at home in the domestic skills, but during the 1870's three Middle West land-grants colleges pioneered in offering home economic courses.

Approximately 150 colleges and universities in the United States grant degrees in home economics today.

Home economists employed in many occupations, help improve the health and welfare of individuals, families, and even nations.

Household cleanliness is of vital importance to the house and will always be among the most important vocations of mankind.

Group of domestic service occupations is concerned with the usual functions relative to the maintenance of households and their surroundings -cooking of meals, child care, laundrymen, yardmen, caretakers, cooks, chambermaids, valets, and various others.

This group is just becoming occupations which require class education. Sikeston high school has for the first time a class subsidized by the government to train students in these fields.

Classes Take Tour Of Bank In St. Louis

Future Business Leaders of America and distributive education students made a field trip to St. Louis Wednesday.

A tour of the Federal Reserve Bank highlighted the trip. Main purpose of the trip was to see how the bank is operated.

After touring the bank, the students had lunch and a free hour in the downtown area.

In the afternoon the boys were taken to the Chevrolet Plant while the girls witnessed the Globe-Democrat fashion show in Kiel Auditorium.

Students were accompanied by Jim Cornett, director of vocational education, Norman Woods, coordinator of distributive education, and Mrs. Rovena Hillsman, sponsor of Future Business Leaders.

Mrs. Hillsman and Mike Andrews recently attended a state-planning meeting of the Missouri Future Business Leaders in Herculaneum.

DARLA SCOLES poses before her 442 Oldsmobile.

Darla Scoles' Olds 442 Is Featured Car Of Week

General Motors Corporations gives us this week's featured car from its Oldsmobile division.

The car is Darla Scoles' 1967 442. That is the name given the Cutlass Supreme Coupe in its performance version. Next to Pontiac's GTO and Chevrolet's SS-396, it is probably General Motors hottest intermediate sized car.

The 442 option on Darla's car consists of special trim and distinctive markings, heavy duty springs and shocks, and high performance engine.

The power plant is a 400-cubic inch Rocket V-8 that develops 350 horsepower. This ultra-high compression engine uses preium gasoline through its quadra-jet four-barrel carb.

Darla's performance and driving options are a turbo hydramatic transmission, ultra high voltage ignition system, rocket rally pack which includes tachometer and full instrumentation, roto-matic power steering, pedal ease power brakes, and 14-inch super stock wheels with Firestone wide oval tires.

Convenience and styling options include visor vanity mirror, luggage compartment lamp, glove box lamp, chrome door edge guard moulding, deluxe pushbutton radio with rear speaker, strato bucket seats, sports console, soft ray tinted windshield, four-season air conditioner, deluxe front and rear seat belts, and a vinyl roof top covering.

Adding to her cameo ivory and black top Olds is the long standard equipment list including door-to-door carpeting, foam padded front and rear seat cushions, chrome roof drip mouldings, deluxe steering wheel, ash tray lamp, and deluxe interior equipment.

Darla is a senior, and she received the car as a graduation gift.

Americans Should Make World 'Home Of The Free'

FEBRUARY is a month in which two of America's greatest patriots were born. George Washington took a nation newly-formed and with a resolute hand firmly and greatly gave this nation a good foundation.

Abraham Lincoln also realized the greatness of the United States and dedicated himself to the task of holding the union together.

At this time, America is in a period of dissension caused by the struggle in Vietnam. Americans have lost sight of the true purpose of fighting the war.

The question is: "Can we withdraw without embarrassment?"

Truly the eyes of the world are upon the United States. It is the accepted theory throughout the world that the United States believes that each individual should be free from oppression.

The citizens of the United States, not just the government and the military, should be ready to assist these people who are under a period of tyranny and living within a war-torn country.

It is our duty, the duty to our belief in freedom and our ideas of liberty and justice, to stand stalwartly behind the government and the military.

It is our duty to show the world with words and actions that we will support our ideological words with sword in hand if necessary.

Purpose of this war should not only be to stop the spread of communism and make the world free, but to reveal ourselves as patriots and to prove that United we stand, in the home of the brave and the free!

Made Money

Although it was held in the Depression, the Chicago World's Fair of 1933-34—called "A Century of Progress"—was the only major world's fair to pay all its debts, reimburse all its bondholders in full, plus interest, and have a surplus in cash at its closing, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the mother who was afraid to let her son be a part-time postman because of all the indecent proposals his buddies got from oversexed women. I'm ashamed to admit it but that letter has given me an inferiority complex.

I have been a full - time postman for six years and not one lady has met me at the door in a transparent negligee. To be truthful, I haven't received a single offer, not even for a cup of coffee.

Do I have a problem, Ann Landers? -- IGNORED

Dear Ig: It depends on how much you like coffee.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know who else to ask so I am following the crowd and writing to Ann Landers. I have a shopping cart in my garage and I don't know what to do with it.

Many years ago I had a large family and no car. The stores where I did my marketing allowed me to carry my groceries home in the carts. I always returned them, but for some mysterious reason this one cart remains in our garage.

I now have a car and use it to do my marketing. Every time I go into the garage and see that cart I feel guilty. I can't remember where the cart came from because they all look alike. What should I do?--FEEL LIKE A THIEF

Dear Feel: Return the cart to the market nearest your home and get it off your conscience.

And while we're on this subject, I'd like to make a plea to housewives everywhere. If you gals only knew how many shopping carts disappear from the nation's markets it would twirl your turbans. The cost of these carts must be absorbed by someone, and YOU, Mrs. Consumer, are the one who gets it right square in the pocketbook. So check around, Girls, and get those carts back to the market where they belong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old house cleaner. I do the dinner dishes every night and I also mop, dust and scrub the whole downstairs whenever I get so fed up with the dirt that I can't stand it anymore.

The problem is my 19-year-old sister. Sylvia works five days a week from 7:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. When she comes home, all she does is sit around smoking and reading. She leaves coffee cups and cigarette butts all over the place. Her rooms looks like hogs live in it. My mother doesn't say a word because, "Sylvia works."

I work, too. I go to school and that's no cinch these days. Do you think it is fair that I have to clean up after a 19-year-old sloppy sister? -- IMPOSED ON

Dear Imp: Of course not. But where did you get the idea that life is fair?

"Sylvia works" is just an excuse. I'll bet she was always a slob and you aren't going to change her, so don't try.

Continue to clean the house because YOU want to live like a human being. You are not doing it for her.

Want to say "no" to drinking without your buddies putting you down? Get clued in. Write for "Booze and You -- For Teen - Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Sikeston Bullettes had a veritable tooth and toe - nail fight Friday to emerge a 22-20 victor over the Poplar Bluff Zippers and keep their season's record clean. The Bulldogs fared less well, taking a 27-5 defeat in a hectic battle.

A committee of Sikeston men, working with an enthusiastic group of men from Cairo, spent an hour Friday morning working through the town in the interests of the sale of stock for the Cairo Bridge. In that short time, $3,000 worth of bridge stock was sold and a number of prospects were not even solicited. The bridge was an assured thing by noon on Friday and that evening, the $500,000 allotment of 7 per cent preferred stock was oversubscribed almost $100,000.

The fire department boys are anxious to give prompt service when the fire alarm sounds, but they are more than anxious to be given the exact location of the fire in order not to be directed to the wrong street and block. This has recently happened, then the fire department is blamed for the delay and the greater damage to property.

From The Upper Room

Let us never tire of doing good, for if we do not slacken our efforts we shall in due time reap our harvest. (Galatians 6:9, NEB)

Dear Editor:

A friend gave us a bundle of old newspapers. Among them I found a few back issues of THE DAILY STANDARD. My husband and I thoroughly enjoyed reading your paper. We liked the story WHEN I WAS A BOY. I especially enjoyed the poems.

Perhaps my interest in poetry is the reason why I started to "try - to - write" poems. And after having "put my hand to the plow" I don't care to turn back now.

The enclosed material is for your consideration. As you can see, it has been selected for publication -- but it has not been published.

My poems have appeared in THE PIGGOTT BANNER, DUNKLIN COUNTY PRESS and THE PORTAGEVILLE REVIEW. I have written articles for RURAL ELECTRIC MISSOURIAN, CAPPERS WEEKLY and PORTAGEVILLE REVIEW.

An agent has accepted two of my short stories for the sales market.

If I am fortunate enough to get this material published in your paper, I would appreciate it very much if you mail a copy of it to me.

Thanking you, I am
Most Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Marie Spoor

PORTRAITS OF HER MAJESTY

Her smiling face was aglow . . . Rounded out and fully grown.
He wondered how many changes she had made. . .
Over this same trail through sunlight and shade. . .
Across the path of the milky-way. . . In the space of countless days.
How many people had watched her face. . .
Men and women of every race. Rich and poor. . . Begger and slave. . .
Royalty born, the weak and the brave.
How many men she had seen at war. . .
The blood and tears -- the many scars. . . Of brave soldiers
Who did their part. The golden stars and purple hearts!
How many lovers had watched her smile. . .
On them as they journeyed many a mile. Fortune and fame
They hoped to find. . Home and happiness. -- peace of mind.
How many sailors had wished for her light. . .
On a troubled sea, in a stormy night.
How many farmers had planted grain -- looked to her for a sign of rain.
Small wonder why, somehow-someway. . .

On earth she continues to shed her bright rays. . .

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE

By Jack Strauss LL.B

THE CASE OF THE MODEST LAWYER

After a long and hard fought battle, Lawyer Beagle finally succeeded in breaking a strong will. When he presented his bill, however, he was confronted by an even stronger "won't." His client, Miss Smith, thought it was too high and absolutely refused to pay it. The result. Beagle sued Miss Smith for his fee.

"He rescued the estate from my enemies...for himself," the irate Miss Smith complained to the judge. "Normally, he doesn't charge such fancy fees. His office is modest and so are his prices. In fact, I'm sure this is the highest fee he's ever charged. Therefore, it should be cut down to what he normally gets."

"What I've charged before," retorted Beagle, "has nothing to do with this case. What's more, because I don't throw away money on plush offices doesn't reflect upon my ability."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you cut down Beagle's fee so that it would be in keeping with his modest circumstances.

This is how the Judge ruled: No! The Judge held that whether or not a lawyer has offices in a high-rent building, uses electric typewriters, orders fresh flowers daily or serves cocktails or tea in the afternoon depends mainly upon the individual attorney and more often on the nature of his clients. These factors, however, are not relevant to the issue of whether or not an attorney, in a certain case, warrants the payment of a large fee. Some of the best lawyers noted the Judge, do not collect big fees. An attorney's standing and experience should be the test of his worth and not his pocketbook.

TODAY'S LEGAL POINTER:

In the absence of a provision to the contrary, a person who obtains a mortgage has no right to pay it off before the required time. Otherwise, a borrower could convert a 10-year mortgage into a 60 day loan. If you want the right to be able to prepay your mortgage, have a provision put into the mortgage to that effect.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the mother who was afraid to let her son be a part-time postman because of all the indecent proposals his buddies got from oversexed women. I'm ashamed to admit it but that letter has given me an inferiority complex.

I have been a full - time postman for six years and not one lady has met me at the door in a transparent negligee. To be truthful, I haven't received a single offer, not even for a cup of coffee.

Do I have a problem, Ann Landers? -- IGNORED

Dear Ig: It depends on how much you like coffee.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know who else to ask so I am following the crowd and writing to Ann Landers. I have a shopping cart in my garage and I don't know what to do with it.

Many years ago I had a large family and no car. The stores where I did my marketing allowed me to carry my groceries home in the carts. I always returned them, but for some mysterious reason this one cart remains in our garage.

I now have a car and use it to do my marketing. Every time I go into the garage and see that cart I feel guilty. I can't remember where the cart came from because they all look alike. What should I do?--FEEL LIKE A THIEF

Dear Feel: Return the cart to the market nearest your home and get it off your conscience.

And while we're on this subject, I'd like to make a plea to housewives everywhere. If you gals only knew how many shopping carts disappear from the nation's markets it would twirl your turbans. The cost of these carts must be absorbed by someone, and YOU, Mrs. Consumer, are the one who gets it right square in the pocketbook. So check around, Girls, and get those carts back to the market where they belong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old house cleaner. I do the dinner dishes every night and I also mop, dust and scrub the whole downstairs whenever I get so fed up with the dirt that I can't stand it anymore.

The problem is my 19-year-old sister. Sylvia works five days a week from 7:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. When she comes home, all she does is sit around smoking and reading. She leaves coffee cups and cigarette butts all over the place. Her rooms looks like hogs live in it. My mother doesn't say a word because, "Sylvia works."

I work, too. I go to school and that's no cinch these days. Do you think it is fair that I have to clean up after a 19-year-old sloppy sister? -- IMPOSED ON

Dear Imp: Of course not. But where did you get the idea that life is fair?

"Sylvia works" is just an excuse. I'll bet she was always a slob and you aren't going to change her, so don't try.

Continue to clean the house because YOU want to live like a human being. You are not doing it for her.

Want to say "no" to drinking without your buddies putting you down? Get clued in. Write for "Booze and You -- For Teen - Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

The bridge was an assured thing by noon on Friday and that evening, the $500,000 allotment of 7 per cent preferred stock was oversubscribed almost $100,000.

Lanchow Radio in a Chinese-language boardcast Feb. 6. The text of the broadcast has just become available in Tokyo.

Kansu is the fifth of China's 21 provinces and five autonomous regions claimed by the forces of Mao, 73, the Communist party chairman, in his fight to purge the government and Communist party organizations which President Liu Shao- and party general secretary Teng Hsiaoping apparently have dominated since Lieu replaced as president in 1958.

Other provinces claimed by the Maoists have been Shantung, Heilungkiang, Kweichow and Shansi. A Chinese-language broadcast by Peking Radio early today said Fukien - opposite Formosa -- also had been captured, but a latter English version indicated that the entire province had not fallen.

The portion of Manchuria reported seized by anti-Maoists was its southern tip, Wa Fang Tien, the former Kwantung Peninsula where the cities of Dairen and Port Arthur are located. Japanese correspondents quoted wall posters as saying the situation in those two cities is tense following the death of three Red Guards, injuries to many others and the arrest of 400 others.

Mao's enemies were reported to have taken the peninsula with the aid of an unnamed army unit.

Knowing and Using Proper Form Can Mean Savings

EDITOR'S NOTE -- There are more ways than one for husbands and wives to fill out their annual income tax return. This article, third of five, discusses this and other tax information.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) - This deals with the 1966 income tax returns of three groups.

1. Husbands and wives.

2. Single persons who get a lower tax-rate if they can qualify as "head of household."

3. Certain widows and widowers who are permitted to use the lowest tax rate if they can qualify as "surviving spouse."

Almost always a husband and wife save by filing a joint return — which means both must sign it — whether or not the wife had income. With a joint return they, too, like the "surviving spouse," get the lowest tax rate.

If a husband files separately, because his wife failed to sign jointly with him, he can claim the usual $600 exemption for himself and another $600 exemption for her —provided she has no income and is not filing separately — but the tax is usually higher than if they had filed jointly.

If you were under 65 in 1966 and file a return you get a $600 exemption for yourself - $1,200 if you were 65 or older in 1966 — and an additional $600 if you were blind.

The same rules apply to a wife if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income; or, if she had none, fails to file jointly. A wife is not considered a dependent for income tax purposes. So the rules on wives and dependents are not the same.

If you were married or divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1966, you are considered, for income tax purposes, to have been married or divorced for all of 1966. Even though you paid more than half her support, you get no exemption for a wife divorced in 1966.

If your wife had any income in 1966, no matter how small, you can not claim an exemption for her on your return unless she files jointly with you, reporting her income.

She would have to file a return, of course, either jointly with you or separately if her income was $600 or more. If she filed separately, she would claim her own $600 exemption on her return. You, in that case, could claim only your own $600 exemption on your return and none for her.

Look where failing to file jointly can lead:

Say a wife had $50 income in 1966. Since it was less than $600 she does not have to file a return at all. But, unless she files jointly with her husband, reporting the $50, he can claim no $600 exemption for her. The couple is a loser on that one.

Married couples filing separate returns should remember: If one itemizes deductions, both must; if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; if one uses the minimum standard deduction, both must. These standard deductions were explained in No. 2 of this series.

The tax rate on single persons and married couples filing separately is the highest. But a single person who can qualify as "head of household" gets a lower tax by being allowed to use table B or schedule No. 3.

To qualify as head of household you must be unmarried and furnish over half of the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative.

Whether that relative must also qualify as your dependent or must actually live in your household depends on the relationship.

Your father or mother must qualify as your dependent and live in a home you maintain for him or her, although not necessarily in your home.

If you are paying for them in a home for the aged you can not claim you maintained a home for either of them.

Your unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild would not have to be your dependent but your household must have been the principal residence for you and that child or children in order for you to claim the tax status of head of household.

And, for you to make the claim for any other relative living in your house, that relative must qualify as your dependent.

Further, to qualify as head of household, you must have been unmarried or legally separated on the last day of 1966 although you could still qualify if, by year's end, you had married someone who was a nonresident alien some time during 1966.

If you file a return as head of household you must use form 1040.

Widows and widowers qualifying as "surviving spouse":

If you can qualify, you will be allowed to use tax table B or schedule No. 2, which is what married couples filing jointly use, and thus get the lowest tax rate.

To qualify you must have been entitled to file a joint return with your husband or wife in the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of running your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions, and your spouse died in 1964 or 1965, you can use the joint return rates reporting whatever income you had, take a $600 exemption for yourself, along with $600 for each of your dependents, but not for your deceased spouse, and use table B or schedule No. 2 in making your return.

This arrangement works two years forward.

For instance, suppose your wife died in 1964. Assume you filed a joint return that year, taking the proper exemptions, including your wife's, and getting the tax benefit that goes with a joint return.

In 1965 you could have filed a return -- not joint and not claiming a $600 exemption for the husband or wife who died the year before -- and still have been able to use table B or schedule No. 2.

You could do the same in 1966 if your wife or husband died in 1965 or 1964. And, if he or she died in 1965, you'd be able to do the same again on your 1967 return, provided you still met the qualifications for surviving spouse.

Which means: If your wife or husband died in 1966 —the procedure in that case was given above — you'd still be able to use table B or schedule No. 2 in 1967, without making the return joint or claiming an exemption for the dead person, provided you still met the qualification for surviving spouse.

Then, after 1968, you may be able to qualify as head of household. If so, then you'll still get the tax break that goes with that classification which will be better than that for the ordinary single person but not as large as for a surviving spouse.

Anyone filing a return as a surviving spouse must use form 1040.

Next: exemption.

Regents Table Tuition Question

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - Regents of the University of California have decided to continue free tuition at least until the summer of 1968, despite Gov. Ronald Reagan's call for tuition charges.

The regents, meeting Thursday, also approved a university budget higher than that proposed by Reagan, but less than the university had said it needs.

Action on the explosive question of charging tuition for the first time in the university's history was postponed until April. One board member said that administratively it is too late now to impose tuition for the 1967-68 academic year.

The board voted Thursday to seek $264 million from the California Legislature, $14 million less than they first asked and $26 million more than Reagan wants the university to spend.

At the same time, however, they told the university administration to recruit faculty and enroll students on the assumption of getting only $255 million.

Reagan declared the state can't afford the $264 million figure. Of the $255 million he said: "I don't want anyone voting on the basis that the picture is that bright."

Howardville Votes To Become City

HOWARDVILLE -- In an election Saturday residents approved an issue to make Howardville a fourth class city, 160-2.

Before the election the community was a village, managed by five trustees, one of whom was chairman of the board. As a city it will have a mayor-council form of government.

The newest city in Missouri has a population of 502.

Lanchow Radio in a Chinese-language boardcast Feb. 6. The text of the broadcast has just become available in Tokyo.

Kansu is the fifth of China's 21 provinces and five autonomous regions claimed by the forces of Mao, 73, the Communist party chairman, in his fight to purge the government and Communist party organizations which President Liu Shao- and party general secretary Teng Hsiaoping apparently have dominated since Lieu replaced as president in 1958.

Other provinces claimed by the Maoists have been Shantung, Heilungkiang, Kweichow and Shansi. A Chinese-language broadcast by Peking Radio early today said Fukien - opposite Formosa -- also had been captured, but a latter English version indicated that the entire province had not fallen.

The portion of Manchuria reported seized by anti-Maoists was its southern tip, Wa Fang Tien, the former Kwantung Peninsula where the cities of Dairen and Port Arthur are located. Japanese correspondents quoted wall posters as saying the situation in those two cities is tense following the death of three Red Guards, injuries to many others and the arrest of 400 others.

Mao's enemies were reported to have taken the peninsula with the aid of an unnamed army unit.

Knowing and Using Proper Form Can Mean Savings

EDITOR'S NOTE -- There are more ways than one for husbands and wives to fill out their annual income tax return. This article, third of five, discusses this and other tax information.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) - This deals with the 1966 income tax returns of three groups.

1. Husbands and wives.

2. Single persons who get a lower tax-rate if they can qualify as "head of household."

3. Certain widows and widowers who are permitted to use the lowest tax rate if they can qualify as "surviving spouse."

Almost always a husband and wife save by filing a joint return — which means both must sign it — whether or not the wife had income. With a joint return they, too, like the "surviving spouse," get the lowest tax rate.

If a husband files separately, because his wife failed to sign jointly with him, he can claim the usual $600 exemption for himself and another $600 exemption for her —provided she has no income and is not filing separately — but the tax is usually higher than if they had filed jointly.

If you were under 65 in 1966 and file a return you get a $600 exemption for yourself - $1,200 if you were 65 or older in 1966 — and an additional $600 if you were blind.

The same rules apply to a wife if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income; or, if she had none, fails to file jointly. A wife is not considered a dependent for income tax purposes. So the rules on wives and dependents are not the same.

If you were married or divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1966, you are considered, for income tax purposes, to have been married or divorced for all of 1966. Even though you paid more than half her support, you get no exemption for a wife divorced in 1966.

If your wife had any income in 1966, no matter how small, you can not claim an exemption for her on your return unless she files jointly with you, reporting her income.

She would have to file a return, of course, either jointly with you or separately if her income was $600 or more. If she filed separately, she would claim her own $600 exemption on her return. You, in that case, could claim only your own $600 exemption on your return and none for her.

Look where failing to file jointly can lead:

Say a wife had $50 income in 1966. Since it was less than $600 she does not have to file a return at all. But, unless she files jointly with her husband, reporting the $50, he can claim no $600 exemption for her. The couple is a loser on that one.

Married couples filing separate returns should remember: If one itemizes deductions, both must; if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; if one uses the minimum standard deduction, both must. These standard deductions were explained in No. 2 of this series.

The tax rate on single persons and married couples filing separately is the highest. But a single person who can qualify as "head of household" gets a lower tax by being allowed to use table B or schedule No. 3.

To qualify as head of household you must be unmarried and furnish over half of the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative.

Whether that relative must also qualify as your dependent or must actually live in your household depends on the relationship.

Your father or mother must qualify as your dependent and live in a home you maintain for him or her, although not necessarily in your home.

If you are paying for them in a home for the aged you can not claim you maintained a home for either of them.

Your unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild would not have to be your dependent but your household must have been the principal residence for you and that child or children in order for you to claim the tax status of head of household.

And, for you to make the claim for any other relative living in your house, that relative must qualify as your dependent.

Further, to qualify as head of household, you must have been unmarried or legally separated on the last day of 1966 although you could still qualify if, by year's end, you had married someone who was a nonresident alien some time during 1966.

If you file a return as head of household you must use form 1040.

Widows and widowers qualifying as "surviving spouse":

If you can qualify, you will be allowed to use tax table B or schedule No. 2, which is what married couples filing jointly use, and thus get the lowest tax rate.

To qualify you must have been entitled to file a joint return with your husband or wife in the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of running your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions, and your spouse died in 1964 or 1965, you can use the joint return rates reporting whatever income you had, take a $600 exemption for yourself, along with $600 for each of your dependents, but not for your deceased spouse, and use table B or schedule No. 2 in making your return.

This arrangement works two years forward.

For instance, suppose your wife died in 1964. Assume you filed a joint return that year, taking the proper exemptions, including your wife's, and getting the tax benefit that goes with a joint return.

In 1965 you could have filed a return -- not joint and not claiming a $600 exemption for the husband or wife who died the year before -- and still have been able to use table B or schedule No. 2.

You could do the same in 1966 if your wife or husband died in 1965 or 1964. And, if he or she died in 1965, you'd be able to do the same again on your 1967 return, provided you still met the qualifications for surviving spouse.

Which means: If your wife or husband died in 1966 —the procedure in that case was given above — you'd still be able to use table B or schedule No. 2 in 1967, without making the return joint or claiming an exemption for the dead person, provided you still met the qualification for surviving spouse.

Then, after 1968, you may be able to qualify as head of household. If so, then you'll still get the tax break that goes with that classification which will be better than that for the ordinary single person but not as large as for a surviving spouse.

Anyone filing a return as a surviving spouse must use form 1040.

Next: exemption.

Regents Table Tuition Question

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - Regents of the University of California have decided to continue free tuition at least until the summer of 1968, despite Gov. Ronald Reagan's call for tuition charges.

The regents, meeting Thursday, also approved a university budget higher than that proposed by Reagan, but less than the university had said it needs.

Action on the explosive question of charging tuition for the first time in the university's history was postponed until April. One board member said that administratively it is too late now to impose tuition for the 1967-68 academic year.

The board voted Thursday to seek $264 million from the California Legislature, $14 million less than they first asked and $26 million more than Reagan wants the university to spend.

At the same time, however, they told the university administration to recruit faculty and enroll students on the assumption of getting only $255 million.

Reagan declared the state can't afford the $264 million figure. Of the $255 million he said: "I don't want anyone voting on the basis that the picture is that bright."

Howardville Votes To Become City

HOWARDVILLE -- In an election Saturday residents approved an issue to make Howardville a fourth class city, 160-2.

Before the election the community was a village, managed by five trustees, one of whom was chairman of the board. As a city it will have a mayor-council form of government.

The newest city in Missouri has a population of 502.

Clashes Kill 100 In Tibet

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Bloody armed clashes were reported in Tibet between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung, in which more than 100 persons were killed, Japanese reports from Peking said today.

Reports quoting Red Guard wall posters in Peking said armed clashes were reported in the Nachu, Heimokungchia, Chamdo and Lhasa districts of Tibet.

Reports from Darjeeling, India, quoted Radio Lhasa as saying three Chinese Communist army divisions, including one from Peking, were dispatched to Tibet to crush the anti-Mao forces.

Tibetan refugee sources in Darjeeling generally agreed with earlier Nationalist Chinese reports from Taipei and Japanese reports from Peking that there was widespread opposition to Mao's purge movement in Tibet.

Known as the "Roof of the World," Tibet has been under Chinese Communist rule since 1951.

Other reports said Mao's forces claimed the capture of Kansu Province in the northwest, and to have thrown back counterattacks in Fukien Province facing Formosa. But anti-Mao troops were said to have helped seize Manchuria's southern peninsula.

There also were indications that all is not well in Red China's big fishery fleet and that local successes may have cooled the revolutionary ardor of some Maoists.

The seizure of Kansu -- which borders on Outer Mongolia and Sinkiang -- was announced by

In recent testimony before a state Senate committee several county, city and University of Missouri officials testified that Columbia does not have a significant LSD problem.

Passage of a law by the state Legislature regulating manufacture, possession, sale and use of the drug was recommended by the grand jury.

Winter Storm Spreads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bitter cold weather chilled the northern tier of states from Montana to northern New England Friday and heavy snow lashed the central Atlantic Coast.

The mercury plunged to 34 below zero in International Falls, Minn., and 33 below in Roseau, Minn. The snowstorm doused an area from the Ozarks to the beaches of New Jersey.

The snow that left a covering of up to 10 inches in the neighborhood of the Missouri-Arkansas line moved through the Tennessee valley to the central Atlantic Coast. Atlantic City, N.J., recorded three inches of snow by daybreak and the forecast called for more than eight inches over most of southern New Jersey during the day.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for parts of a six-state area from eastern Kentucky to New Jersey.

The storm closed public schools in Fairfax County, Va.; Prince Georges Country, Md., and Roan County, W. Va. Temperatures ranged in the 20s.

After a warm, sunny day in Baltimore Wednesday, a windstorm blew in from the west Thursday, and gusts ranged from 75 to 100 miles an hour unofficially. Maryland residents awoke Friday to a snow covering of three to six inches.

The Weather Bureau in Shreveport, La., issued a hazardous-driving warning for extreme northeastern Texas, with bridges glazed from sleet and freezing rain.

Gale-force winds ripped through eastern areas Thursday, and property damage was extensive.

Thursday's storm left the most snow in Missouri with up to 10 inches, 9 inches in Southern Illinois and 7 inches in Arkansas and Oklahoma. Six inches of snow fell in Kentucky and 3 inches in West Virginia.

Two days of 50 - plus temperatures cleared the Washington area of remnants from the 12-inch snowfall of Feb. 6 but 3 to 5 inches of snow were indicated today. The mercury dropped 30 degrees in 20 hours, from 63 Thursday to 33 early today and lower marks were indicated.

Death-Free Traffic Streak Comes to End

GRANT CITY, (AP) Worth County in northwest Missouri Thursday night recorded its first traffic fatality since 1965. The victim was Volley Daniels, 65, a pedestrian who was crossing a highway.

The Highway Patrol said Daniels, of Allendale, Mo., was walking across U.S. 169 north of Grant City when struck by a car driven by Fay Lester Maylan, 60, of Worth, Mo. Officers said Maylan was not charged.

Worth County was the only Missouri county without a traffic fatality last year.

BEFORE the big snow fell, the Sikeston area experienced a cold, calm day Thursday morning. Wednesday there was variety in the weather - warm temperatures, high winds, ranging from 40 to 55 miles per hour, and dust. This car enters a dust cloud with 20-feet visibility a quarter of a mile north of the highway 61-80 intersection at Matthews.

Students Happy as Schools Take Break

Snow! It's wonderful!

Most Southeast Missouri school children got an unexpected holiday today because of snow-packed highways.

It was the biggest snow of the winter. Accumulations ranged from five to nine inches in the Bootheel.

A Christmas season cover measured about four inches in Sikeston during a two-day fall. This was the only other snow during the winter sufficient to cover the ground.

Nine inches of snow were reported today at Cape Girardeau, six inches at Kennett, four at Poplar Bluff, seven inches at Benton and five and three-fourths inches in Sikeston.

The snow started falling in Sikeston at 2 p.m. yesterday and continued until 9 p.m. The fall began an hour after it struck Malden and Poplar Bluff.

Cloudy, cool weather are promised in the region through Saturday. There is a chance of more precipitation -- a period or two of light snow, possibly mixed with freezing rain, through Saturday.

Low readings tonight will be in the 20s, highs Saturday in the 30s. Sunday will be partly cloudy and cool. The five-day outlook is for below normal temperatures.

Only Richland area schools had classes today.

Schools that closed were Sikeston public, Scott Central, Morehouse, Matthews, Bernie, Parma, Kelley, Charleston, East Prairie, Scott City, Gideon, Bertrand, Malden, Poplar Bluff, Fisk and Risco.

Four injuries were reported in three accidents on highways in the Sikeston area since the snowfall began at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Police reported two accidents in the city limits with no injuries reported.

The Missouri Delta Community Hospital treated one woman who suffered injuries from a fall on a slippery walk.

Road conditions as reported by the Missouri Highway patrol are hazardous in the area. Highway 60 across Missouri is snow covered. Route 61 from Perryville to the Arkansas line also is snow packed.

Roads and bridges are reported snow and ice covered between Sikeston and Memphis. Route 67 from Fredericktown to Little Rock, Ark., is snow covered.

The district 10 office of the Missouri highway department reported today that for the most part traffic flow was slowed but not stopped by the snow.

All available snow plows and cinder trucks have been working since the snow began and will continue, W. Dale Carney, district engineer said.

Only one traffic tie-up occurred Thursday. A tractor trailer truck overturned near Jackson on highway 61 at 3 p.m. Thursday and slowed traffic to a single lane flow for a 12-hour period. The truck was moved by a wrecker at about 3 a.m. today.

Removal of snow from city streets has not started. City Manager W. Raymert Miller said the street department workers will begin removal in the downtown section at 6 p.m. today.

"The normal procedure is to wait until the snow stops, before removing it," Miller said.

Miller said he hopes the merchants will have shoveled the sidewalks and no one parks in the downtown area after 6 p.m. when the snow removal will start.

Southern Missouri was buried under the heavy layer of snow left by the storm. Pomona, near West Plains, reported 10 inches. Traffic was snarled in Cape Girardeau.

All highways in the southern part of the state were snow covered.

One man died while shoveling snow in Springfield. He was William Cooper, 50, who apparently suffered a heart attack.

Other snow fall reports included: Marble Hill, west of Cape Girardeau, 7 inches; West Plains, 6, Table Rock Dam 5, and Farmington 2.

The forecast is for a little warmer weather, but there is a chance of light snow in the extreme south. Some freezing rain may accompany the snow in the south.

Coldes spot in the state this morning was Maryville with zero. Warmest places were Kansas City and Cape Girardeau with lows of 20. Sikeston had 19.

Caruthersville Teachers Will Get Pay Boost

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The board of education has approved a $500 a year increase for teachers for the 1967-68 school year. The increase brings the minimum salary from $4,500 to $5,000 and the maximum from $5,450 to $6,000.

The board also revised the salary schedule to improve the increments for experience. It is estimated that these increases in salaries will require about $65,000 additional money to finance.

The board adopted a resolution to present to voters at the annual school election April 4 a tax rate increase of 50 cents on the $100 assessed valuation.

The present tax levy is $3.70.

Movie-TV Comic Dies

ENCINO, Calif. (AP) - Smiley Burnett, 55, for years the comic sidekick of Western Star Gene Autry, died Thursday night at West Valley Hospital.

Associates said he had been suffering with leukemia. He was admitted to the hospital Feb. 8.

In recent years Burnett had been featured on the "Petticoat Junction" television series as Charlie Pratt, a railroad engineer.

During the 1930s and 1940s Burnett appeared in 81 Western movies with Autry. He wore ill-fitting trousers and a battered hat turned up at the brim. Usually Burnett would unwittingly impede Autry's pursuit of the bad guys until right finally prevailed.

During the 1940s Burnett was one of the 10 top money making Western actors. He also appeared as a slap-happy pal of Roy Rogers and other Western stars.

Battle Brewing Over Foreign Aid Limits

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson contends America's cause abroad would be damaged by sticking to Senate-voted limits on the number of countries which can get U.S. aid this year.

A Johnson letter to this effect has gone to Sen. J. W. Fulbright D-Ark., a critic of the administration's handling of the global foreign assistance program. It replied to a protest from Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

The Johnson-Fulbright exchange marks a preliminary skirmish in what could be a stiff battle over foreign aid in the new Congress. The President wants $3.1 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The principal issue again probably will be money - Congress chopped out $450 million last year - but administration strategists also expect more congressional moves to tie restrictions into the program.

The principal issue again probably will be money - Congress chopped out $450 million last year - but administration strategists also expect more congressional moves to tie restrictions into the program.

Currently at stake is a comparatively paltry $19 million. Yet, according to the administration, the Senate yardstick on this would wipe out U.S. economic help to most of the newly emerging countries of Africa.

The argument came up this way: Fulbright's committee last year voted to limit to 10 the number of countries which can get U.S. economic development loans, and to 40 of those which may receive technical assistance.

The House favored more flexibility. In the resulting compromise legislation, the president was allowed to make exception to these ceilings if he found such to be in the national interest.

Johnson served notice last month that development loans would go to 29 countries, 19 above the Senate limit, and technical assistance to 38, eight above its ceiling. Fulbright wrote Johnson, "I deplore your action."

The presidential reply has not yet been made public, but administration sources Thursday outlined the essence of the reply.

The development loan and technical assistance programs for this year were already underway when Congress wrote in the limits. Of the 48 receiving technical assistance, 35 are African countries. Of the 29 getting development loans, 19 are African.

The African programs would be eliminated first in any numerical cutback, because theirs are the smallest. The eight smallest technical aid programs add up to about $2 million and the 19 smallest development loans to $1 million.

The administration plans to phase out direct aid to many African countries once multination programs can go into effect there.

This is what Fulbright advocates.

But to knock out the direct U.S. aid in midstream now, in Johnson's view, would be wasteful and highly damaging to the U.S. position in Africa.

Boy Scout Show Previewed

Unit leaders and den mothers of the Okeechobee district received tickets and information about the district Boy Scout exposition at 2 p.m. March 18 at the Armory at a Scout roundtable last night at the First Christian church.

Don Agnew, Exposition Chairman, gave a preview of the show and said that if plans materialize this will be the biggest Scout show ever held in this area.

Agnew pointed out items on a scale model of the Armory floor built by Richard Fussell. Fussell's will be physical arrangements and program chairman. Each Scout unit in the district will have an 8 inch by 8 inch booth. The units show demonstrates or teach an aspect of Scouting.

Don Agnew, Ockeechobee district exposition chairman, explains the awards, which can be earned by participating scout units at the March 18 show at the armory.

The show will also have a Pine Wood derby race and Rocket derby race for Cub Scouts and swimming demonstrations by Boy Scouts and Explorers. Units will have skits and demonstrations on Stage.

Plans are in the making to have a 30 - minute pageant involving more than 100 Scouts.

The pageant will start at 7 p.m.

Indications are that approximately 1,000 Scouts from the district in Scott, New Madrid and Mississippi counties will participate.

Tickets will be sold by Boy Scouts.

If a Scout sells 10 tickets he will receive a neckerchief slide, for 20 tickets a neckerchief slide and four Scout Bucks, redeemable for Scout merchandise; 30 tickets, six Scout Bucks, 40, eight Bucks, 50 tickets, 10 Scout Bucks.

The District will have top ticket salesmen awards. The Boy Scout and the Cub Scout selling the most tickets in the district will receive free bicycles. The top Explorer salesman will receive a $25 savings bond. Any boy qualifying for top salesman awards must sell more than 50 tickets.

The Scout units will retain 30 per cent of the ticket proceeds that members sell. Any profit realized from the show will go for development at Camp Lewallen at Silva. Camp Lewallen is the summer camp of the Southeast Missouri Council of the Boy Scouts.

MATTHEWS -- The North New Madrid county neighborhood service center had its second weekly meeting Tuesday for senior citizen women from Matthews, Morehouse and Canalou.

The women are now making a quilt that was donated to the center. When the quilt is finished, it will be given to a needy family in the community.

Plans were made for future meetings. The next meeting will be Feb. 21. The women will be restoring and mending some of the used clothing that has been donated to the center. Children's clothing, which is the greatest need of low - income families in the area, will be mended.

The women will also be doing hand craft work. All women are volunteers. The sessions, which are held on Tuesdays from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., are open to all senior citizen women in the three communities.

Four Hurt in Accident During Snow Storm

Snow covered roads accounted for three traffic accidents during yesterday's storm, injuring four persons, the highway patrol reported.

Snow and ice covered roads ranged as far south as Memphis and Little Rock, to St. Louis and into Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Two aged people were taken to the Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff, one in critical condition, when their car was struck by a truck, sending the car into a ditch.

The crash occurred at 3:15 p.m. Thursday one - half mile south of Puxico on Highway 51, when a 1963 Chevrolet dump truck, driven by Alfred Findley, 38, Puxico, and a 1950 Chevrolet, driven by Charlie Phillips, 70, Rombauer, collided in a snow covered highway.

Phillips, and a passenger, Liza Phorsland, 70, also of Rombauer, were taken to the hospital. The woman's condition was critical.

In a single vehicle accident, at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, three miles east of Sikeston on Interstate 57, a 1960 International tractor trailer driven by William Shoulders, 40, Gray Ridge, was braked, slid off the road and into the median.

The driver received head cuts and was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

On Route H, one and one-half miles east of Matthews Thursday at 2:45 p.m. a two - car collision resulted in injury to a three - year - old David Yant, route two, Sikeston, who was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital with a leg injury.

A 1960 Ford, driven by Mary Yant, route two, Sikeston, slid into a 1967 Chrysler, driven by Mildred Andrews, 37, Matthews, during a snow storm. The child was a passenger in the Ford.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

HOW MANY FUTURE FARMERS?

Future Farmers of America Week, which begins Saturday, Feb. 18, seems a little anachronistic. The fact is that there will be even fewer farmers in the future than there are now. In a special survey of American agriculture a decade hence, the editors of Farm Journal assert that "The farm population, now 6 per cent of the nation's people, may be only 3 per cent in 1976."

On the other hand, persons who choose to stay on the farm can look forward to a prosperous future. Farm size, income and productivity have all been rising. Ten years from now, according to the Farm Journal survey, "Farming will remain the nation's biggest business; the country's biggest buyer and supplier; furnishing the most vital products that the nation needs; with more private ownership than in any other place in the economy." Moreover, "Farmers will be the largest group of private management entrepreneurs in a sea of amorphous job holders.

Farming long ago ceased to be exclusively family operated. The big, money-making farms have all the characteristics of industrial production; large outlays for machinery, fertilizer, herbicides and pesticides, as well as for land, are required for profitable operation. Robert B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, has estimated that the capital investment needed to make a farm pay its way in 1980 will range between $100,000 and $250,000. Small wonder that agriculture is often referred to nowadays as "agribusiness."

Bang! The back door slams and your grade-schooler - who looks and walks like a midget astronaut who forgot his helmet - is off to the garage to drag out his sled and join the neighbor's kids for a sliding session.

Bang! (The back door again, in about an hour or so.) And you find your youngster on the kitchen floor tugging off his boots. His nose and ears, toes and fingers are nearly white with cold. As he stomps his feet to beat out the numbness and stinging, you begin to rub his hands vigorously between yours to revive circulation.

Whether you realize it or not, your child probably has frostbite - and you both are doing the wrong thing, cautions Sara Miles of the National Safety Council's home department.

"When the initual signs of frostbite - stinging pain and numbness - or the later, painless symptoms of chalk-white or yellowish gray skin color occur, never jump up and down or massage or pinch the affected area. By doing so, you might further damage partially frozen or frozen tissues," Miss Miles says.

Well then, what should be done - the old-fashioned remedy of cold eater, ice or snow?

"Absolutely not," Miss Miles says. "This could severely increase tissue damage. Modern treatment calls for rapid re-warming. A warm, not hot, bath is best, or placing hands or feet in a pan of warm water. If the face is involved, hot, wet towels can help, if changed frequently and applied gently. Drinking hot chocolate or other liquid is a good idea, too, because it helps raise body temperature."

More severe cases that may involve skin or blood blisters, gangrene and complete freezing of the limb or digit should, of course, receive prompt and skilled medical attention.

Young children who play in unsheltered areas are most often the victims of frostbite because they ignore the warning numbness and don't know what loss of skin color means. Frostbite, however, can and does occur among others (hunters and skiers included) who work, play or walk in open areas where temperature is below freezing and winds are 10 miles an hour or higher.

For example, one case of severe frostbite occurred when a University coed, wearing a skirt, sweater and jacket, took a short walk across the campus. A three-inch band of skin around her waist was frozen solid within minutes. Because she delayed in obtaining proper treatment, she lost a large amount of skin.

"Another major contributor to frostbite that many people are not aware of is clothing that fits too tightly and restricts circulation - particularly gloves or boots," Miss Miles points out.

Since most cases of frostbite can be avoided, she urges parents to be sure that children are adequately dressed before sending them out to play. A hood or cap that covers as much of the head as possible, a scarf around the neck and chin, woolen socks and properly fitting boots are advisable, as well as heavy mittens over gloves.

In addition, applying a greasy ointment or lotion on the face, hands and feet may also help prevent frostbite.

Heart Fund dollars have made possible more than 10,000 scientific treatises, each containing previously unknown information about the heart and its circulatory system.

A bill has been introduced in the Missouri house to rewrite the state laws governing public libraries.

The most important provision authorizes the formation of multi-county libraries. A broader tax base also is provided.

There is an obvious need in rural Missouri for modern libraries serving larger areas. A community library fills a long obvious need but some counties are so thinly populated that they cannot offer the facilities of a well equipped library.

Several counties joining together to furnish library service makes sense in much the same way that a consolidated school provides better educational service at lower cost than a half one-room schools.

Distance isn't the factor it was in Missouri's pioneer days yet the state's library law as it is written reflects this frontier geographic heritage. It is a relic of horse and buggy days.

Better libraries mean better educated Missourians of all ages. It is in the self interest of all Missourians to support library progress. The House bill has been endorsed by the Missouri Library Association. A public meeting to explain its provisions has been held in Sikeston.

The bill does not threaten the existence of any public libraries, even the smallest and most deficient libraries in the smallest villages and towns in Missouri.

Sikeston's library would remain intact.

The only way that Sikeston's library could be affected by the bill would be merger or consolidation into another district. This could be accomplished only by a vote of the people in the proposed enlarged district or by decision of library boards. It is unlikely that the Sikeston library would be swallowed up in an enlarged district or become extinct.

The bill does attempt to raise the standards of libraries by giving the state librarian and state library commission more authority.

State aid would be given only to public libraries which meet certain standards. While this would not affect the Sikeston library smaller communities would be encouraged to join larger library districts in order to receive state financial assistance.

If they did not wish to do this they could continue to keep their own library doors open by paying all the costs for its operation.

The bill obviously is designed to make it easier for Missouri libraries to obtain federal aid.

The stronger role of the state in public libraries is a point of resistance for some who oppose the bill.

The state's concern appears to be needed, desirable and proper.

If Missourians aren't encouraged to provide better library service and given the tools with which to accomplish it, the federal government will fill the vacuum as it has done with the poverty program, medicare, housing and scores of other programs. Local control then will be lost.

The prospect of a system of federal libraries across the nation should send shudders across the spines of every citizen who places any value on freedom of information.

Because of this possibility, state assistance should be welcomed and encouraged.

Missourians are proud of their libraries but they could be better.

The bill introduced in the house provides an opportunity to make them better.

It should be passed and signed into law.

Mr. & Mrs. Goldberg had scrimped and saved to put their eldest son through college. At last, they had the money and decided to send him to a fine High-brow Eastern boarding school. They saw him off on the train, and tearfully bade him farewell.

A few months later, he returned home for the Christmas Holidays. The parents were overjoyed to have their son Sammy back with them. The mother greeted him with: "Samela, oh it's so good to see you."

"Mother," he replied, "stop calling me Samela, after all, I'm a grown man now, and I do wish you would refer to me as Samuel." She aplogized and asked, "I hope you ate only Kosher foods while you were away?" "Mother, we're living in a modern age, and it's preposterous to hang on to old world traditions. I indulged in all types of food, Kosher and non-Kosher, and believe me, you would be better off if you did." "Well, tell me, did you at least go to the Synagogue to offer a prayer of thanks occasionally?" The son replied: "Really, do you honestly feel going to a Synagogue when you're associating with a large percentage of non-Jews is the proper thing to do? Honestly, Mother, it's unfair to ask it of me really."

At this point Mrs. Goldberg, fighting back anger looked at her eldest and said, "Tell me, Samuel are you still circumsized?"

DON'T BELIEVE IT!

In an age of management specialists, advanced degrees and decision by computer, it is always gratifying to be reminded that a man can still start at the bottom of the ladder and work his way to the top. A top official of one of the largest domestic petroleum firms, who started out pumping gas in a serivce station, gave some advice to a high school graduating class not long ago: "The crowd will tell you that the safest thing to do is conform, blend yourself into the background. Don't believe it. The rewards to to the imaginative, the creative, the original, the people willing to take the big dare of life. . . .It's enough, the crowd will say, to keep your nose clean because everything's run by formula or by machine calculation today. Don't believe it. You count as an individual, as a unique person, and even in corporation as big as the one for which I work, you'll be judged as an individual."

The admiral had made himself very unpopular and when he fell ill and had to go to the base hospital, everyone breathed a sigh of relief. The hospital did not improve his temper, however, and he made life miserable for the staff. One day, one of the orderlies put on a surgeon's mask and went into the admiral's room, picked up his chart and examined it very professionally. Then he advised the admiral that he would have to take his temperature and told him to roll over onto his stomach. On no account was the admiral to turn over and he promosed to return to read the thermometer as quickly as possible. The admiral harumphed but did as he was told.

About an hour later, the floor nurse looked in to check on the admiral and found him still on his stomach. "What on earth are you doing, sir," she cried.

"What's the matter with you," growled the admiral, "You've seen people having their temperatures taken before."

"But Admiral," she cried, "with a DAFFODIL?"

H.L. Hunt Says

SOCIALIST INDIA AND CAPITALIST JAPAN

The tremendous economic success story of the United States of America and the equally vast economic failures of Soviet Russia, a land potentially as wealthy as our own, stand as proof for all time that the personal enterprise system and freedom of production and trade are essential to real and lasting progress.

Though propagandists for socialism make every possible effort to obscure this proof, they have never been able to hide it completely. It is too big and too obvious. Even Khrushchev had to talk about "catching up with the United States," and fell from power because under communism he could not do it. Neither can his successors.

So now we hear mostly about how socialism is the only answer for the problems of the less developed nations. While capitalism might work for the most advanced, it is argued, it can never work for the backward. This argument sounds plausible, but it is wholly erroneous.

The best proof is another example and comparison. Two great nations in Asia remaining outside the communist orbit, India and Japan, were almost wholly undeveloped a century ago. Both have received considerable help and know-how from the West. Since the Second World War, India has been ruled exclusively by socialists. Japan has allowed much more freedom of production and trade.

The result is clear. Japan is self - supporting, a creditor rather than a debtor nation, and an active trader on the world market. India is mired in poverty, deeply in debt, unable to progress, and dependent on ever - increasing foreign aid handouts. In India and wherever else it prevails, socialism prevents progress. HLH.

NEW YORK (AP) -- If you are going to go into film work, there's no better way to start than by being a star.

Such is the Cinderella situation that Michele Lee finds herself in, and she's still a bit afraid that some midnight her studio limousine will turn into a pumpkin.

"I still don't quite understand how it all happened," she said.

Miss Lee, who is tall, dark-eyed and lovely, plays the straight lady for jester Bobby Morse in the Hollywood version of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." It is the same secretarial role she did on Broadway for more than two years.

"I thought when they got around to making the movie that they would pick someone better known," she said frankly.

Despite her auspicious film debut, Miss Lee hasn't succeeded in show business without really trying.

She began in 1960 at the age of 17 when her father, Jack Dusick, a veteran Hollywood makeup man, suggested she try out for a part in a West Coast revue called "Vintage '60."

"Until then I really wasn't terribly interested in the theater," she said, "although mother tells me that I sang in my cradle before I learned to talk. She said it about drove her crazy.

"Before she married, mother was a Yiddish chorus girl for a while in New York."

Miss Lee played in "Vintage '60" for eight months in Los Angeles. David Merrick brought the production to Broadway where it promptly folded after eight nights.

Miss Lee modeled, appeared on television, and worked in a couple more West Coast musicals before returning to Broadway in "How to Succeed."

The head that sits upon her shapely shoulders is practical as well as pretty. A year ago she married James Farentino, a young actor, and she is determined that this partnership will mean more to her than her career in the entertainment field.

Miss Lee has a breezy, outgoing personality. But she feels one of her faults -- if it is a fault -- is a compulsion to be neat and tidy.

"The first thing I do when I get up in the morning is to make my bed," she said. "Disorder of any kind makes me nervous. It gives me an uneasy feeling that something should be done that I am not getting done."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - One of the most interesting groups scheduled to testify against the Soviet-American Consular treaty is the Liberty lobby, whose founder, Willis Carto, has maintained: "Hitler's defeat was the defeat of Europe; and America."

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., the most vigorous opponent of treaty ratification who has been insistent that the Liberty lobby testify, once appeared on the Liberty lobby's radio series, "Congress Calling." Joining him on this series were Sens. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., and Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, both members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and both critics of the consular pact.

These senators may not be fully aware of the Liberty lobby's background; therefore should be interested in certain private correspondence exchanged between the top liberty lobbyists.

The Liberty lobby, incidentally, has brought suit in the U.S. District Court to prevent our publication of these documents, but was overruled.

The chairman of the Liberty lobby, Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of the late Franklin Roosevelt, also brought a libel suit for $2 million (M) against this column when we described his senate testimony opposing another trade treaty, the Trade Expansion Act, as anti-semitic. Dall lost the libel suit both in the lower court, the U.S. Court of Appeals, and on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

RULERS OF LIBERTY LOBBY

On the Liberty lobby's policy board are such ultra-right-wingers as Joseph P. Kamp of Westport, Conn., founder of the constitutional education league; Tyler Kent, imprisoned in the tower of London during the war for having given information to the enemy while a member of the American Embassy staff; R. G. Johnson of Rogers, Ark., author of "Patriots of Northern Arkansas"; Karl Prussion of San Diego, the famous red baiter; Lt. Col. Frederick A. Kibbe, founder of the Florida minutemen; Major Arch E. Roberts of Ft. Collins, Colo., author of Gen. Edwin Walker's pro-blue program; Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, the right-wing retired air force general, and Lt. Gen. Sumter L. Lowery of Tampa, who once ran for governor of Florida.

On the secret board which controls the Liberty Lobby is Kenneth Goff, a former communist who later teamed up with rabble-rousing anit-semitic Gerald L. K. Smith.

But the founder, mainspring, and brains of the Liberty lobby is Willis Carto, who has written a series of secret letters which this column has obtained.

In one letter to Norris Holt, a right-wing leader of Sausalito, Calif., Carto wrote: "There are six hundred million Chinese and about two hundred million Russians. All united in a determination to destroy the west. And we have been so misled that we live in a dream world - far away from reality. Hitler's defeat was the defeat of Europe and America.

"How could we have been so blind? The blame, it seems, must be laid at the door of the international Jews...If Satan himself with all of his superhuman genius and diabolical ingenuity at his command, had tried to create a permanent disintegration and force for the destruction of the nations, he could have done no better than to invent the Jews."

"RUSSIAN CONSPIRACY"

According to the Liberty lobby, the Johnson administration does not want to win the war in Vietnam and is part of a Russian conspiracy, not to win.

"Liberty Letter," described as a "confidential Washington report supplied only to Liberty lobby pledgers," recently wrote to those who had contributed money to the lobby; "Our government does not want to win...Liberty lobby has in its possession a report on the existence of a secret agreement between the Washington regime and the Kremlin which has never been ratified by the Senate - and which indeed is not even known to the vast majority of officials in Washington, but which explains perfectly the reason why we cannot win."

These are some of the nice people which Senators Mundt, Dirksen, and Lausche indirectly supported when they appeared on the Liberty lobby's radio program. These senators should read the amazing correspondence which Liberty lobby founder Carto has carried on with such people as Robert B. Patterson, secretary of the white citizens' council of Mississippi, and Archbishop C.C. Addison, a black muslim leader. In some of the correspondence Carto projected the "joint council for repatriation of Negroes back to Africa;" also blamed the Jews for stirring up racial problems. He stated:

"The strangest of all things and the most unfair of all the unfair things brought on by Jewish control of American politics concerns the alleged recipient of buckets and buckets of hypocritical Jewish concern and sympathy - the American Negro!

"Jewish control over so-called Negro organizations like the NAACP and the Urban League is so complete - that only few white Americans realize the truth about the fantastic trickery which brought this about."

The fact that Carto had influence with influential people is indicated by a letter he received April 27, '957 from Judge Brady, now on the supreme court of Mississippi.

"Dear Carto," wrote the judge, "shortly after your conference with Sen. Eastland, he called me and discussed at length the lobby. He advised me that he thought there was considerable merit in the plan... in my opinion something very worthwhile and significant is going to be the outcome of your brainchild, and I commend you highly on the work you have already done."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Interviews Disclose Labor's High Command Unimpressed by Reuther's Newest Crusade

Washington, D.C.: -- After walking with me to the door of his Parliamentary office one afternoon this summer, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson proffered his hand, said goodby and added in parting: "Please do remember me to Walter Reuther."

Later I talked with other members of Her Majesty's cabinet. I was convinced the rusty-haired auto union chief could carry a vote there virtually unanimously. In Britain he has impact.

But in the past few days, after polling George Meany's cabinet, almost all of them except the emeritus David Dubinsky indicated they could not care less whether he stays in or out of the AFL-CIO. Many, including almost all his old CIO unions, would like to see Reuther go so they could move right in on the vacancies he and his auto union colleagues would create.

And right here you have a profile of the Detroiter PETREL -- renowned abroad, rejected at home inside labor.

Reuther just has no power base -- except, of course, his own sprawling, sharply divided auto union.

And so down in labor's winter house, the Hotel Americana of Bal Harbour, Fla., AFL-CIO president George Meany, specialist in the intricacies of power, cools it. The cigar chomping, stocky labor chief, lover of gin rummy, golf and his fellow man (so long as they are not reporters) talks to mighty few newsmen. But it can be accurately reported that his sentiments are these:

He believes that Walter Reuther is emulating an old enemy -- John L. Lewis -- but with more verbiage. Lewis' leonine features matched his tactics. When he gave the old AFL the same treatment in 1935 and '36 which Reuther now is handing the merged labor federation, the United Mine Workers' Leader baited the old giants -- but tersely.

His tactic was not to quit, but to force the AFL to throw him out. He slugged one of its vice presidents. He challenged Meany's predecessor, William Green, to a public debate. But he forced the AFL to suspend him and his miners.

This is what Reuther will do -- minus the slugging. But Meany won't drop his cigar to snap at the bait. Why should he?

Victory in this power ploy will go to the force allied to the government. It is Meany who has immediate access to Lyndon Johnson, the White House, the cabinet departments, the independent agencies and vital affairs of state -- ranging from European "desks" to those covering Africa and Latin America.

It is Meany who is the chosen leader of the AFL-CIO's strongest power bloc, the construction trades 18 union, 3.5 million - member combine who now know that Reuther's men have been in touch with Hoffa's people in Detroit -- and that the construction union officials plan to block Reuther.

It is Meany and such of his colleagues as the Seafarers' Paul Hall and the garment workers' Lou Stulberg who can pour out money and manpower in elections where it counts -- among Congressional candidates. It is the house of labor, from which the last minute calls go out for such campaign funds.

Alone, Reuther can't match this operation.

It is Meany who will release progress reports of labor's legislative successes such as adding millions to the minimum wage rosters, building up medicare, organizing farm workers, launching the federal program of student scholarships, etc., etc.

It is Meany, not Reuther, who now has the loyalty of practically all CIO "industrial union" crowd -- which is John Lewis' second generation. Thus, it is Meany, not Reuther, who can dominate the movements' Industrial Union Dept.

So in March Reuther will fly to Europe to be with those Social Democratic laborities who admire him.

Meanwhile back at the ranch -- I mean beach -- a poll of the AFL-CIO high command (which met on the night of Friday, Feb. 10) shows he's a Hamlet with a script and a stage -- but without a supporting cast.

P-TA Is Observing 70th Anniversary

By Ruth Dillender

The first Parent-Teacher association in the United States was founded 70 years ago today on Feb. 17, 1897 by Alice Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst.

The original name was the National Congress of Mothers. Its present name was adopted in 1924. The national headquarters are in Chicago.

Sikeston has seven P-TA's: high school, Mrs. Harold Hill, president; junior high school, Jim Musick, Southwest, Mrs. Barbara Hitchcock; Airport, Mrs. Jerry Masterson; Matthews school, Don Bohannon; Lee Hunter, Charles Matthews; and Lincoln, Mrs. Bea Pegues. The total membership of P-TA in Sikeston is 1370, over twice as many members as the Boy Scouts, with 602 members, or the Girl Scouts with 609 members.

The first Parent-Teacher association in Sikeston was founded in 1937 at the old South Grade school. Mrs. Ann Martin was the first president and Tharon Stallings was school principal. The P-TA disbanded and was reorganized Nov. 19, 1951.

The elementary school P-TA's meet once a month and the meetings usually last about one and a half hours. The high school P-TA meets four times a year and the junior high organization meets once every two months.

The dues are 50 cents a year—20 cents stays in the local budget and 30 cents is sent to the state and national headquarters.

The P-TA at Airport school has 155 members and sponsors two Girl Scout troops, two Brownie Scout troops and one Cub Scout pack. The organization sold sweatshirts this year to raise money and plans to buy furniture for the teachers lounge at the proposed new elementary school.

The Lee Hunter P-TA has 150 members and sponsored a book fair this year. Funds raised were applied to the regular budget.

The Matthews school organization has 270 members. It sponsors one Brownie Scout troop and one Cub Scout pack. The group sold class record books and cakes. The money raised will go into the P-TA budget.

The P-TA at junior high school sponsors an award program for the top 10 per cent of the classes with funds raised. The ways and means committee sold toothbrushes and fruit cakes this year. The P-TA there has 220 members. A membership drive is conducted yearly in the homeroom classes. The class with the highest percentage of parents belonging to P-TA at the end of the drive is treated to a picnic in the spring.

One hundred belong to the high school P-TA. The organization supports the county and city P-TA councils and contributes to the Caroline B. Ullmann scholarship fund, that aided 46 Missouri students last year.

The Lincoln P-TA sponsored a turkey raffle at Christmas and a entertainment program to raise funds. The organization sponsors one Brownie troop, one Junior Girl Scout troop, one Cadette Girl Scout troop, two Cub Scout packs and one Boy Scout troop. The P-TA encourages parents to attend by planning programs in which the students participate.

A trophy is given to the room with the most parents present. The P-TA treats the class that has had the trophy the greatest number of times in the school year to a movie.

The Southwest school P-TA has the largest number of members, 400. The organization sponsors a book fair and sold record books. One third of the money raised goes into the regular budget. The P-TA is planning to buy playground equipment with the remainder of the money. A sidewalk and a light on the parking lot at the school were provided by the P-TA last year.

The organization sponsors one Cub Scout pack and one Brownie troop.

City Manager W. Raymert Miller says that he feels that P-TA is really effective in keeping parents informed as to students' activities and extra curriculum activities available to students.

Dexter Ends Season Tonight, Ready For Regional Opener

Risco Hoping For Season's First Victory Tonight

It seems only yesterday that the 1966-67 high school basketball season got underway. Now it's in its final night for class S and M schools.

Barring any cancellation because of road conditions, 38 teams will pair up in 19 locations around the Southeast Missouri area. Risco hopes for a victory as they host Cooter (1-17).

The area's large schools still have two weeks in which to sharpen their skills for the commencement of class L tournament play.

Class S and M tournament play opens Monday around the state and in six locations in the area. Tourney sites for the SEMO district will be for Class S, Advance and Lesterville. Class M, Bloomfield, Steele, Illmo, and Fredericktown.

Among the most successful class L teams to date in the area has been the red hot Charleston Blue Jays, currently on a 13-game winning streak in an 18-5 season.

The Blue Jays, led by 6-2 Gary Betts and junior standout Ruben Brown, will travel to Cape Girardeau tonight to meet the district's number two ranked team, Notre Dame. Charleston was ranked fourth in the last poll conducted.

Homecoming games will highlight the final night for a few of the teams.

Other games to watch will be Richland at Scott Central, a game that could go either way. Central will be out to beat its former coach, Charles Pardon, while coach Pardon will be out to direct his squad past the touch class S school.

Cape Central will visit the Sikeston quintet in the Bulldogs annual homecoming game tonight, scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Sikeston will try to avenge an earlier loss to the Tigers, who are currently in seventh place in SEMO conference standings.

Our little friend decided he will only get his feet wet before the regional tournaments begin....

Falling short by one prediction to hit 100 per cent for the first time this season has made him a little weary of predicting tonight. The spoiler of all teams had to be...Parma, who knocked off Campbell.

Here are tonight's winners:

Dexter will avenge its earlier losses at Kennett. Richland will hand the Scott Central Braves a homecoming defeat. Malden has the material to beat Bernie but we think it will fall. Illmo-Scott City will be victorious. Caruthersville has the edge on visiting New Madrid, the court and will win. East Prairie with a good night can tap the Bobcats. We think Delta has the edge. Charleston should run its streak to 14, 13 is an unlucky number and we see Notre Dame as the winner. Sikeston might be up for the game, since it's the Bulldogs homecoming. It will need to play a good game to win. Maybe Fred Towns has returned from Texas...We understand he went to get a fit for a hat... Sikeston victorious. Last but not least will be the battle for the victory...Risco will try and take its season's first at home tonight when Cooter visits. The Cooter quntet has one win under its belts and will try for two...

DEXTER -- Coach Jim Hall's basketball Bearcats will end their regular season schedule tonight, barring cancellation, when they are host to arch rival Kennett. First game starts at 7 p.m.

The Bearcats' record stands at 15-7 going into tonight's match with the Indians of Coach Terry Turlington, a former Dexter high school basketball star and former teammate of coach Hall.

With the superb playing of senior center, David Guethle, the Bearcats hope to avenge two earlier defeats at the hands of the Indians.

Guethle, who has averaged 28 points in his last three games, scoring 36, 26, and 23 points respectively against such top teams as Cape Girardeau Central, Jackson and Bell City, will be the flea in the Indians scalp at Dexter tonight.

Dexter, which struggled to win before the Christmas break, took the opportunity to sharpen up on its press after being taken out of the Bloomfield Christmas tournament by these same Indians, who will visit tonight.

Coach Hall feels that his Bearcat squad, which has been seeded number-one for the class M tournament at Bloomfield, has as good a chance of going all the way in the class M regional and state playoffs as any team in the area if his boys continue to play the type of ball they have since the Christmas break. But the Cats big interest tonight will be to avenge two earlier losses.

Dexter, which will meet one of the tournament dark horses, Doniphan, in its opening game of the class M regional will face perhaps two of the toughest teams in the tournament before advancing into the finals.

Bloomfield, which is host to the tournament, was seeded second behind the Bearcats and seems to be in the better bracket, teamwise. Its biggest competition in the semi-final round will most likely be the Richland Rebels, the Cinderella team.

Coach Hall feels that playing the good teams in the opening round of the tournament and continuing to meet them will be to his team's advantage. His squad will have to be ready for each game. Bloomfield will meet Risco in their opener and most likely will not really be up for the game. Risco has yet to win this season.

Taking a look at the Bearcats record, one could see how the Bearcats are considered as a possible representative from Southeast Missouri in the state tournament in March.

Of the Bearcats defeats, two have come at the hands of the highly regarded Kennett Indians. The others have come at the hands of three of the area's dark horse teams who have shots at tournament championships, Sikeston, Richland, and Poplar Bluff. The other two losses, one at the hands of the District's fifth ranked Bloomfield Wildcats and the other at the hands of the unheard of Caruthersville Tigers.

Six of the Dexter quintet's losses came by six points or less and the seventh was a 17-point loss to Richland.

Guethle is the backbone of the Bearcats' offense and rebounding, as he has showed in his last three games.

Dexter, who had their trouble before the Christmas break came to life with its press after the midseason mark and has come on strong and taken wins over such teams as Cape Central, Bell City, Jackson and Bloomfield.

By far the Cats biggest win of the season was over the Bloomfield Wildcats on their home court for the championship of the Stoddard county tournament.

This feat was one that is seldom done. The Wildcats seldom take a defeat on their home court and especially in a tournament.

Injuries have plagued the Bearcats since the opening of the season, most being badly turned ankles. Four of the Cats starters have had this trouble, including the Dexter quintet's David Guethle. The only starter, who has escaped injury, has been Harlen Guethle, brother of David.

Three seniors are on Coach Hall's squad and each has drawn starting assignments.

The seniors, Charlie Corlies, Larry Layton and David Guethle, will be working to return the Cats to the state tournament playoff.

Last season, as the class L representative, the Bearcats advanced to St. Louis only to take a defeat by the team that finished fourth in class L, Augustinia.

Dexter, a town known for its support of sporting activities, has followed the Bearcats no matter how the team is doing, will stay with the Cats until their final season game.

After tonight's game with Kennett, all the Dexter quintet will turn their attention and thoughts to the opening game in the class M tournament at Bloomfield. With the determination and desire that Coach Hall has inspired in his squad they have the talent, speed, and desire along with the Cats backing of the town to win another regional championship and a shot at the state title. . . .Good luck.

454 Class S and M Schools Compete In Tournaments

COLUMBIA -- Class S and M regional basketball tournaments are scheduled to begin Monday, February 20. Regional tournament committees have met and seeding of teams has been completed. A total of 454 teams will participate in the tournaments, 234 in Class S and 220 in Class M, with the number of teams assigned to each regional varying from 11 to 16 due to geographical location of teams in each class.

The purpose of the tournament series is to give each school the opportunity to demonstrate and evaluate, in comparison with other schools throughout the state, the knowledge, skills, and emotional patterns that have been taught through interscholastic basketball. An important factor in each school's interscholastic program is the sportsmanship of players, students and fans. There will be a sportsmanship trophy awarded at each state tournament to schools whose players, coaches, cheerleaders, and fans display the best sportsmanship.

The four probable strongest teams in each regional have been seeded by the regional tournament committees. Among the factors considered in seeding teams are won and last records and a comparison of the competition played during the season. Below is a list of the top four seeded teams in each regional tournament.

Last Year's Winners And This Year's Predictions

Wright City and Owensville captured the 1965 class S and M state basketball respectively while Kansas City Central was victorious in the class L tourney. For both Wright City and Owensville, their victories marked the first time either school had won the state crown. Kansas City Central's title is their second in the history of the tournament. Central also turned the trick back in 1930.

That pretty well points out to you sports fans in Southeast Missouri how the Southwestern part of the state has controlled the basketball tournament each year for the past 13 seasons.

Yes...It has been that long since a team from our area brought home that...big one... It was the Cape Central Tigers who brought it home....

This season there isn't really one team a person could pick and say...that team is headed for the state tournament... There are many well balanced squads and each has taken wins over others or has taken wins over teams which have beaten the other that it is almost impossible to compare one team with the other.

CLASS S

The Wright City Wildcats won the class S regional tournament at Hannibal; McCooey as they defeated the host McCooey Shamrocks 73-48 in the final game. In state tournament play the Wildcats defeated Queen City 77-62 in first round action; overcame a 14-point halftime deficit to down Cainville 83-76, in their second game; and beat Farmington; St. Joseph 62-52 in the semi-final contest. In the championship game Wright City won over an outstanding Springfield; Greenwood team 55-45. Drexel nipped St. Joseph for third place honors 46-45 on a last second shot.

Parma, last season's entry in the class S regional from the area took a first round defeat from St. Joe after leading most of the first half.

CLASS M

Owensville qualified for the class M state tournament by defeating Hermann 42-34 in the championship game of the Cuba regional. In their quest for the state title, the Dutchmen downed St. Louis Priory 69-53 in first round play and Clopton of Clarksville 65-55 in the quarter-finals. They outpointed highly-regarded Bloomfield 59-50 in the semi-final game and went on to defeat Willard 62-54 for the Championship. Boonville beat Bloomfield 52-51 in a double overtime thriller for third place honors.

That paragraph above just points out how close we (our area) came to sending a team to the finals and the title. Bloomfield was highly regarded but got to the tournament and had a little letdown that cost it the title.

CLASS L

The Kansas City Central Blue Eagles took wins over Paseo 65-59, St. Joseph; Benton 67-49, William Chrisman 76-67, Augustinian Academy 61-53, and Parkview, the defending champion 52-48 in the tourney fields.

Dexter represented the area in the state tournament last season but suffered defeat.

The Wildcats, undefeated in Missouri before entering the tournament advanced past Fredericktown 51-48 at Flat River in first round play and continued on toward the semi-finals with a squeaking 52-50 win over the Oran Eagles of Coach Gene Bess.

Bloomfield suffered its first defeat by a Missouri team in the semi-finals as Owensville took a 59-50 win and suffered its second loss to a Missouri team by bowing to Boonville 52-51 in two overtimes.....

The Bloomfield quintet entered state tournament competition with a 30-1 mark. Their only defeat came at the hands of Treadwell of Memphis. The team which capped second in its state.

CLASS L

Dexter, 23-5, advanced into the state tournament by defeating Kennett in the regional at Dexter.

The Bearcats opened first round play at Cape with a 62-39 place finisher, Augustinian.

Our little devil has a strong feeling...and we mean a strong one....that the team to emerge with the SEMO title in class M will shoot toward the tournament title and be the first team in....13 years to bring that site for sore eyes. . .The biggest trophy award throughout the state. . .Class M Champions 1966. . . .

CLASS S

Parma advanced to the first round of the state tournament under the coaching of Doyle Denbow, who had led his team in his eight seasons at PHS to five second place finishes in the regional before capping the title in 1965. His team entered the tournament with a 19-9 record to only bow out in the first round game at Cape against Farmington; St. Joseph 66-52.

CLASS M

Coach Tom Hewgley and Charles Spoonhour led their Bloomfield Wildcat squad to the state tournament for rout of Perryville but fell in quarter-final action at Washington University in St. Louis to Augustinian Academy 57-51.

Here are this years...pre-tournament predictions on who will cap the titles.

ADVANCE - We see that the Howardville Hawks are going to be the team to beat...We know that the Scott Central Braves have got a shot at the title and may just as well take it... but the Hawks are a hard team to go against and we think when it comes down to that final night...The Howardville quintet and coach will receive the instruction sheet for advancing into the tournament bracket... Scott Central, Advance, Bell City, and Delta has a shot.

BLOOMFIELD - Here we are faced with the task of picking the winner in the Wildcats own regional...We sure can't go against them....Bloomfield.... The other teams had better wake up and remember the Wildcats are still around...and has the guts it takes to go a long way . . .Watch out Lexington. Watch out for Richland and Dexter though.

STEELE - Surely Hayti North will advance the winner.....But the host Bulldogs have a good shot at the title...Hayti North will be the winner but has no place to go after its regional victory....but to Bloomfield. Southland is tough.

ILLMO - Now that all the cards are laid on the table... We see the Oran Eagles emerging victorious..but Illmo-Scott City, Notre Dame and Matthews will figure in the last hand.

POPLAR BLUFF - As we said at the beginning of the year... watch out for the Charleston Blue Jays...It will get the football out of its system and will be hard to beat...and that's the way it will be...Hard to beat Charleston...Sikeston has improved.

We'd ask you to compare it . . . but with what?

Comparing a Cadillac has always been a problem, for the car has long been clearly in a class of its own. In 1967, the challenge is even greater . . . because Cadillac has never before asserted its leadership so convincingly.

Start with beauty. Cast about for a luxury car contender that can list such styling advancements as Cadillac's dramatic new roof line, its forward sweeping front design and its graceful and flowing side contours. Then consider that there are eleven exciting examples of this kind of Cadillac beauty... as well as the totally new Eldorado, the world's finest personal car!

Consider also the incomparable newness of Cadillac's beautiful interiors and their unexcelled safety and convenience. There are passenger-guard door locks, a hazard warning system, a dual circuit braking system, latches that hold folding front seats securely in place and dozens of other safety features.

And, of course, there's performance. There's nothing else smoother than Cadillac's V-8 power; nothing else easier than Cadillac's improved variable ratio power steering; nothing else surer or steadier on the highway.

Visit your authorized dealer and measure Cadillac against your own motoring requirements. It's the only valid comparison test for the Standard of the World.

Mrs. Nienstedt and Mrs. Fred Steward, Sr., were the club's project leaders.

Mrs. E.F. Weidemann led the club in singing the Missouri federation theme song, "Let There Be Peace on Earth." Mrs. Elmer Poage was at the piano.

Mrs. L.M. Schroff, program leader, introduced Mrs. Nienstedt, who conducted a memorial service for Mrs. J.N. Ross. Mrs. Nienstedt, paid tribute to Mrs. Ross' life and her activities in the community. She was president of the Woman's Club from 1929 until 1931.

Mrs. Schroff introduced the speakers, Mrs. W.J. Nowell, ninth district fine arts chairman, and Mrs. W.A. Ownbey, ninth district president, both of Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. Nowell, the only delegate from the ninth district of federated clubs to attend the international federated club convention in Chicago, gave highlights of the meeting. She told stages in the history of the federation.

Mrs. Ownbey explained the importance of scholarships offered through the federation and emphasized that each club should inform high school students of these scholarships.

Reports from officers and committees were given in a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Thatcher Scism.

Mrs. William Proffer, ways and means committee chairman, named Mrs. Fred Geske, Mrs. Fred Koch, Mrs. Steward, Mrs. Scism, Mrs. W.C. Winstead and Mrs. Effie Campbell to serve on the planning committee for the benefit card party to be held in the community room of Security National Bank March 6. Tickets were distributed to members.

Mrs. H.G. Cathey, chairman of the Sophomore Pilgrimage, reported that Miss Barbara Nall had been elected by her fellow classmates to attend the tour to Jefferson City April 11. The expenses of Miss Nall's tour will be paid by her sponsor, the Woman's Club.

A letter from Mrs. Mildred Robinson, president of the American Association of University Women, invited the Woman's Club members to hear Thomas J. Gearty speak. Gearty is special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He will speak March 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the cafetorium of the high school on "Confidence Games and Business Deceptions."

Tea was served from a table covered with a white linen cloth and was centered with an arrangement of red carnations. Mrs. Scism presided.

Guests were Mrs. Rae Hunter, Margaret Harris, Mrs. E.R. Putnam, Mrs. Robley Lennon, Margaret Harper and Florence Baker.

Hostesses were Mrs. Weidemann, Mrs. Eva Welter, Mrs. Stella Emory, Mrs. Mildred Meyer and Mrs. Earl Fitzpatrick.

The "Full Faith And Credit" Clause of The United States Constitution

5. CONCLUSION

The importance of the full faith and credit clause lies in its value as a means for creating a harmonious federal system, in which each State may assert its own legal policies so long as it has a legitimate interest in enforcing them, but may not refuse to enforce the policies of sister States through mere caprice. As to judgments, "the room left for the play of conflicting (State) policies is a narrow one... For the States of the Union, the constitutional limitation imposed by the full faith and credit clause abolished, in large measure, the general principle of international law by which local policy is permitted to dominate rules of comity." A sister State judgment, with a few very limited and narrow exceptions, must be enforced in a local court to the same extent as in the State where the judgment was rendered. This encompasses all of the issues decided by the sister State court, or which could have been decided, including its jurisdiction, if an appearance is made by the opposing party.

Statutory policies leave a somewhat greater room for local policy to operate. But even here, a sister - State's without a strong and legitimate local interest to the contrary, of which the United States Supreme Court will ultimately judge. For as that court has declared:

The very purpose of the full-faith and credit clause was to alter the status of the several states as independent foreign sovereignties, each free to ignore obligations created under the laws or by the judicial proceedings of the others, and to make them integral parts of a single nation throughout which a remedy upon a just obligation might be demanded as of right, irrespective of the state of its origin. That purpose ought not lightly to be set aside out of deference to a local policy which, if it exists, would seem to be too trivial to merit serious consideration when weighed against the policy of the constitutional provision and the interest of the state whose judgment is challenged.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

Cantor Edward Graham of the Larchmont Temple has been called a one-man Ecumenical Movement because of his many activities in both the Jewish and Christian communities.

Possessing a magnificent voice, he learned his first Jewish sacred music at his grandfather's knee and earned his first money singing in a Jewish Orthodox synagogue.

During his service in the army he was an assistant to a Southern Baptist chaplain. Also he sang for two years in a Radio City Music Hall Glee Club and toured the country with an opera company. Then he turned again to sacred music and enrolled in Hebrew Union College's School of Sacred Music.

To augment his credits for a degree he went to Iona College, a Roman Catholic institution, and took every English course offered. The life of Jonathan Swift, the great English author who was also an Anglican priest, had a profound influence on him and was the subject of his doctoral thesis. He received his Ph.D. last June.

Now back at Iona College he teaches English as Dr. Graham. At the Larchmont Temple, he supervises music, as Cantor Graham.

He enjoys dialogue with the Catholic members of the faculty at Iona concerning the positions of their religions on many subjects. He says, "As a religious person I am happy to be an instructor where religious idealism lies behind the educational process."

THIS PICTURE of Abraham Lincoln is believed to be one of the few showing him as smooth-shaven. It hangs in the Citizens National Bank at Chillicothe and bears the autographed signature of the Civil War president. It belonged to Mrs. Harriett Teney, sister of Dr. W. W. Edgerton, founder of the bank. Her husband met Lincoln when he made a campaign tour in Michigan. (AP Photo)

Panel Sings Praises of Cole Porter

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Only Cole could write a passionate song," said Alan Jay Lerner. "And he never wrote with self-pity."

For illustration, longtime friends of the late Cole Porter sang a few of his passionate, nonpitying songs. Fred Astaire intoned "Night and Day," Ethel Merman belted out "Make It Another Old - Fashioned, Please," and Frank Sinatra delivered "I've Got You Under My Skin."

These figures, along with Gene Kelly and Garson Kanin, saluted Porter this week at a dinner given by the Friends of the Libraries of the University of Southern California. The panelists sang their tributes and talked about their association with the Indiana-born songwriter.

Sinatra recalled when he was a stripling of a singer appearing at a roadhouse in Englewood, N.J. To his astonishment, Cole Porter came in the place one night with friends. Sinatra, who doubled as head waiter, gave Porter "the greatest buildup since Charles Lindberg," much to the songwriter's displeasure.

"I dedicated one of his songs to him — and then I forgot all the words," Sinatra recalled.

Kanin asked Astaire if he knew "Night and Day" would be such a success when he first sang it in "The Gay Divorce."

"I didn't recognize it as a great hit," the dancer admitted. "I was more concerned with whether I could sing it, with all those high notes."

Kanin introduced a guest panelist, "A young man who sang 'Easy to Love' in 'Born to Dance.'" A skinny, towering actor, grizzled for a Western role, ambled to the microphone.

"I'm Jimmy Stewart," he announced.

He told of his own concern as to whether he could hit the high notes. He asked Porter if he could "hit some of those notes down." The songwriter refused. Stewart demonstrated for the U.S.C. audience his way with "Easy to Love," grimacing at the high notes like a choir boy in puberty.

The panelists talked sadly of Porter's final years, when his illness prompted him to drop the big, elegant dinners he enjoyed giving. Then he would entertain only a few close friends, but always with the same elegance.

Porter had given up songwriting after supplying a couple of tunes for Kelly in "Les Girls." Porter, long troubled with his broken legs, had undergone an amputation.

THIS WEEK SALUTING

Church Of God In Christ

LIBOURN, MISSOURI

Rev. & Mrs. J.C. Pullen, Jr.

The Church of God in Christ, Lilbourn, is located on the corner of Benton Street. They began having services in 1925 with just a few members, under the leadership of the late Elder Charles Edmond, along with his wife, Mrs. Pauline Edmond.

In the beginning, they didn't have a place to worship. The late Elder and Mrs. Monroe Parrott gave permission and they had services in their home.

Some of the members starting out with the church were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lavelle, Rev. and Mrs. Waverly Conner, Mrs. Francie, Mrs. Neal Coffee, Mrs. Silvie Robertson, Mrs. Bernice Blackman, and the late Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Minnis, along with a few others.

A few months later we bought the lot on which the present church stands. On this lot was a small house. It was used for services in the winter, and in the summer services were held under a brush arbor. Several members were added to the church.

In 1946 the church was built. Elder Charles Edmond pastored it until his health began to fail. He then resigned and recommended the present pastor, Elder J. C. Pullen, Jr., who was reared in the Bell City area.

We have a nice group of young people in our Sunday School almost every Sunday.

Since J. C. Pullen has become pastor, the church membership has been increased, although due to working conditions and living facilities people have moved to different cities.

The church has been remodeled and modern conveniences have been added.

Elder and Sister Pullen have been with the church for twelve years and are known as a lovable couple by most who know them. They are the parents of nine children.

We have four classes in our Sunday School.

For Christmas our Sunday School gave fruits and candy to the children in our community and food to some that weren't able to prepare anything for Christmas.

Everyone is welcome to attend our church services and Sunday School. Bring your family and friends. The congregation is small but they are friendly and the spirit of the Lord is present.

Abe Lincoln Is 'Founder' Of American Democracy

NATION PAUSED last Sunday to pay tribute to one of the most admired, respected and loved leaders of the country's long and prideful history.

This day commemorated the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the 16th President of the United States.

Lincoln, next to Jefferson whom he admired, is the spiritual fountainhead of the philosophy of American democracy and the symbol of freedom.

His life's story is stunning in its simplicity. Born in a log cabin in poverty, painfully self-educated, rose from comparatively obscurity to national leadership in a nearly fatal crisis, saved the United States from dissolution, and at the moment of victory, was slain by an assasin.

From humble birth in 1809 to martyr's death in 1865, the life of Lincoln follows the classic lines of tragic greatness.

Lincoln occupied the center stage of history for less than half a dozen years. At the time of his nomination for the Presidency, he was so little known as a national figure that people were not even certain how to spell his name.

But from his emergence out of the Illinois prairie into public view, Lincoln began to fascinate observers. Nathaniel Hawthorne, when he first saw the loose-jointed and uncouth figure, thought him to be "about the homeliest man he ever saw, yet by no means repulsive or disagreeable."

His physical appearance was bizarre. Inordinately tall, bony, stoop-shouldered, his dark hair was coarse, his skin too shallow, his neck too scrawny, his arms too long, his hands too furrowed, and his feet too large.

But all these physical mishaps were overshadowed by his brilliance, his wit, his humanity, and his memorable display of logic and reason in the abolishment of slavery, which saved the country from possible ruin.

And so Abraham Lincoln now towers beyond American history.

By his words he deepened the meaning of democracy, and by his actions he widened the horizons of human dignity, giving his life to a universal ideal -- "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from he earth."

Tony Statler Tells Class Of Trip To Europe; Russia

Administrative assistant Tony E. Statler showed and narrated the slides for the history classes that Supt. Lynn Twitty took on his European trip last year. History classes met in the east common room on Tuesday, and each section learned from the illustrated lecture.

* * *

Mr. Statler called the students' attention to such matters as dress, buildings, educational facilities, and the expression on the citizens' faces in Europe and the Soviet Union.

"They are not as unhappy as we think they are," said Mr. Statler, "and are very anxious to have their pictures taken." The people of Europe were well represented by Mr. Twitty's pictures, as they showed life in the city, country, and slums of many nations.

Parallel to the history classes' critical study of communism, Mr. Statler showed many slides of Russia. Slides of schools, architecture, and Russian culture in general enabled students to form a better concept of life in that country.

The slides were very revealing, showing not only the people and achievements of Russia but its shortcomings, such as poverty and poor construction of buildings.

"The clothing of Russian citizens, though not colorful, appeared rugged and warm," commented Mr. Statler.

All classes fortunate enough to hear Mr. Statler's commentary are now more able to compare the United States and her culture to that of the Soviet Union and many European nations.

A current joke about Egypt's economic problems tells of a villager who brought home a fish and asked his wife to cook it for dinner. "I can't," she said. "There is no oil."

"Then use butter," said the husband.

"There is no butter."

"Then broil it over charcoal."

"There is no charcoal."

The digusted villager thereupon tossed hs catch back into the Red Sea. The fish bobbed up, lifted a fin and shouted, "Long live President Nasser!"

Bond Issue Speaker Is Dr. Martin

Gary Grant Speaks About PTA; Moderne Chorale Performs

Dr. A. D. Martin, president of the Sikeston Board of Education, discussed the proposed bond issue at the Parent-Teacher meeting Monday evening.

Dr. Martin said that the bond issue would provide a steady improvement in the curriculum, improve the salary schedule for the faculty, and improve the building program for the Sikeston schools.

School system is growing and more elementary classrooms are needed.

It is proposed that a new elementary school be constructed in the eastern part of town; more additional classrooms be built at the high school; more rooms be added for vocational training; library facilities be enlarged; and more space added to the high school cafeteria.

Sikeston high school needs a field house constructed on the campus.

The bond issue would not increase the tax levy in the Sikeston district -- a bond issue of eight years ago will retire this spring to make way for new bonding capacity.

Dr. Martin concluded his talk by answering several questions from the audience.

Junior Gary Grant discussed the origin of the Parent-Teachers Association.

He said that Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hurst was the Missourian who was one of the founders of the organization on February 17, 1897, in Washington, D.C.

Gary said, "It is the concern of your helping the youth of today that they become the leaders of tomorrow."

Moderne chorale, directed by Gordon Beaver, entertained the audience with three numbers -- "The Thunder of the Lord," "The Sweetest Sounds," and "Down Town."

Mrs. Harold Hill is the president of the organization, and she presented the program that evening.

Future Teachers of America served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

Guess Who?

Mystery column features this week a popular senior girl. She is presently 17 years old and resides at 913 Allen Boulevard with her parents.

She plays the flute in 7:30 band, and she attends First Christian church.

Her various activities include Red Peppers, Future Teachers of America and concert choir.

She is eagerly awaiting graduation in May, and upon graduation she plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College in the summer.

Her favorite pastime is walking her poodle.

Last week's mystery personality was Bobbye Scott.

BECKY WAGNER, moderne chorale accompanist, will play a solo in the Early Division band concert Thursday evening.

Tenkoff, Wiss Will Attend Honor Society Convention

Juniors Lynae Tenkhoff and Gary Wiss were chosen as representatives of the Veritas Chapter at the National Honor Society Convention in St. Louis tomorrow.

Lynne and Gary will attend various discussion groups and listen to talks given by prominent Missourians. Governor Warren E. Hearnes is one of the guest speakers on the agenda.

The program stresses the opportunities that Missouri has to offer young people. In keeping with the theme, Lynne and Gary have made a poster display illustrating the unique qualities of Sikeston and Sikeston high school. This display will be one of many representing Missouri in a national tour.

Plans for the annual Honor Society induction were begun as the date, Friday, March 31, was set.

Carl Wright was chosen to act as the main speaker for the occasion.

Teresa Hamelmann, Vicki Schindler, Charles Stamp, and Steve Spear will present the traditional program with speeches on "leadership, scholarship, service, and character."

Chairman in charge of providing a theme for the induction is senior Jim Hux. Seniors Camille Bowman, Charles Stamp, Melinda Morrison, Peg Rafferty, and Eddie Hodges will head the arrangements, program, decoration, refreshments, and cleanup committees.

Top five per cent of the sophomore class, 10 per cent of the junior class, and 15 per cent of the senior class are admitted, according to scholastic rating, to Honor Society. Invitations will be handed to new members by seniors as soon as grades and ratings are released from the office.

Early Division SHS Band To Present Annual Concert

Three Featured SoloistsWill Be Patti McMullin, Diane Taylor, Becky Wagner

Early division Sikeston high school symphonic band, directed by Keith Collins, will present its annual winter concert in the middle school auditorium next Thursday evening at 7:30.

Senior Becky Wagner will be the featured pianist in Mozart's Sonata in C Major, "Concertino."

Becky has been concert pianist of the moderne chorale for the past two years.

Soprano solist Patti McMullin will be accompanied by the band in "Agnus Die" from "L'Arlesienne Suite."

Pat has attended district music contests for three years, and she received number one ratings each time. She has appeared in the Sikeston Little Theatre's musical productions of "Sound of Music" and "The King and I."

Diane Taylor will play the French horn solo in "Rondo" from Mozart's Concerto No. 3 in E Flat.

Diane was one of the members of the All-District band that performed at the Music Educators Association in January.

Other selections to be presented range from classical numbers to popular arrangements.

These include "Concert Overture for Band," "Nutmegger's March," "La Rosita," "Au Pays Lorrain," "Symphonic Overture," "Western March," and "Henry Mancini Medley."

Late division symphonic band, directed by Mr. Collins, will present its concert to the public Friday, March 10.

Juniors Choose '68 Rings; Round With Raised Set

Juniors chose round rings with a red raised set for the '68 class symbol Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen junior representatives, elected in homerooms, made the final decision at a meeting after school.

Truth, honor, knowledge, and a lamp and book of learning are engraved on each side of the rings.

Seniors to be may order sizes of small, medium, or large. Rings may also be purchased at a lower price, which do not have a set.

Ring committee members included Karen Baugus, Carl Barnett, Mary Jane Cope, David Childers, Jasper Grant, Sharon Harber, Jim Klein, Kathie Matthews, Pam Marsh.

Mike Musick, Tony Poole, Susan Parmenter, Judy Rodgers, Ed Felker, Diane Taylor, Laura Tope, Kenny Woodward, and King Sidwell.

Juniors may order their rings from Wright's, Hale's, Voelker's, or Yanson's jewelry stores in Sikeston. Initials will be on the inside and students will have a choice of either two or three initials.

Students must make a $5 deposit when ordering their rings and can pay the balance when the rings arrive next August.

MASTER PLAN

Our 11-year-old Boy Scout returned from an overnight winter camping trip cold, sleepy and reeking of wood smoke. As he filled us in on the details of the outing, he mentioned that, when it started to snow, the scoutmaster retired to a nearby farmhouse, professing trouble with his teeth.

"What was the matter with his teeth?" my wife asked.

"I guess they were chattering," said our son. H. L. Keir

Leaguers Go To Kennett Debate Meet

Twenty-seven members of the Sikeston National Forensic League participated in a debate meet at Kennett Tuesday afternoon.

Eighteen students took part in the debates concerning the United States foreign aid policies, and nine students participated in the discussion-impromptu rounds.

Defending the affirmative side were Alan Bryant, Alice Cannon, Lana Dillender, Jim Doggett, Leslie Johnson, James Lashmet, Barbara Nall, Connie Sullivan, Rod Taylor, and Nancy Turner.

Negative debaters attending were Mickey Bass, Martha Bucher, John Hough, Gene Spitzmiller, Denise Sprague, David Stallings, Mike Struwe, and Mary Jane York.

Marlene Boshell, Marty Buchanan, Linda Condict, Doug Crow, Jim Hailey, Claudia Ham, Jan Holloway, Phyllis Jones, and Jack Spears participated in the impromptu-discussion.

Home Economic Classes Present Vocational Help

Home economics classes of Sikeston high school are busy preparing students for their futures.

Before 1870, daughters were trained at home in the domestic skills, but during the 1870's three Middle West land-grants colleges pioneered in offering home economic courses.

Approximately 150 colleges and universities in the United States grant degrees in home economics today.

Home economists employed in many occupations, help improve the health and welfare of individuals, families, and even nations.

Household cleanliness is of vital importance to the house and will always be among the most important vocations of mankind.

Group of domestic service occupations is concerned with the usual functions relative to the maintenance of households and their surroundings - cooking of meals, child care, laundrymen, yardmen, caretakers, cooks, chambermaids, valets, and various others.

This group is just becoming occupations which require class education. Sikeston high school has for the first time a class subsidized by the government to train students in these fields.

Classes Take Tour Of Bank In St. Louis

Future Business Leaders of America and distributive education students made a field trip to St. Louis Wednesday.

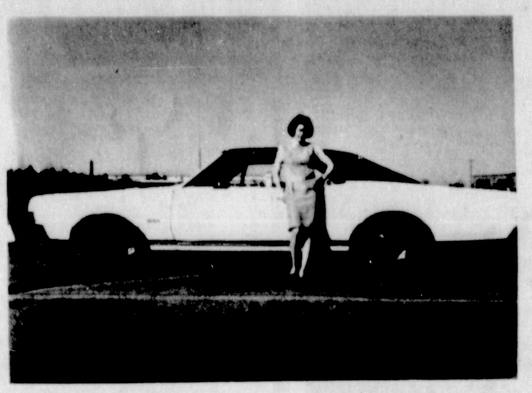
A tour of the Federal Reserve Bank highlighted the trip. Main purpose of the trip was to see how the bank is operated.

After touring the bank, the students had lunch and a free hour in the downtown area.

In the afternoon the boys were taken to the Chevrolet Plant while the girls witnessed the Globe-Democrat fashion show in Kiel Auditorium.

Students were accompanied by Jim Cornett, director of vocational education, Norman Woods, coordinator of distributive education, and Mrs. Rovena Hillsman, sponsor of Future Business Leaders.

Mrs. Hillsman and Mike Andrews recently attended a state-planning meeting of the Missouri Future Business Leaders in Herculaneum.



DARLA SCOLES poses before her 442 Oldsmobile.

Darla Scoles' Olds 442 Is Featured Car Of Week

General Motors Corporations gives us this week's featured car from its Oldsmobile division.

The car is Darla Scoles' 1967 442. That is the name given the Cutlass Supreme Coupe in its performance version. Next to Pontiac's GTO and Chevrolet's SS-396, it is probably General Motors hottest intermediate sized car.

The 442 option on Darla's car consists of special trim and distinctive markings, heavy duty springs and shocks, and high performance engine.

The power plant is a 400-cubic inch Rocket V-8 that develops 350 horsepower. This ultra-high compression engine uses preium gasoline through its quadra-jet four-barrel carb.

Darla's performance and driving options are a turbo hydramatic transmission, ultra high voltage ignition system, rocket rally pack which includes tachometer and full instrumentation, roto-matic power steering, pedal ease power brakes, and 14-inch super stock wheels with Firestone wide oval tires.

Convenience and styling options include visor vanity mirror, luggage compartment lamp, glove box lamp, chrome door edge guard moulding, deluxe pushbutton radio with rear speaker, strato bucket seats, sports console, soft ray tinted windshield, four-season air conditioner, deluxe front and rear seat belts, and a vinyl roof top covering.

Adding to her cameo ivory and black top Olds is the long standard equipment list including door-to-door carpeting, foam padded front and rear seat cushions, chrome roof drip mouldings, deluxe steering wheel, ash tray lamp, and deluxe interior equipment.

Darla is a senior, and she received the car as a graduation gift.

Americans Should Make World 'Home Of The Free'

FEBRUARY is a month in which two of America's greatest patriots were born. George Washington took a nation newly-formed and with a resolute hand firmly and greatly gave this nation a good foundation.

Abraham Lincoln also realized the greatness of the United States and dedicated himself to the task of holding the union together.

At this time, America is in a period of dissension caused by the struggle in Vietnam. Americans have lost sight of the true purpose of fighting the war.

The question is: "Can we withdraw without embarrassment?"

Truly the eyes of the world are upon the United States. It is the accepted theory throughout the world that the United States believes that each individual should be free from oppression.

The citizens of the United States, not just the government and the military, should be ready to assist these people who are under a period of tyranny and living within a war-torn country.

It is our duty, the duty to our belief in freedom and our ideas of liberty and justice, to stand stalwartly behind the government and the military.

It is our duty to show the world with words and actions that we will support our ideological words with sword in hand if necessary.

Purpose of this war should not only be to stop the spread of communism and make the world free, but to reveal ourselves as patriots and to prove that United we stand, in the home of the brave and the free!

Giant Plane To Change Air Service

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — This isn't really an airplane. It's a flying version of Mammoth Cave.

Yet within four years this whale-like flying machine will be hurtling from Los Angeles to New York in four hours carrying 362 passengers — and their luggage—in its cavernous belly.

It could carry as many as 490 passengers in economy-class seats, but nobody seems to want that at present.

The plane is the 625 mile per hour Boeing 747 and the first models are scheduled for delivery to Pan American World Airways for international runs in just two years.

Whatever flying was like before, it will never be the same again.

Picture this:

A spiral staircase leads from the main cabin to a luxury lounge on the second deck. The seats — perhaps nine abreast — are divided by two separate aisles. Windows are bigger than present jet passenger plane windows, easily big enough to step through. There are as many as 11 lavatories. The ceiling is comfortably above present heights.

And heaven knows how many stewardesses it will take — but it ought to be enough for a chorus line at the Latin Quarter, if not the Radio City Music Hall.

It is so big that the wings and tail assembly for the mockup model could not be attached to the fuselage. The tail -- 63 feet high—would have gone through the roof of the plant, and the wings—almost 196 feet in span —through the walls. It might have been simpler just to put the tail and wings on the building itself.

"They're sawing it (the fuselage) up in sections now," explained a spokesman for Boeing. "And then they'll truck it over to the new Everett, Wash., plant, where the 747 will be made."

It will double or triple almost anything today's big jets can do, except speed.

Although it was held in the Depression, the Chicago World's Fair of 1933-34—called "A Century of Progress"—was the only major world's fair to pay all its debts, reimburse all its bondholders in full, plus interest, and have a surplus in cash at its closing, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the mother who was afraid to let her son be a part-time postman because of all the indecent proposals his buddies got from oversexed women. I'm ashamed to admit it but that letter has given me an inferiority complex.

I have been a full - time postman for six years and not one lady has met me at the door in a transparent negligee. To be truthful, I haven't received a single offer, not even for a cup of coffee.

Do I have a problem, Ann Landers? -- IGNORED

Dear Ig: It depends on how much you like coffee.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know who else to ask so I am following the crowd and writing to Ann Landers. I have a shopping cart in my garage and I don't know what to do with it.

Many years ago I had a large family and no car. The stores where I did my marketing allowed me to carry my groceries home in the carts. I always returned them, but for some mysterious reason this one cart remains in our garage.

I now have a car and use it to do my marketing. Every time I go into the garage and see that cart I feel guilty. I can't remember where the cart came from because they all look alike. What should I do?--FEEL LIKE A THIEF

Dear Feel: Return the cart to the market nearest your home and get it off your conscience.

And while we're on this subject, I'd like to make a plea to housewives everywhere. If you gals only knew how many shopping carts disappear from the nation's markets it would twirl your turbans. The cost of these carts must be absorbed by someone, and YOU, Mrs. Consumer, are the one who gets it right square in the pocketbook. So check around, Girls, and get those carts back to the market where they belong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old house cleaner. I do the dinner dishes every night and I also mop, dust and scrub the whole downstairs whenever I get so fed up with the dirt that I can't stand it anymore.

The problem is my 19-year-old sister. Sylvia works five days a week from 7:00 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. When she comes home, all she does is sit around smoking and reading. She leaves coffee cups and cigarette butts all over the place. Her rooms looks like hogs live in it. My mother doesn't say a word because, "Sylvia works."

I work, too. I go to school and that's no cinch these days. Do you think it is fair that I have to clean up after a 19-year-old sloppy sister? -- IMPOSED ON

Dear Imp: Of course not. But where did you get the idea that life is fair?

"Sylvia works" is just an excuse. I'll bet she was always a slob and you aren't going to change her, so don't try.

Continue to clean the house because YOU want to live like a human being. You are not doing it for her.

Want to say "no" to drinking without your buddies putting you down? Get clued in. Write for "Booze and You -- For Teen - Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Sikeston Bullettes had a veritable tooth and toe - nail fight Friday to emerge a 22-20 victor over the Poplar Bluff Zippers and keep their season's record clean. The Bulldogs fared less well, taking a 27-5 defeat in a hectic battle.

A committee of Sikeston men, working with an enthusiastic group of men from Cairo, spent an hour Friday morning working through the town in the interests of the sale of stock for the Cairo Bridge. In that short time, $3,000 worth of bridge stock was sold and a number of prospects were not even solicited. The bridge was an assured thing by noon on Friday and that evening, the $500,000 allotment of 7 per cent preferred stock was oversubscribed almost $100,000.

The Prayer

From The Upper Room

Let us never tire of doing good, for if we do not slacken our efforts we shall in due time reap our harvest. (Galatians 6:9, NEB)

PRAYER: Dear Father, may we always take time to seek Thy face at the beginning of each day. Keep us from the temptation to waste precious time; but help us to use for worthwhile ends, not neglecting the work Thou hast appointed for furthering Christ's kingdom. In His name we ask it. Amen.

Dear Editor:

A friend gave us a bundle of old newspapers. Among them I found a few back issues of THE DAILY STANDARD. My husband and I thoroughly enjoyed reading your paper. We liked the story WHEN I WAS A BOY. I especially enjoyed the poems.

Perhaps my interest in poetry is the reason why I started to "try - to - write" poems. And after having "put my hand to the plow" I don't care to turn back now.

The enclosed material is for your consideration. As you can see, it has been selected for publication -- but it has not been published.

My poems have appeared in THE PIGGOTT BANNER, DUNKLIN COUNTY PRESS and THE PORTAGEVILLE REVIEW. I have written articles for RURAL ELECTRIC MISSOURIAN, CAPPERS WEEKLY and PORTAGEVILLE REVIEW.

An agent has accepted two of my short stories for the sales market.

If I am fortunate enough to get this material published in your paper, I would appreciate it very much if you mail a copy of it to me.

Thanking you, I am
Most Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Marie Spoor

PORTRAITS OF HER MAJESTY

He stood and watched Lady Moon rise. . .
Climb the horizon of Eastern sky. . .
Her smiling face was aglow . . . Rounded out and fully grown.
He wondered how many changes she had made. . .
Over this same trail through sunlight and shade. . .
Across the path of the milky-way. . . In the space of countless days.
How many people had watched her face. . .
Men and women of every race. Rich and poor. . . Begger and slave. . .
Royalty born, the weak and the brave.
How many men she had seen at war. . .
The blood and tears -- the many scars. . . Of brave soldiers
Who did their part. The golden stars and purple hearts!
How many lovers had watched her smile. . .
On them as they journeyed many a mile. Fortune and fame
They hoped to find. . Home and happiness. -- peace of mind.
How many sailors had wished for her light. . .
On a troubled sea, in a stormy night.
How many farmers had planted grain -- looked to her for a sign of rain.
Small wonder why, somehow-someway. . .
Man's hope to inhabit her kingdom someday.
On earth she continues to shed her bright rays. . .
For signs and for seasons-- for years and for days.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE

By Jack Strauss LL.B

THE CASE OF THE MODEST LAWYER

After a long and hard fought battle, Lawyer Beagle finally succeeded in breaking a strong will. When he presented his bill, however, he was confronted by an even stronger "won't." His client, Miss Smith, thought it was too high and absolutely refused to pay it. The result. Beagle sued Miss Smith for his fee.

"He rescued the estate from my enemies...for himself," the irate Miss Smith complained to the judge. "Normally, he doesn't charge such fancy fees. His office is modest and so are his prices. In fact, I'm sure this is the highest fee he's ever charged. Therefore, it should be cut down to what he normally gets."

"What I've charged before," retorted Beagle, "has nothing to do with this case. What's more, because I don't throw away money on plush offices doesn't reflect upon my ability."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you cut down Beagle's fee so that it would be in keeping with his modest circumstances.

This is how the Judge ruled; No! The Judge held that whether or not a lawyer has offices in a high-rent building, uses electric typewriters, orders fresh flowers daily or serves cocktails or tea in the afternoon depends mainly upon the individual attorney and more often on the nature of his clients. These factors, however, are not relevant to the issue of whether or not an attorney, in a certain case, warrants the payment of a large fee. Some of the best lawyers noted the Judge, do not collect big fees. An attorney's standing and experience should be the test of his worth and not his pocketbook.

TODAY'S LEGAL POINTER:

In the absence of a provision to the contrary, a person who obtains a mortgage has no right to pay it off before the required time. Otherwise, a borrower could convert a 10-year mortgage into a 60 day loan. If you want the right to be able to prepay your mortgage, have a provision put into the mortgage to that effect.

Lanchow Radio in a Chinese-language boardcast Feb. 6. The text of the broadcast has just become available in Tokyo.

Kansu is the fifth of China's 21 provinces and five autonomous regions claimed by the forces of Mao, 73, the Communist party chairman, in his fight to purge the government and Communist party organizations which President Liu Shao- and party general secretary Teng Hsiaoping apparently have dominated since Lieu replaced as president in 1958.

Other provinces claimed by the Maoists have been Shantung, Heilungkiang, Kweichow and Shansi. A Chinese-language broadcast by Peking Radio early today said Fukien - opposite Formosa -- also had been captured, but a latter English version indicated that the entire province had not fallen.

The portion of Manchuria reported seized by anti-Maoists was its southern tip, Wa Fang Tien, the former Kwantung Peninsula where the cities of Dairen and Port Arthur are located. Japanese correspondents quoted wall posters as saying the situation in those two cities is tense following the death of three Red Guards, injuries to many others and the arrest of 400 others.

Mao's enemies were reported to have taken the peninsula with the aid of an unnamed army unit.

Knowing and Using Proper Form Can Mean Savings

EDITOR'S NOTE -- There are more ways than one for husbands and wives to fill out their annual income tax return. This article, third of five, discusses this and other tax information.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) - This deals with the 1966 income tax returns of three groups.

1. Husbands and wives.

2. Single persons who get a lower tax-rate if they can qualify as "head of household."

3. Certain widows and widowers who are permitted to use the lowest tax rate if they can qualify as "surviving spouse."

Almost always a husband and wife save by filing a joint return — which means both must sign it — whether or not the wife had income. With a joint return they, too, like the "surviving spouse," get the lowest tax rate.

If a husband files separately, because his wife failed to sign jointly with him, he can claim the usual $600 exemption for himself and another $600 exemption for her —provided she has no income and is not filing separately — but the tax is usually higher than if they had filed jointly.

If you were under 65 in 1966 and file a return you get a $600 exemption for yourself - $1,200 if you were 65 or older in 1966 — and an additional $600 if you were blind.

The same rules apply to a wife if she files jointly with you, whether or not she had income; or, if she had none, fails to file jointly. A wife is not considered a dependent for income tax purposes. So the rules on wives and dependents are not the same.

If you were married or divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1966, you are considered, for income tax purposes, to have been married or divorced for all of 1966. Even though you paid more than half her support, you get no exemption for a wife divorced in 1966.

If your wife had any income in 1966, no matter how small, you can not claim an exemption for her on your return unless she files jointly with you, reporting her income.

She would have to file a return, of course, either jointly with you or separately if her income was $600 or more. If she filed separately, she would claim her own $600 exemption on her return. You, in that case, could claim only your own $600 exemption on your return and none for her.

Look where failing to file jointly can lead:

Say a wife had $50 income in 1966. Since it was less than $600 she does not have to file a return at all. But, unless she files jointly with her husband, reporting the $50, he can claim no $600 exemption for her. The couple is a loser on that one.

Married couples filing separate returns should remember: If one itemizes deductions, both must; if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; if one uses the minimum standard deduction, both must. These standard deductions were explained in No. 2 of this series.

The tax rate on single persons and married couples filing separately is the highest. But a single person who can qualify as "head of household" gets a lower tax by being allowed to use table B or schedule No. 3.

To qualify as head of household you must be unmarried and furnish over half of the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative.

Whether that relative must also qualify as your dependent or must actually live in your household depends on the relationship.

Your father or mother must qualify as your dependent and live in a home you maintain for him or her, although not necessarily in your home.

If you are paying for them in a home for the aged you can not claim you maintained a home for either of them.

Your unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild would not have to be your dependent but your household must have been the principal residence for you and that child or children in order for you to claim the tax status of head of household.

And, for you to make the claim for any other relative living in your house, that relative must qualify as your dependent.

Further, to qualify as head of household, you must have been unmarried or legally separated on the last day of 1966 although you could still qualify if, by year's end, you had married someone who was a nonresident alien some time during 1966.

If you file a return as head of household you must use form 1040.

Widows and widowers qualifying as "surviving spouse":

If you can qualify, you will be allowed to use tax table B or schedule No. 2, which is what married couples filing jointly use, and thus get the lowest tax rate.

To qualify you must have been entitled to file a joint return with your husband or wife in the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of running your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions, and your spouse died in 1964 or 1965, you can use the joint return rates reporting whatever income you had, take a $600 exemption for yourself, along with $600 for each of your dependents, but not for your deceased spouse, and use table B or schedule No. 2 in making your return.

This arrangement works two years forward.

For instance, suppose your wife died in 1964. Assume you filed a joint return that year, taking the proper exemptions, including your wife's, and getting the tax benefit that goes with a joint return.

In 1965 you could have filed a return -- not joint and not claiming a $600 exemption for the husband or wife who died the year before -- and still have been able to use table B or schedule No. 2.

You could do the same in 1966 if your wife or husband died in 1965 or 1964. And, if he or she died in 1965, you'd be able to do the same again on your 1967 return, provided you still met the qualifications for surviving spouse.

Which means: If your wife or husband died in 1966 —the procedure in that case was given above — you'd still be able to use table B or schedule No. 2 in 1967, without making the return joint or claiming an exemption for the dead person, provided you still met the qualification for surviving spouse.

Then, after 1968, you may be able to qualify as head of household. If so, then you'll still get the tax break that goes with that classification which will be better than that for the ordinary single person but not as large as for a surviving spouse.

Anyone filing a return as a surviving spouse must use form 1040.

Next: exemption.

Regents Table Tuition Question

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - Regents of the University of California have decided to continue free tuition at least until the summer of 1968, despite Gov. Ronald Reagan's call for tuition charges.

The regents, meeting Thursday, also approved a university budget higher than that proposed by Reagan, but less than the university had said it needs.

Action on the explosive question of charging tuition for the first time in the university's history was postponed until April. One board member said that administratively it is too late now to impose tuition for the 1967-68 academic year.

The board voted Thursday to seek $264 million from the California Legislature, $14 million less than they first asked and $26 million more than Reagan wants the university to spend.

At the same time, however, they told the university administration to recruit faculty and enroll students on the assumption of getting only $255 million.

Reagan declared the state can't afford the $264 million figure. Of the $255 million he said: "I don't want anyone voting on the basis that the picture is that bright."

Howardville Votes To Become City

HOWARDVILLE -- In an election Saturday residents approved an issue to make Howardville a fourth class city, 160-2.

Before the election the community was a village, managed by five trustees, one of whom was chairman of the board. As a city it will have a mayor-council form of government.

The newest city in Missouri has a population of 502.
